SERBIANS AWAIT ALLIED TROOPS

PARIS, Oct. 18.
The entire Serbian line on the Bulgarian front, is being held against the enemy, notwithstanding the superiority of the Bulgarian forces, according to a despatch to the Temps from Nish, under date Oct. 16. It is declared that the Bulgarian army at Vukovitsa has been scattered, and that the battle continues along the whole front. The Serbians continue to hold the positions outside of Belgrade, dominating the city and the valley of the Sava. The correspondent telegrams from Nish that he has just arrived from Salonika, finding all along the line crowds at the stations of Serbians awaiting the arrival of the Allied reinforcements for the Serbians. Nish, the provisional capital of Serbia, is today, despite its anxieties and its mourning for the fallen among the Serbian troops, decorated with the national colors of the Entente Allies, in preparation for the arrival of the French and British troops. He says they have been waiting for several days. Some disappointment is felt at the delay in their coming. News here of the heroic resistance the Serbians are offering to the Teutonic invasion, sustains the people, who remain calm and determined. Salonika presents an amazing spectacle of naval power. Besides numerous ships of war is a vast fleet of transports, flying the French and British flags. The streets of the city are crowded with troops in foreign uniforms, khaki and French blue dominating.

ENTENTE ALLIES EFFECT LANDING AT ENOS.

LONDON, Oct. 18.
The Entente Allies have effected a landing at Enos, on the Aegean Sea in European Turkey, close to the Bulgarian border, and have seized the railway at that point, according to a despatch from Athens.

A GERMAN STORY.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.
The Overseas News Agency says today that advices from Salonika from Bulgaria state that the Bulgarian Minister to Greece, advising Premier Zaimis of Bulgaria's declaration of war against Serbia, gave expression to the friendly sentiments which Bulgaria held towards Greece. Zaimis expressed thanks for the readiness of the Bulgarian Government to help provide for Greece in the way which would be necessary in the event of a block of the Greek coast. The Greek Premier said that the two nations misunderstood each other, but from this time onward would march in the same direction.

NEAR EAST STRUGGLE.

LONDON, Oct. 18.
Reports that the Allies have occupied Strumitza, and landed at Enos, recently transferred from Turkish to Bulgarian rule, has caused a more optimistic feeling throughout the Allied countries as to the progress in the near Eastern campaign. It is known from both Serbian and German accounts, that Field Marshal Von Mackensen's army is meeting with greater resistance than expected, although it is probable that the Serbians eventually must fall back to stronger strategic positions in the north. The fact that the Allies are bringing heavy forces against the Bulgarians, and so placing them that the Bulgarians will be compelled to divide their armies, gives hope here that the Germans may be balked in their attempt to reach the sea to bring assistance to the Turks. All along the line the Serbians and their Montenegrin neighbors who are also being attacked, are offering stubborn resistance both to the Austro-Germans and Bulgarians. While they have given up a number of towns and positions, they have not yet reached the line on which they expect to make their stand. The Bulgarians, so far as can be learned, have made progress only in Zlotokopalla Valley, near the River Morava, north of the town of Vranja, where they blew up a bridge. There is no confirmation of the report that they cut the railway in this district, the bridge which they destroyed being a wooden one near the railway. The Bulgarian force which penetrated the valley is not a large one. On the other hand it is pointed out that the capture of Strumitza is of real strategic value, as its occupation permits the defence of the southern end of the railway, and compels the Bulgarians to keep a force there. Enos is of value. Although not a good landing place, its occupation threatens Deaghat, which has a great harbor and is fortified and mined. The civilian population has already left, and the town is in the hands of the military under German officers. The Italians, according to the latest reports, will not send a contingent to the Balkans, but the co-operation of their navy in the Aegean, where the Allied fleet is gathered, is looked for. The point at which the Russians will strike has not yet been disclosed. The expectation is that the Allies have a surprise for the Central Powers, and that steps are being taken to bring Turkey to her knees before assistance can reach her.

There has been plenty of fighting both on the eastern and western fronts, but in neither case has either side attempted a general offensive. The Germans are still making great efforts between Riga and Dvinsk, and have met with some minor successes. Thence to the Roumanian border wherever there has been any fighting it is the Russians who are attacking. They too, claim some gains. Much the same condition prevails on the western front. The British have been attacking east of Verdun, according to a Berlin report, while the Germans attacked the French near Souchez, and the French took the offensive in Champagne, Lorraine and Vosges.

BULGARIANS CONTINUE ATTACKS.

PARIS, Oct. 18.
The Bulgarians are continuing their attacks against the Nish-Uskup railroad. According to official information received at Athens, hard fighting is in progress at Vranja, where the Bulgarians are being driven back.

