A Discussion on the Rise on the Price of Milk.

And Other Matters of Interest at Tucker's.

Delaney arrived at Tucker's Sunday night after prayers, and as the Cate Man, Tucker and Mrs. Tucker were present we had one of the old-time chats that makes a fellow feel that all the old-time social gatherings are not a thing of the past. It was by such discussions as we had on Sunday night that Governments were made or broken in the days gone by, and many a lively debate that would do credit to our Legislature were indulged in, in the good old days when men and women loved their quiet firesides, and knew more about their family requirements than they do in those days, when men only use their homes to eat and sleep in.

After filling his pipe and knocking fog out of it for a moment or two, Rise in the Price of Milk. "It seems Delaney opened up the subject of the to me," said he, "that the farmers are bound to soak us this winter, for I've heard that they have raised the price of milk to forty-eight cents a gallon and they give the reason for such a rise as being caused by the high price of feeds. Now," says Delaney, "I fail to see the justice of such an argument for I've heard that cattle feed can be bought at thirty cents a sack less than it could be bought for last winter, and the Government have taken the duty off hay and that article can be purchased for twenty-six to twenty-seven dollars this fall, whereas they had to pay twenty-nine or thirty dollars for it last year."

"There is no redress," says Tucker, "for the workingman. Our politicians are catering to the farmers until now they are beginning to believe that they are martyrs. The workingman got the name of getting better pay, and we hear a great deal about the prosperity that abounds, but the way things are going on in this country the workingman has reached the stage where he simply gets his pay to hold on while he is lugging it home, and on Monday morning he's dead broke again."

We hear it belied all over the town when any of our Unions look for an increase in pay, people outside of the Unions turn up their eyes and put on long faces and ask in doleful tones: What are the Union men going to do with us? But yet all the folks that sell to the Union men can raise the price of their goods and not a syllable is spoken, and things are allowed to go on without any one raising a hand to check it.

We hear some fine morning that the price of coal is gone up, for an hour or two there's a grumble heard on all sides which soon dies away, and the workingman dives in his pockets for his seven dollars and twenty if he wants a ton of coal. Then we are quietly but sternly informed by the House owner that he must 'rise' the rent and gives his reason that the taxes are increasing, we kick with him and tell him that we are paying all we can afford, but he jingles a bunch of keys in his trousers pocket and quietly tells us: "If we don't like it we can get out." The workingman again dives in the conk for the required spondulice, and the landlord retires satisfied with himself that he has done his duty like a man. And this is the way the whole fitout is today, says Tucker, even the price of a pound of fish is on the rise and all coming out of the tradesman, the labourer, and the clerk.

"It's about time," says Tucker, "that the Government appoint a Commission to inquire into the way we are being treated, for we have industries in this town that are protected by high duties, and they can just rise the price of their goods just when they feel like it, and there's no one to say boo to them. Why 'tis an open secret that a manufacturing concern in this town is receiving money to keep its doors closed from others who are in the same business, and at the same time these concerns are protected by a high duty on goods coming into the country that would rival them in business. We hear of the curse of trusts in the States, we hear of poor people being bled by monopolists, but let us here ask ourselves if it isn't time to wake up for now is the time to be on our guard whilst the thin edge of the wedge is being put in."

Raising the workingman's wage is only a farce, if everything else goes up accordingly, and in the end he is no better off than he was at the start.

"Yes," says Mrs. Tucker, "that's the kind of stuff I like to hear ye discussing, boys, and as for the milk question, well, all I have to say is that instead of the Councillors trying to do away with the goats we ought to send an invitation to the herds which were drafted to the interior about the time that Higher Education and Microbes first struck this country, and induce them to come back again, and when we get them back, hold a torchlight procession in their honour, for we've had nothing but soaring prices since the goats were transported to fatten on the coal areas of the interior."

Cold Sores and Ulcers Are Healed by Zam-Buk.

Cold sores, chapped hand, ulcers, and winter eczema are common troubles just now, and for all these Zam-Buk will be found the surest and quickest remedy. Sometime cold sores arise from chilblains on the toes or fingers, and in the former case, where colored socks are worn, there is a danger of blood-poisoning from the dye. Zam-Buk being so powerfully antiseptic removes the danger as soon as applied and quickly heals.

Mr. W. J. Halliday, of Ash Grove, Ont., says: "I had my little finger frozen, and it cracked at the first joint, causing a bad sore, which discharged freely and would not heal. The pain was very bad, and the whole of my hand became swollen and in bad shape."

"A friend advised me to try Zam-Buk, and I soon found that Zam-Buk was altogether different to any preparation I had ever tried. In a very short time it healed the sore."

Miss Lillie May, of Stoney Creek, Ont., says: "A few weeks since several nasty, disfiguring cold sores suddenly broke out on my lips, which became much swollen. Seeing my condition, a friend advised me to try Zam-Buk and leave all other preparations aside. This I did, and was much pleased, after a few applications of this balm, to see every sore healed."

Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for eczema, blood-poison, varicose sores, piles, scalp sores, ringworm, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions and chapped places, cuts, burns, bruises, and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., St. John's, Nfld., upon receipt of price. Refuse harmful imitations and substitutes.

Use also Zam-Buk Soap, 25c. tablet Best for baby's tender skin!

Doing Well.

Mr. John Bennett, the well known leader of Bennett's Band, writing from Montreal to friends here by last mail, says he is doing well there and is now leader of a large orchestra besides being the principal in one of the finest bands in Montreal. He recently tendered to furnish music for one of the large rinks there and was accepted though many others had applied. His many friends here will be glad to learn of his success.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., Dec. 2.
Bishop McDonald, died this morning, after an illness of two years.

