

TWO PICTURES.
This is what the great Edmund Burke says of the duty of a Representative. We want Mr. Snowball and his friends to read it:—
"It is the duty of your Parliamentary representative to sacrifice his repose and his pleasures to yours, and above all, to PREFER IN ALL CASES YOUR INTEREST TO HIS OWN."

A DISAGREEABLE DUTY.
We have no explanation to make today on the letter of "One who watches." He tells his own story fully enough and he only tells something that all the people know.
It is to assure our readers not a very pleasant task for one who owes his neighbor no ill-will, to have to censure his conduct from time to time and to publish to the people strictures upon his conduct from day to day. We could wish, in the case of Mr. Snowball, it were far otherwise. We have never had the pleasure of speaking a word to Mr. Snowball, he never did us a wrong; as a man of business we admire the dash with which he does things, but as a representative—
"Ay, there's the rub!"—
as a representative, it is our duty to censure him. If we did not censure him heartily, and strongly, yet every time our paper appears, we would not be doing our duty to the people of this country. Our choice therefore is between the dictates of our feelings, and the voice of duty to the public interests. The STAR now it must be remembered is a Conservative journal; but if its editor had not an abiding faith in the policy of the Conservatives, there would be no STAR. Therefore the STAR's articles are the outcome of innate principles, at the same time that they are the expression of party.

When we write against Mr. Snowball we do not write for the mere pleasure of doing so. We believe the principles he professes would not be for the interest of this country, nor for any young country, full of the aspirations, and the possibilities that Canada boasts of. On this ground, we condemn him; and we deem him unfit on other grounds. Every man in his proper station, is a maxim which we reverence almost as we do a principle. If the side of politics Mr. Snowball has chosen, is bad, the course he has pursued on that side is worse. He is indifferent, and incapable. He is indifferent because he has broken all his pledges, and shown that the interests of his country are as nothing compared with his own interests. This is proved, it is written on every voter's heart, since that memorable day when he set sail for England. He is incapable because he did not turn the two or three days he was in the House during the session, to the advantage of his constituents. It is therefore our duty to censure him. He will never be sent to the Commons again.

THE FUTURE OF CANADA.
Mr. Nicholas Flood Davin one of the foremost writers in the Dominion, has contributed another paper, the "Future of Canada" to the May number of the Canadian Monthly. We are not surprised to find such a writer select such an important theme. We have been longing to see the impressions of some fresh and vigorous mind upon the subject, for verily we have been told quite too much about our own affairs of late by speculative writers on the other side of the Atlantic, and beyond our boundary lines.
Mr. Davin enters the field of discussion, with two opponents before him. One is Mr. George Anderson, M. P., who fears that Canada will slip from British moorings, unless she join an Imperial Confederation. The other is Mr. Clark, who is flowing as to statement, and bombastical as to fact, and who sees no other destiny for us but Annexation to the neighboring republic. Mr. Davin at once sets to work to spitkete the guns of these two gentlemen, and in doing so gives his conception of the possibilities of our own country, and what her future will be. In this issue we have not the time or space to enter into some of the details, but we shall do so in next. We have only to say now that in this essay as in all Mr. Davin writes, the thought is vigorous, and fresh as the flowers of May. There is a ring about every sentence, a lucid and easy expression, that carries the consequential conclusions of the writer, straight home. Nor do you tire in the reading, for the author has the happy knack of enlivening the most abstruse passage, by compiling it with apt quotations, gathered from the choicest literary fields.
KNIGHTHOODS.
The latest rumor of any account from Ottawa is, that Her Majesty has either knighted, or consented to confer the Knighthood upon, Hon. H. L. Langevin, Hon. A. Mackenzie and Prof. Dawson. There seems to be nothing improbable about a portion of the rumor, when we come to consider how eminently qualified for such a distinction Mr. Langevin is, and has been so long. A Knighthood was offered Mr. Mackenzie once before, but he refused it. His name, should he accept the distinction now, and no doubt he will, would be no discredit to the role of honor, if unbending integrity, and incorruptible principle go for anything. Prof. Dawson is a scientific giant, and we cannot but admire the wisdom which recognizes by honor reward, these who bring great energy and great brains into other walks of life than that of the politician's.

