PUT UP APPLES IN SMALLER PACKAGES

A PROPOSITION has been made by a Vancouver sales expert which may be considered with profit by the apple growers of Nova Scotia. This is no less than that apples must be put up in dollar packages if they are to meet with any greatly increased demand in that city.

This advertising man fully recognizes the fact that bought singly or in lots of one or two pounds at a time the consumption of apples is nothing like what it would be if there were in the house a larger package, but he declares that it is impossible to persuade but a small percentage of housekeepers to accept apples in as large a package as the standard box used in the Western province.

Annapolis Valley growers are perhaps too prone to be content to ship their apples to the British markets at the risk of the price there being sufficient to provide for the cost of production, the excessive transportation charges and return them a profit.

FUR FARMING A PROFITABLE INDUSTRY

IN SOME sections of the Valley fur farming is today receiving considerable attention. Practical men who have made the experiment state definitely that scientifically carried on the industry is destined to be a profitable as well as an interesting one.

Nothing could more forcibly evidence the profitable venture which many have found in late years in fur farming in Canada than the increasing popularity of the novel industry.

The fur farming industry of Canada which has passed questionable stages in its brief history must now be considered as definitely established as a new branch of national activity to become with the passing of the years an increasingly important source of revenue.

WE ARE DEPENDENT UPON ONE ANOTHER

EVERYWHERE people are coming to realize more and more how inter-dependent we are upon each other. The only individual who is self-sufficient is a hermit.

The keynote—the foundation of civilization—is the family. We all concede that. And we're coming to realize that our own community—is a home town family—simply the family unit a little bit extended through neighborly cordiality, friendship, and pleasant social intercourse.

Common goodwill and recognition of our human obligation is a deeper currency than any money system ever invented. But it is also to our advantage on the material side of life—it redounds in better practices, living conditions, more generous impulses. It makes Wolfville a better place to live in.

Let's make our community unit closer knit. Let's be generous with our goodwill—realizing that the prosperity of the individual is directly reflected in an added prosperity to our community.

NOT GOOD ADVERTISING

IN ANOTHER place in this paper appears a statement concerning the quality of our Nova Scotia apples by a prominent grower of the Valley. It is taken from a British Columbia exchange which copied it from a St. John paper.

In evidence of the vast amount of effort which is going to waste and might be profitably applied, an estimate is made by a United States exchange that the handshaking employed at any presidential election would milk every cow in that country twice.

If you don't believe in newspaper space and printers' ink as business getters, then you had better take lessons in how to succeed from the man who failed.

FEEDING OF BEES

Two of the essentials for good wintering of bees are young bees and ample stores. To secure the first, young bees, a natural fall flow or an artificial flow produced by feeding is required to stimulate brood production.

The feed supplied may be either a honey or a sugar syrup, and in making the latter none but the best of white granulated sugar should be used.

For stimulative feeding, a light syrup of approximately one part honey or sugar to one part water is best.

Colonies wintered in cellar should weigh 60 to 65 pounds, without hive cover, and those wintered outside 70 to 75 pounds.

Any deficiencies should be made up by feeding one pound sugar for every pound lacking in stores. The syrup given in this case should consist of 2 parts sugar to one part water, or 5 parts honey to one part water, and should be fed from 10 pound honey pails, as above described, each pail having 40 to 50 small nail holes in the cover.

Feeding should be done about the first of October, as rapidly as possible and in the evening to avoid disturbance.

A BISHOP WHO LIKES SHORT SKIRTS

Short Skirts Better Than Bangs of Old: Scant Skirts Superior to Hoops.

Chicago, October 3.—Bobbled hair, short skirts and songs like "Yes, We Have No Bananas" were defended against banded hair, hoop skirts and "Pharaoh's Daughter on the Fence, Little Moses in the Pool," by Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes of the Methodist Episcopal church in an address here last night.

"We criticize their hair, their skin, their stockings, their shoes, their skirts, their cosmetics and their manners," he said speaking of modern young people. "I suppose when you middle-aged people were young, you heard some of you talk, you would think you were gentle little angels sitting around on sofas with your hands folded on your laps."

"We never had a finer set of young people in the Methodist church than we have today. More than 30,000 of them attended institutes this summer and 96 per cent. of the number listened with attention to serious lectures."

