Cures at Lourdes.

Thousands of pilgrims visited Lourdes last week hoping to be cured of various ills. It was the great week of annual pilgrimages, of which many arrived from distant countries. Special trains of sick people came from Paris by the score. The vast majority of pilgrims, however, were from the southern provinces of France. Many cures of various ailments are reported. Among them are Mme. de la Dolle, of Paris, who suffered five years from an internal cancer. After her first immersion in the holy basin she suffered intense pain. Then followed a complete cure, confirmed by the doctors. Louis Pequet, of Paris, suffering from locomotor ataxia, was cured during the passing of the Holy Procession. Sister Sainte Brigitte, of Villepinte, had been unable to move for seven years, her limbs being paralyzed. At the procession of the Holy Sacrament she rose, now walks and is well with no suffering. Marie Lauversin suffered long from spinal disease, but has been completely cured. Thirty were reported cured on Wednesday alone.

Concerning Baking Powders.

REPORT OF THE INLAND REVENUE DEPARTMENT—LARGE QUANTITIES OF IMPURE POWDERS FOUND—SALE OF ALUM POWDERS FORBIDDEN.

The Bulletin of the Inland Revenue Department (No. 85) contains analyses of 156 samples of baking powders bought of dealers and manufacturers in the Dominion. The alarming statement is made that 85 per cent. of these are alum mixtures. In view of this large proportion of alum powders, Chief Analyst Macfarlane recommends that legal proceedings be taken against parties selling them, on the ground that they are unwholesome articles of food.

Upon this recommendation the Commissioner of Inland Revenue has given public notice that persons selling alum powders will be prosecuted.

The analyses were made by the Assistant Analyst, Mr. A. McGill, who fully discusses the use of alum in baking powders, which, he is of the positive opinion, is dangerous to health.

Professor Ruttan, of McGill College, Montreal, who made a series of experiments on the digestibility of bread baked with alum powders, is quoted as follows: "The unanimous verdict of my experiments is that alum powders introduced into a form of food of universal use, agents which are detrimental to the functional activity of the digestive ferments. They must therefore be prejudicial to health, and the only course is to carefully avoid them."

Both consumers and grocers are interested in this matter. Housekeepers should be very careful in purchasing their baking powders. The alum powders can generally be distinguished by their low price. They cost but two or three cents a pound to make, and are sold from ten to thirty cents. A pure, cream of tartar powder is quite expensive to make, and is sold from forty to fifty cents.

Never Quit Certainty For Hope.

You may take Hood's Sarsaparilla for all diseases arising from or promoted by impure blood with perfect confidence that it will do you good. Never take any substitute. In Hood's Sarsaparilla you have the best medicine money can buy. It cures—completely and permanently—when others fail to do any good.

Tonic—"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla as a tonic and general builder of the system with excellent results. It restores vitality, drives away that tired feeling, quiets the nerves and brings refreshing sleep." John Y. Patterson, Whitby, Ont.

Some very fine vocal selections by Mrs. H. O'Donnell, of Brooklyn, assisted by her husband, Mr. Bernard O'Donnell.

Many persons, despite the fact that the lecture programme was finished this week, are remaining at Cliff Haven, the attractions of the place being too strong to allow them to depart.

Many plans are on foot for next year. A picnic cottage is to be among the new features. Stock is being eagerly taken by the priests, and there is no doubt but that a handsome new house costing about ten thousand dollars will be among the new buildings ready for occupancy at the beginning of the session of 1901.

The necessity for increased facilities and accommodations in all departments for the session of 1901 has been apparent during the session just closed. Five hundred guests is the maximum number that can now be accommodated. For 1901 the attendance will undoubtedly reach one thousand, and plans are now being made for this number. Besides the priests' cottage there will be two new city cottages and several private cottages.

Among those who will erect private cottages are Henry Austin Adams, who is charmed with the place and will make it his summer home for himself and family; Mrs. Annie Jones and Mrs. K. M. Twomey, of New York, and several others.

The work of macadamizing the roads will be continued and finished for the next session. New boat and bath-houses will be built and probably a class building, administration building and an arcade. Also the dining hall will be enlarged.

Cairns & McFadyen,

June 8, 1898—y Kent Street, Charlottetown.

At the hour of the Holy Sacrament procession the grotto is besieged daily by a multitude of twenty thousand. Upon the Rosaire Esplanade 1,200 invalids lie stretched on couches and carriages awaiting the procession as it marches along, preceded by several thousands of Christians, by priests in surplices and chasubles, bearing lighted candles. Finally the Host appears, borne aloft. At the sight of the poor sufferers raise their hands heavenward to implore Divine help. Tears are in many eyes during the passage of the Blessed Sacrament. Daily several invalids rise to their feet as it proceeds onward and declare themselves cured. Then they hurry to the medical bureau where Dr. Boissarie, assisted by forty physicians, examines them with scrupulous care. Among Dr. Boissarie's assistants this year are two Berlin, one New York, one Liverpool and one Rio Janeiro doctors. Every morning long files of pilgrims, both cured and uncured, depart from the railway station, where special trains await them, along with careful litter bearers, whose devotion is remarkable. The invalids are placed in the cars and surrounded with every comfort and precaution. Many hold rosaries in their hands and pray continuously, though their bodies are racked with pain. But even though disappointed by not being cured, their faith in God and in Our Lady of Lourdes remains unshaken. All say: "Did we not see during the procession yesterday many invalids and paralytics rise from their couches and follow it without support? God cured them. Maybe our turn will come next." There is no denying that the last week's pilgrimage has resulted in many astounding miracles, confirmed by the medical bureau.—Exchange.

