Church Street Players.

The Church Street players are meeting with full houses, enthusiastic audiences, and plaudits for their drama, "A Southern Cinderella." And the repr. gathering at the Armouries at Canning on the night of the 25th of January, was particularly demonstrative, and although 'between acts,' efficiently entertained with sweet strains of heavenly music, by the kindness of Canning's orchestra of selected musicians.

The rise of the curtain upon the next act or scene. Almost begrudging the time taken for the changing of the robes which in themselves were a surprise, and wonderful creations of the "Tonsorial Art," as Mammy Judy would tell us. And truly, Miss Shirley Kidston, as this same Mammy, has control of a wonderful vocabulary at the tip of her tongue, and kept everybody longing to laugh outright all the time and yet not daring to do so for fear of missing one of the elaborate speeches of this dusky dame. Mrs. Hermon, as the wealthy old aristocrat, Madame Charteris, was perfect in her role, but there—which of the seven was not? It was hard to believe that all were amateurs, for, except in the matter of rapid fire changing of costumes, they had many an old stage beaten to the wall.

Death's Harvest.

Through the passing away of Mr. Donald A. Munro, whose death occurred on Friday of last week, Wolfville has lost a citizen who was probably more closely identified with the business life of the town than any other. The deceased was 86 years of age on the day of his death. He was a native of Pictou county and came to Wolfville when a young man. He carried on the business of carriage making for some years, finally taking up contracting and building and mill work. Mr. Munro was a most public spirited citizen and was always a leader in anything that made for the interest of the community. He was one of the commissioners of the water system when it was installed and filled important offices from time to time. A member of St. Andrew's church he was always active in securing its prosperity. Mr. Munro was a good citizen who will be greatly missed.

He is survived by three sons, Messrs. D. R. and G. W., of Wolfville, and Dr. D. J., of Cambridge, Mass., and three daughters, Mrs. C. M. Murray and Mrs. A. J. Woodman, of Wolfville, and Mrs. L. S. Goss, now living in the West.

The funeral took place on Monday afternoon, the large attendance abundantly testifying to the esteem in which the deceased was held. The service was conducted by Rev. G. W. Miller assisted by Dr. Cullen. "Orphans' Lodge, I. O. O. F., of which the deceased was an active member, had charge of the ceremony at the grave. The interment was at Willow Bank.

On Saturday morning last the death of the oldest and most highly esteemed citizen of Wolfville. The deceased was a native of Hants county and came to Wolfville about a dozen years ago. He began life on board ship and by faithfulness and industry worked his way to the position of master. After retiring from the sea he carried on a successful business for many years at Chever's and was interested in many vessels and made considerable wealth. This business he still conducted for some years after coming to Wolfville, when he handed it over to his only son, Capt. John Pratt.

On coming to Wolfville Capt. Pratt purchased the old home of the late Dr. Cramp which he fitted up in fine style and where he has since resided. About two years ago he had a slight stroke of paralysis since when he has been more or less of an invalid.

He was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church and took a lively interest in the affairs of the congregation as long as his health permitted. He is survived by a widow and one son.

The funeral was held on Monday morning and was largely attended. The service was conducted by Rev. G. W. Miller, assisted by Rev. Dr. Cullen, the interment being at Willow Bank.

On Tuesday, Jan. 11th, there passed into the great beyond after a lingering illness, in the 83rd year of her age, the spirit of a remarkable woman in the person of the late Mrs. Isaac Masters. The funeral took place at her late residence near Fort Williams on Thursday, Jan. 13th. The Rev. A. J. Prosser, the pastor of the Canada church, conducted the services at the house and was assisted by Revs. C. W. Martell, a former pastor, and J. W. Manning, a life long friend of the departed. The late Mrs. Masters was of a very retiring disposition and a great home body, and so was not prominent in the social and religious life of the community. As a neighbor and friend she had few superiors, and could be relied upon at all times and circumstances. The poor fellow in her a generous friend, and no one in need ever went from her door empty-handed or hungry. As wife and mother she was one of the most devoted. Her religion was most practical. She despised anything that savored of meanness and unfairness. Honesty and uprightness in all the relations of life were special traits of her character. She leaves to mourn her decease an aged husband in his 86th year and an only daughter who has been an invalid for many years; a daughter-in-law who ministered to her in her last illness most faithfully; two grand-daughters in the West, besides several nephews and nieces, among whom is Mrs. Mitchell of this town. Mrs. Masters was a daughter of the late Simon Newcomb, of Cornwallis. The memory of such a life is indeed most precious.

The death of Rebecca J., wife of Nelson B. Kilcup, of North Grand Pre, took place on Thursday of last week. She was 74 years of age, and a daughter of the late Benjamin Ward of that place. Mrs. Kilcup was a most estimable lady and had many friends.

It has been figured that the average cost of apprenticeship, including the cost of bringing a man to the working efficiency necessary to profit, is approximately $1,000. If this man is disabled from any cause, the employer must immediately recognize a charge for the cost of training another workman, in addition to whatever damage he may be called upon to pay as a result of the accident.