"Don't you remember when the young people used to bang their hair—let it fall all over the forehead? As between banded hair and bobbled hair, I take the bobbled variety. "Remember those balloon skirts? When two women met on the sidewalk, one had to step off to let the other pass. As between the old hoop skirt and the present styles, give me the short skirt of today."

"I have heard it stated that the song, "Yes, We Have No Bananas" was a sign of the degeneracy of the times. But what were you singing, you pious old steward and you staid old church trustees when you were young? You were singing: "Pharaoh's Daughter on the Fence, Little Moses in the Pool; She Fished Him Out With a Telegraph Pole, and Sent Him Off to School."

"Now let us be fair. As between taking sacred characters of the Bible and making hilarious songs about them and the song "Yes, We Have No Bananas," I prefer the bananas."

FAMOUS MISTAKES OF FAMED WRITERS PUBLISHED IN BOOK

BERLIN, Sept. 27.—Famous lapses of famous men, as revealed in some of the most famous works of the world's literature have been collected and published in the periodical "Bimini" by L. W. Thal.

Even the most noted of authors apparently have made their mistakes.

Flaubert in his famous romance "Madame Bovary" has a person change 85 francs—all into two franc pieces.

Walter Scott has the sun SET in the East.

Zola, the strict naturalist, tells of the last rays of the sun that tinged the summer landscape—at 6 o'clock in the evening.

Heine, in his book "Le Grand" puts the Island of St. Helena in the Indian Ocean.

Schiller in his "Don Carlos" designates the Infanta Clara Eugenia as a child of 3 years; in the piece itself however he writes that the child was born last New Year.

Dumas gives the heroine of one of his romances wonderful black hair in the first chapter, only to speak of her "wonderful golden locks" in the fourth chapter.

Auerbach, whose Rabbi Isaak is pictured in the first chapter as a small, shrivelled man with a red beard, has grown into a handsome tall man with a black beard that falls to his chest in the eighth chapter.

Thackeray in his "Henri Esmond," kills off the Dean of Winchester in the sixth chapter, only to have him write a letter in the ninth chapter.

INTERESTING COMMENT ON NOVA SCOTIA APPLES

(From the St. John Telegraph.)

A prominent Nova Scotia fruit grower from Berwick, who has for twenty-five years been Secretary of the Nova Scotia Fruit Growers' Association, told The Halifax Herald that only certain varieties of apples lent themselves to box packing. Three of them at least, the Delicious, Winesap and Jonathan, are favorites in British Columbia, and they are the rosy cheeked, uniform apples that may be seen in the shop windows in St. John, Halifax and other cities and towns in the Maritime Provinces. Mr. Parker says that the Maritime Province climate is too dark and dull to produce that desirable color and that the only kind grown here that can be bought to good advantage are the Gravenstein and McIntosh Reds. This makes plain what we have all been wondering about, as to why the far-famed apples of the Maritimes are not shown and sold in the stores of the Maritimes. We pay big prices for Ontario and Western fruit and the dealers say that they can be boxed and prepared just for that kind of a market. It is something to find the Secretary of the Nova Scotia Fruit Growers' Association admitting that the question of flavor has been over stressed and that Nova Scotia apples have not the finest flavor in the world. The English market requires low grade apples and the Province of Nova Scotia is in a position to produce and sell them. They bring good prices overseas and Mr. Parker, in making this statement, produced as proof the fact that the Berwick Fruit Chamber has shipped this year 40,000 barrels, only 20 per cent. of which were No. 1's, 15 per cent. No. 2's, 25 per cent. No. 3's, and the remainder were domestic. British Columbia, he says, ships nothing but No. 1's to England, the excessive freight rates making it necessary to ship only the superior kind of apples.

TURNIP FEEDING

One of the most annoying of flavors in milk and cream at this season is that which comes from the feeding of turnips, tops and all. We would not breathe a syllable to discourage in any way the raising and feeding of turnips. It is a line in which milk advance could be made, especially in western parts of the province. Certain precautions can easily be taken however to avoid the contamination of milk.

One is to feed the turnips immediately after milking, not before or during that process. Another is not to allow a pail of milk to stand in a stable or elsewhere where there is an odor of turnips or other vegetables. A third is thorough ventilation of the stable where turnips have been fed and the cleaning up of any leavings from past feeding. One of the sources of strong odor of turnips is the practice in some instances of leaving turnips and tops in a heap so that heating takes place and the process of decomposition begins. A little care along such lines as these will prevent a disagreeable taste and odor in the milk.