The touching exhortations against lynch law addressed by us "North-ers" to our Southern fellow countrymen from time to time, would have vastly more influence if they had the sustaining quality of example behind them. Last week New York, Illinois, and Kansas witnessed just such scenes of mob violence as occurred in New Orleans recently; and while savagery and lawlessness are always to be deplored, it is due to the people of the South to say that outbreaks of popular fury are more common among them chiefly because provocation is stronger and more frequent. For the Negro, too, a word of defence may be uttered. As the chief spokesman of the colored race, Mr. Booker T. Washington, has pointed out, the black man has been forced to struggle without the chastening influence of a moral home life. "I do not know who my own father was," says Mr. Washington, with a touch of pathos; "and my case will illustrate that of hundreds of thousands of black people in every part of our country." Pride of ancestry, the consciousness the white boy has that if he falls in life he will disgrace the family record, is another potent stimulus to industry and preventive of crime; yet this advantage is altogether wanting to the young Negro. A common fallacy connected with the Negro Question is thus disposed of by the same vigorous writer: The bald statement that the Negro was not given to crime during slavery proves little. Slavery represented an unnatural condition of life, in which certain physical checks were kept constantly upon the individual. To say that the Negro was at his best, morally, during the period of slavery is about the same as to say that the two thousand prisoners in the state-prison and the city penal institutions in the city of Boston are the most righteous two thousand people in Boston. I question whether one can find two thousand persons in Boston who will equal these two thousand imprisoned criminals in more negative virtues. During the days of slavery the Negro was rarely brought into the court to be tried for crime; hence there was almost no public record of crimes committed by him. Each master, in most cases, punished his slave as he thought best, and as little as possible was said about it outside of his little plantation world.—Ave Maria.

Cliff Haven's Closing Week.

(Correspondence of The Catholic Standard and Times.)

Cliff Haven, N. Y., September 1.—No more impressive ceremony has been witnessed at Cliff Haven since the foundation of the school than the dedication of the new chapel of Our Lady of the Lake on Sunday by Right Rev. Henry Gabriels, D. D., Bishop of Ogdensburg in whose diocese the Summer School is situated. After these services the closing Pontifical High Mass was celebrated. Rev. Thomas F. Burke, C. S. P., delivered a magnificent sermon on "The Individual and the Church."

The last lecture courses of the session of 1900 were begun on Monday one being a series of talks on "Distinguished Catholic Laymen," by Henry Austin Adams, A. M., and the other a course of lectures on "Irish Music," illustrated with

A Monster Church Bell.

(From the Western Architect and Builder.)

History informs us that all attempts to cast a bell of 15,000 pounds and over have resulted in as many as five unsuccessful attempts, it having taken as many as from three to five attempts to secure a perfect bell casting. But in the year 1895 the Buckeye Bell Foundry, of Cincinnati, under the personal supervision of Mr. George W. Vandusen, succeeded in making a perfect bell casting weighing 26,000 pounds at the first attempt, thereby breaking the world's record, thus placing Cincinnati paramount over every city in the world and giving her an enviable record so far as bell founding is concerned.

It was specified in the contract that this bell should be what is known as the Westminster pattern, and the bell now hangs in the magnificent new tower of St. Francis de Sales Church, on Walnut Hills, of which the Rev. A. M. Qatman is rector. The bell was drawn nine feet in diameter at the base and seven feet high to the top of the crown, and five feet in diameter at the base of crown. Between the heads around the top of the bell are six medallion profiles of the church wardens, one of whom Mr. Joseph Buddeke, by his generosity made the purchase of the bell an assured fact. On two opposite sides of the bell are: First, medallion profiles of the Most Rev. W. H. Elder, Rev. A. M. Qatman, Rev. A. Gerdes; on the other side, Mr. Joseph Buddeke, Mrs. Joseph Buddeke, his daughter and mother.

This bell is not the largest bell in the world by any means, but it is the largest swinging bell that is mounted in regular church bell mountings. The other large swinging bells are all strapped to a heavy beam with an iron axle and supported on massive cross beams that form part of the tower. This bell is suspended from a patent rotary yoke weighing 5,800 pounds and having four-inch steel journals, working in friction roller bearings, which are supported by regular iron bell stands. The wheel by which the bell is rung is fifteen feet in diameter, constructed of hard ash, having a groove around the outer rim that accommodates the two one-and-one-fourth-inch ropes. With three experienced men at each rope, this bell has been rung for thirty minutes without stopping.

Queen Street.

One of the last acts of the late King Humbert was to confer a decoration on a Piedmontese priest, Father Sebastian Fallotti, for his fidelity to a parishioner condemned to a fate worse than death. The man was accused of murder; and, the net of circumstantial evidence seeming hopelessly conclusive, he was sentenced to imprisonment for a term of thirty years, three of which were to be under the maddening condition of solitary confinement. Father Fallotti, convinced of the man's innocence, undertook his vindication, and after seven years of devoted effort was entirely successful. When the King heard of the incident, he wrote to the priest, expressing his admiration and requesting him to accept the decoration.—Ave Maria.