MONTREAL, Dec. 2.
That there would be no General Election for three or four years, was the opinion expressed by Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, to-day. The minister said the elaboration of the permanent naval policy would take up most of that time, and an election was impossible until it was ready to submit to the people.

HALIFAX, Dec. 2.
Four steamers will search for the missing Morien to-morrow. The Douglas H. Thomas has been out over a week without reporting. She may have the disabled steamer in tow. The cruiser Canada left Halifax yesterday for Lunenburg, and after coaling will join in the search to-morrow. The City of Sydney left at noon to-day. The Lady Laurier left yesterday in search of the steamer, but reported late to-day from "Sable Island" her failure to locate the steamer sighted by the Mexicans.

BERLIN, Dec. 2.
Dr. Frederick Franze Frieman, a Berlin physician, after a decade, experimenting, has given to the world a tuberculosis cure, which such men as Professor Schleich, of the Vuchou hospital, declare will mark one of the greatest epochs in the history of medicine. A correspondent visited and interrogated numerous patients who have been treated by Dr. Frieman, and they all asserted they had been cured after from one to three injections of the new serum. Several of these cases were tuberculosis of the bone of long standing. Numerous physicians and tuberculosis specialists are on the way to Berlin from Australia, the United States, South America, and other countries to study the new discovery. Australia is said to be sending a Government commissioner. English physicians are already here.

JACKSONVILLE, Florida, Dec. 2.
Richard Hume, an aeronaut, was killed here to-day.

GENEVA, Dec. 2.
A British protectorate over Egypt is likely to be announced shortly, according to the Egyptian representative of the Swiss Popular Bank, one of the largest financial institutions. He telegraphs from Cairo that it is considered in official circles here that the British protectorate has been definitely decided on. It is understood that it will be proclaimed in January. This step, he added, will affect business favourably.

LONDON, Dec. 2.
A Saloniki despatch to the Times, says that Macedonia is being drenched with blood as the result of atrocities committed by Bulgarian irregulars. It is lamentable that responsibility for so many of these atrocities lies at the door of the Christain race. The Bulgarians needing regulars in Thrace, have practically left Macedonia in care of irregulars. Besides the massacres already reported at Kalava and Serres, there has been an enormous amount of killing in the district of Averhissar, where scarcely a Moslem has been left alive. Mohammedan bands have added their quota to the general destruction, and whole villages have been depopulated as a result of the Turks and Albanian bands taking part. The Servians hold a better record, apart from the slaughter of a number of Moslems by irregulars of Uskub, little complaint having been made against them. I have been unable to trace any massacre of the Greeks, but it is stated that their bands are getting into action. Up to the present they have been able to control the auxiliaries, but there is reason to believe that strong measures must be taken to check the movement, before it has any chance to make progress. Further light on the Kavala massacres shows that Armenians, who joined the Bulgarian Army as volunteers, committed them, being led by a man whose family was killed in the Adna massacre.

LONDON, Dec. 2.
Telegraphing from Sofia, the correspondent of the Daily Mail asserts that the Allies will demand from Turkey a war indemnity of £240,000,000. Its Constantinople correspondent says that after the armistice is signed, an interval of a week will elapse for the appointment of plenipotentiaries to negotiate peace. The Bulgarians have shown considerable conciliation the last few days. They are beginning to realize that they are too exhausted to ever break the Tchatalja lines. Also, the Allies are commencing to dispute among themselves, which is an additional reason for wishing to finish the war quickly.

BERLIN, Dec. 2.
The Bulgarians alone have lost 10,000 killed and 60,000 wounded since the beginning of the war. A newspaper correspondent on his way home from the front, while passing through Sofia, declared that he saw this report at the Bulgarian war office.

Thanksgiving.

Once more around the groaning board we gather in our gloom, while father with his trusty sword, or shingling a sickensnee carves up the large and stately bird, while we the fragments spear from which it may be well inferred Thanksgiving Day is here. And as we fill our divers tanks with viands rich and rare we ought to breathe a hymn of thanks, since plenty's everywhere. In countless homes the laughter rings, the quip and timely jest, while some are asking for the wings, and some prefer the breast. In countless homes deep, fervent hymns the grateful people chant, while some are wishing for the limbs, and some the gizzard want. In countless homes are shining eyes, and hearts with joy rebound, while brother reaches for the pie and sends the pieces round. Such scenes as these in countless homes enacted are to-day, and all the birds and pies are poems that beat Milton's lay. Prosperity's on every hand, the lean wolf howls in vain, and in this fat and happy land no mortal should complain. The toiler gets abundant hire, the merchant makes things pay, and e'en the poet with his lyre can scan two bones a day. The poor man has his pies and roasts, the rich his motor car; so glory to the Lord of hosts, from whom all blessings are.

Nearly Joined the S. Army.

Mr. Henry Stead, son of the late Mr. W. T. Stead, speaking at the Browning Institute, Walworth, Eng., recently mentioned that his late father nearly joined the Salvation Army. "My father," he said, "admitted that he had often been tempted to leave his work and join the Salvation Army, and he had no hesitation in saying that he had not met half a dozen men whom he could class with General Booth. He described the work of the Army as a miracle. At the close of "Darkest England" the General acknowledged the great assistance of one who, though not in the Army, was a great sympathizer with it."

SPECIAL TRAIN.
At 5 p.m. yesterday a special train left here for Renewes taking a number of citizens who will be present at the funeral of the late Rev. John Walsh at Renewes. Besides the members for the District there went out a number of clergymen with Mayor Ellis and Hon. J. D. Ryan. His Grace Archbishop Howley who is suffering from a cold could not attend.
