Having passed several sleepless nights, disturbed by the agonies and cries of a suffering child, and becoming convinced that Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup was just the article needed, procured a supply for the child. On reaching home and acquainting his wife with what he had done, she refused to have it administered to the child, The Church Sexton as she was strongly in favor of Homepathy. That night the child passed in suffering, and the parents without sleep. Returning home the day following, the father found the baby still worse; and while contemplating another sleepless night, the mother stepped from the room to attend to some domestic du-ties, 2d left the father with the child. During her absence he administered a bothing her absorbing Syrup to the baby, and said nothing. That night all hands slept well, and the little fellow
