Dr. McTaggart, a well-known former resident of this city, is here on a flying visit. The Doctor has embarked in the lumber business near Mobile, Alabama, and says business in that line is flourishing. He cuts between 50,000 and 60,000 feet per day and cannot supply orders. His family will probably leave for Alabama in the fall and locate there permanently.

Among the floral offerings at the funeral of the late Miss Ida Doherty were very beautiful ones from the Ministering Children's League, the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor and the Bible class of Memorial Church, the Epworth League, of the Hamilton Road Methodist Church, the London Collegiate Institute, All Saints' Mission Chapel and numerous other friends. Drowned in Biddulph.

Word has been received in this city of a sad drowning calamity which occurred on Friday last in the neighborhood of Prospect Hill in Biddulph township, whereby the 18-year-old son of Mrs. Wilson, a widow, lost his life. The young man had been attending the St. Marys high school and was returning home with two companions. They stopped and were fishing in Fish Creek, when a proposal to go in for a bathe was agreed to. The water was somewhat deeper than usual, about nine feet being in the creek. Young Wilson got beyond his depth and, as he could not swim, was drowned before any assistance could be procured. The body was recovered about two hours after the occurrence. The bereaved relatives have the sympathy of a large circle of acquaintances. Mrs. Wilson has three other sons.

FATALLY WHIPPED.

the upper part of the city are agitated over the death of Paul Gebhardt, a young son of Paul Gebhardt, editor of the Connecticuty Paul Gebhardt, editor of the Connecticut Volksblatt. The boy died after suffering a week from spasms and a rupture brought en by a severe thrashing which he received at the hands of Principal John G. Lewis, of the Webster school. The lad was a cripple, but with all his physical defects a remarkably bright boy, full of pranks, and ever ready for a good time. He was a favorite with his school-feilows, and with several of them played truant on Monday afternoon. After being reprimanded by his father the boy returned to school, and his teacher, Miss Mallahan, reported his absence to Principal Lewis. What followed is not exactly known beyond the fact that the boy's parents say:
"Paul was strapped to a bench with ropes passed over his thighs and ankles. In this position Mr. Lewis flogged him until his frantic struggles overturned the bench and his piteous cries brought the neighbors in the vicinity of the school building to demand what was going on."
When released Paul was assisted to his home by several of the pupils in the school. On his back were the welts from the rattan used by Principal Lewis. Several German and American physicians, testify that he died from the effects of the beating. Dr. Oulman in his certificate of death says that the how was subject to epileptic fits, and was so Volksblatt. The boy died after suffering an in his certificate of death says that the boy was subject to epileptic fits, and was so severely punished that the fits were brought on with fatal results. A complaint has been made to the Board of Education against Principal Lewis.

A Young Emigrant's Troubles.

New York, June 3.—Sarah Marion, a handsome young emigrant, was brought to the Barge office by a police officer, who found her wandering in the street. She landed here two weeks ago. She was rushed through the Barge office in a great hurry and wandered about Battery Park, not knowing where to find her friends. A man got into conversation with her and told her he would take her to a boarding-house where she could remain till her friends.

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, is ear-ache. The young are specially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, to which the young are specially subject.

"What's the matter with those two dogs! They are fighting all the time." told her he would take her to a boarding-house where she could remain till her friends called. She accompanied the man, and, it is alleged, was drugged and kept confined in the house for several days. She was found wandering in the streets insane from the ordeal she had passed through.