AN APOLOGY.
We owe the News an apology for not having read all its article on the Legislative Council question in a late issue. When we read to the last word of the following quotation we stopped.
"Mr. Jones also proved that it had cost Ontario, with its one chamber, for its legislation almost as much per legislative member as it had cost New Brunswick with its two chambers. Likewise, he shows that Manitoba, now that it has no Legislative Council, has to pay more per legislative member for its legislation than this Province does."
How did Mr. Young meet these facts? We read as we have said to this, and stopped; because as we by no means felt that Mr. Jones's "proved" the things he "showed," and as the News called them "facts," we looked upon our contemporary as being entirely and blindly in accord with the vigorous Legislative Councillor. For so much injustice therefore as we have done Mr. Willis and the News, we apologize, but must request that they make no more hideous poetry about us.

THE ST. JOHN CHEMIST.
The St. John News does not despair in trying to make the hard-hearted Pharisee believe that Sir Charles Tupper was sick. It may succeed, it may not succeed. But supposing it doesn't, where's the difference? The country will survive the shock, and Sir Charles Tupper will be nothing worse.
The News tries to prove Sir Charles was sick, on scientific grounds. It says he crossed the ocean, that he might get plenty of the "ocean air so rich in ozone."
After this, all the slanders of the sick Minister will hide their diminished heads; and consider the case has gone against them. Now ozone is a great bleaching agent, but Mr. Adam says, "Otherwise, ozone does not seem to be of much importance directly, either to plants or animals." Furthermore, if the News will accept our statement, the air in any country place, is as "rich in ozone" as the "ocean air," and whatever influence this "active oxygen" may have on the individual, we wonder to see the words of the News against the STAR, if the writer who wanted to cure Dr. Tupper on "Ozone"—to "bleach" him in other words—was not "three sheets in the wind?"

The murder of Sultan Abdul Aziz was a shocking affair. Some most influential persons were concerned in it. Two Eunuchs, professional wrestlers, entered the Sultan's private apartment. Fahr Bey then attacked the victim and threw him on the sofa, while a Eunuch opened his veins with a dagger. Some of these Eunuchs are bad scoundrels.
Three Nihilist publications have appeared in Russia. The Czar is sore afraid.
It is better to be lowly born and range with humble livers in content, than to be perked up with a glittering grief and wear.
A golden sorrow.
The County of Dublin, including the City of Dublin has been declared under the "Coercion Act." It causes great excitement. The object no doubt is the arrest of Dillon and others, who do nothing contrary to the laws of the land. [Dillon has been arrested.]
The tax notices are posted in the post office. The heaviest taxpayer in Chatham is Senator Mulrhead's firm. The totals reach $144,000. The next to the Senator is Mr. Snowball. He is taxed on $117,000.
Mr. Postmaster McPeak of Fredericton, and his staff, have moved into the new Post Office buildings. The change was made without any inconvenience to the public.
Woodstock is to have a new Conservative journal, and Fredericton is to have a new Liberal organ—probably the Dee, by M. S. Hall, Esq.
Four or five ships are expected here this week, and it is said one was signalled before the ice went out.

The News puts the quantity of logs cut on the "three Miramichis" at 95,000,000 feet.
A negro named Day had his head slashed open with a knife in St. John Sunday.

The Toronto Globe predicts an early breaking up of the Government. But as a prophet it is by no means the best authority before the eyes of the people. Mrs. Shipton goes further and prophesies the destruction of the world in 1881—this very year.

It is said Sir A. T. Galt will soon come home to enter the Cabinet, but the story may be well doubted.

