Some people would gladly turn the hands of the clock back in order to catch up to their work. The fact is many persons, lack system in their methods and thoughtlessly squander the time. Time is money Some merchants make money out of other people's time. Give you goods on time, and charge you for that time in extra profits. The offer of lots of time, is an allurement to misery. Vast possibilities are ahead of the man or woman who keeps abreast of the times. Up to the minute. They have to hustle but the enjoyment of right doing, of being on time, of owing no man anything, brightens the countenance, stiffen, the back, makes the step elastic and urges one forward with success stamped upon every effort of their lives.