WILL DARDANELLES BE ABANDONED?

BEILIN, Oct. 18.
A special despatch to the National Zeitung from the Russian border, says: Your correspondent learns from a well-informed source that the abandonment of the Dardanelles campaign by France and Britain has already been decided upon. Russian circles, interested in this matter, have been informed that the Allies will not suspend operations in the Gallipoli Peninsula all at once, but gradually withdraw troops from there. Military circles in the Entente Powers are convinced of the hopelessness of the Dardanelles undertaking in its present form. The correspondent adds that another reason for abandonment of the campaign is that the troops are needed for service in Serbia.

SIR IAN HAMILTON RETURNS TO ENGLAND.

LONDON, Oct. 18.
Major Charles Carmichael Munro has been appointed to command the Dardanelles expedition, in succession to General Ian Hamilton, who is returning to England to make a report. This announcement was made by the War Office. Pending General Munro's arrival in Gallipoli, Major General Birdwood will temporarily command the troops.

TO RECRUIT ARMENIANS.

LONDON, Oct. 18.
A despatch to Reuter's telegram company from Petrograd says that Capt. Tarcom is planning to raise a volunteer corps from the Armenians, now residing in the Balkans, Egypt, Italy, France, Britain and the States to fight in the ranks of the Allies against Turkey. In an appeal with this end in view, Capt. Tarcom says the Armenians have been unable to prevent the massacre of Armenians in Asia Minor, by Turks, but those living in other countries can help fight Turkey, and the Allied Powers will not refuse them the right and honor of joining in the war against their oppressors.

WILL INVESTIGATE.

LONDON, Oct. 18.
Foreign Secretary Grey has requested the United States Government to investigate the circumstances attending the execution of Miss Edith Cavell, a British nurse in Brussels. Miss Cavell, who had been head of a training school in Brussels, was put to death by order of the German authorities, on a charge of having harbored British and French soldiers, and Belgians of military age, and assisting them to escape from Belgium to join the colors.

POSITION OF COALITION GOVT. PRECARIOUS.

DUBLIN, Oct. 18.
Presiding at the Nationalist Convention, yesterday, John E. Redmond said a grave political crisis might arise any day. The position of the coalition government, he declared, was precarious, as it was threatened by internal and external dangers, and a conspiracy existed among men ready to sacrifice national unity in the face of the enemy to further their own predilections and theories. It was common talk, said the Irish leader, that a general election was possible, but Ireland could boast she was not responsible for those dangers.

ROME, Oct. 18.
Pope Benedict shortly will hold a consistory, at which new cardinals will be created. The consistory will probably take place before Christmas.

SIR EDWARD CARSON RESIGNED.

LONDON, Oct. 18.
Sir Edward Carson, Attorney General, has resigned from the British Cabinet.

HIS REASON FOR RESIGNATION.

LONDON, Oct. 18.
The resignation of Sir Edward Carson, the first open manifestation of divergence of views known to exist among the Ministers, is the result, according to authoritative sources, not because of the controversy over conscription but owing to conditions in the Near East. Sir Edward, so far, has made no personal explanation, but it is understood he disapproves of the policy which is being followed in the Balkans, and the method of confiding the whole national policy to a small inner cabinet. It is expected there will be exciting debates in the Commons this week, as severe attacks on the Government are planned by members of the House in connection with the general military policy in the Near East.

COOL NIGHTS.

The summer nights' a total loss; we go to bed and kick and toss, and groan and shriek and pray; we wallow on our beds and weep, in vain—we cannot get to sleep until the break of day. And then the milk man comes along and whangs his large and strident gong, the errant newsboys scream, the grocer's man is at the door, and all the wheels of traffic roar, and spoil the morning dream. But in the fall how well we rest! When I've removed my shoes and vest, and to my couch I go, I find myself at once asleep, enjoying rest profound and deep, the kind that children know. For seven hours or so I snooze, refreshing weary gall and thews, from grief and care aloof; if you would wake me in the night, you'd have to bring some dynamite, and blow me through the roof. And in the morn, at half past five, I wake, so glad that I'm alive, that I must sing and dance; I sing and whistle, sound and hale, as I put on my martingale, my shirtwaist and my pance. Take all your potions, dope and pills, and throw them in the babbling pills; they are no use to men; when one can sleep for seven hours, that little nap restores his powers, and makes him young again.

Why, sure—it's better, lots better. It tastes good, smokes good, smells good, looks good, and is good, and it's all ready to use without the fag of cutting it up. You can fill your pipe or roll your own cigarette in half-a-jiffy with no fuss. Try a pipeful of mine—I use it all the time, and I bet you'll be using it yourself as soon as you've tried it.