EDITORIAL GLEANINGS.
NAUTICAL—BY MR. MARQUIS.
A copy of the Kingston News has come to hand and it contains the poem Nautical, by Mr. Marquis in full. In writing our last notice, we had not seen the poem, but judged its merits from the number of competitors, the high character of the college, and the ability and discrimination of the examiners. The poem is full of promise; for if these verses we see be the mere buds which Mr. Marquis's muse puts forth, what may we not expect of the "ripe fruit of Parnassus?" We see by the News that the prize was awarded to "Nautica" as exhibiting most poetic insight expressed in the simplest and easiest verse.
The opening stanza is—
The gray wrens flickering glare
Silvered the midnight air
As from the heavens ethereal star-like
The martial glows of light
The balmy air bereft
Of every sound save where the right bird flew.
In waltz sport along some river side
Where glides the milky bubble on the tide.
The above gives an idea, of how smoothly runs the vehicle of Mr. Marquis's muse. Here is a stanza in which the fire and the epithet of the Greek are interwoven.
Her song was of the time
When o'er the stormy brine
Nautichous in his swift keeled bark did flee
Hyperas lovely plain
Dreading the Cyclops' reign
And o'er the foaming waste of boiling sea
Neptune his sire his loving son did guide
Until on Socrates Isle he should abide.
The two closing lines of each stanza are spiritedly Spenserian. Here are two, particularly marked—
To be by savage beasts in pieces torn
Or by wild men to prison born.
The poem shows, beside the fire of the muse, much of the ars poetica—a culture that has been in the direction of Mr. Marquis's sympathies; and creditable to the Pierian fount, whose measures Mr. Roberts supplied.

THE UNHAPPY CZAR AND HIS EMPIRE.
A St. Petersburg letter says, before the new Czar's court was removed to Castle Gatchina, thirty miles from the capital, several hundred artisans of the Preobrazhensky regiment were sent to make the necessary alterations. At midnight they assembled in the Church of Gatchina, and were sworn secretly to silence, death or Siberia being the penalty for any infraction of their oath. A subterranean passage was built from the Czar's room to the stables, where a number of horses are kept saddled and bridled day and night. Sentinels are posted at intervals of twenty yards all around the building. The Imperial bed room has two windows, protected at night by massive iron shutters, which can only be reached from outside by passing through three ante chambers in which are posted 80 Cossacks armed to the teeth. They are allowed to speak and move about in two outer rooms, but in the hall adjoining the Czar's bed room perfect silence is maintained all night. The General on duty for the day sits in an easy chair. Cossacks are sitting on a divan which runs around the whole room. At the General's hand is the knob of an electric apparatus which rings a bell in every guardhouse within the palace grounds. When the Emperor is about to retire, before shutting the door, he removes the outer handle so that no entrance can be effected until he himself opens the door from the inside. He cannot endure the presence of an armed soldier in his bed room.

THE BISHOPS' MANIFESTO.
The declaration of the Catholic hierarchy on the Land Bill was published Thursday. They recognize in the bill an honest and statesman-like purpose of placing on a solid and equitable basis the relations of landlord and tenant in Ireland. But to effect a permanent and satisfactory settlement of the land question they recommend eighteen alterations in the bill. These include a stipulation that perpetuity of tenure should be granted to future as well as to present tenants; that the tenants holding under leases since 1870 should submit them to the court for its decision; that when existing leases expire those who take them should become "present tenants;" that the court should be empowered to adjudicate on arrears of rent and to its decision; that those evicted for any cause should be allowed time for the sale of their tenancy; that tenants of large holdings should have the right to subdivide by the sale of part of them, retaining the rest; that the right of "fixing down" rent should be granted to tenants of absentees and corporate bodies, and that the Treasury advances for purchase should be more liberal, and should be repaid in fifty two years. They condemn emigration as detrimental to Irish interests, and ask that advances for reclamation be made directly to the tenants. They desire that a scheme for artificial drainage be added to the bill, and complain of a want of adequate provision for the improvement of the state of laborers. They also condemn the principle of having the final decision in legal cases made by a single commissioner, and recommend that two assessors be associated with the County Court judge. They refer to the selection of commissioners as a matter of importance. Twenty eight gentlemen and bishops sign the document. The Government intend to abandon the County as the first tribunal for settling disputes between the landlords and tenants, except in cases where a legal point is involved. It has not yet been determined what tribunal they are to substitute for the County Court.

SWIMMING CLUB.
The Montreal Swimming Club has made arrangements to sell tickets which will not only admit the bearers to the baths but will also entitle them to a passage in the boat which goes to them. The opening of these baths will take place on the 1st of June. Some of our citizens would do well to start something of the kind down our river where there are many places well adapted to the erection of a comfortable bathing house which could be completed very cheaply. A few hemlock deal and some boards would be all the wood which would be required, and the site would cost little or nothing. For an hour or so, two or three days in the week the services of one of our small steamers could be engaged at a low rate to carry the bathers, and if the experiment should prove a success these trips could be made often.

SHOCKING DISCOVERY AT MONTREAL.
Some workmen who were occupied a few days ago in demolishing an old house in the Cote-des-Neiges, were frightfully terrified at discovering in a hole three feet deep, three well preserved skeletons the hair even, adhering to one part of the skull. The bodies had not been deposited in a horizontal manner but thrown in, one on top of the other. Some of the workmen remembered the mysterious disappearance of three travelers from Ottawa about 30 years ago. At the time of their disappearance, they had with them the whole of their winter wages. The house which was being demolished was formerly used as a tavern; it is now being removed to make room for the construction of the new college for the brothers of the Holy Cross.

JAMES A. HAY, CARRIAGE BUILDER,
Light Driving waggon, Concord, Piano Buggy, Express Carts, etc. Trimming and repairing a specialty. Best stock kept always on hand. Come and inspect.
I have also the sole right to use
Young's New Axle Cutter.
Patented in the United States and Dominion of Canada. We would call the attention of all owners of carriages or waggon to this Machine and the benefits derived from its use. All wagon axles after being two or more years in use become worn till they become loose, requiring the use of leather washers to take up the lateral play; and the washers soon filling with sand, cause the axles to wear much faster, and the axle is soon ruined, or nearly so.
THE REMEDY.
By the aid of this very simple machine, the shoulder for the axle nut is cut back and the thread extended, allowing the nut to be screwed further on causing the washers to run as evenly as when new. Give us a call before purchasing elsewhere. A Paint shop is connected with the Factory.
Orders respectfully solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.

Lobster Business.
The Northumberland Fish Co., consisting of Messrs A. & R. J. & F. P. Loggie have completed a lobster factory at Pokemouche G. In connection with the factory they built an ice house and other minor buildings. They have placed in the house this season 200 tons of ice and chartered a schooner which carried from Black Brook a cargo of appliances on Monday last. They put up 150,000 cans of lobsters.

The Man Perry.
Accused of passing a forged cheque, Melrose, proprietor of the Dominion Hotel, underwent a preliminary examination at the Court House, yesterday before Police Magistrate Niven, and was committed to jail to await his trial at the Court in July next. Perry is a native Caseumpe, P. E. I.—ADVOCATE.

This is the same gentleman of whom we published a notice in a late issue, appears the fellow became emboldened by his success in escaping the here, and thought he would try while in Bathurst, and perhaps some would turn up. But he was "spun" about town, and an officer of the pounced upon him, and brought him to Newcastle.
An Equiry Court.
Mr. Wyse, overseer of fisheries upon one of our fishery warden's forenoon. The case is this. It has been asserted by several persons living about Baribogue, that Mr. Doyle, fishery warden there is remiss in duty; that salmon have been taken recently contrary to law, that some have been taken with nets, and that fishery regulations generally so far as Mr. Doyle is concerned, have for a time been treated as a farce. A petition was drawn up and signed by some dozen or more persons, asking for Doyle's removal. The department turned the petition, and Mr. Wyse instructed "to investigate." A deputation, but when the hour arrived appeared to give evidence but Mr. Doyle was remiss. None of the parties, those whom Mr. Wall did be witness who could prove the appeared, thought cited to come by Wyse. The case ended with Mr. testimony and Mr. Wyse we supposed forwarded the evidence and his conclusions to the department.
