Everyone Seems To Be Taking "Fruit-a-tives"

Demand Always Increasing

Because "Fruit-a-tives" Cures

The real value of any article may be judged by the demand for it. Steadily increasing sales are the surest indication of intrinsic merit. This applies to a medicine as well as to a breakfast food.

First introduced to the public in Ottawa, the fame of "Fruit-a-tives" quickly spread until today these fruit juice tablets are known and used in every section of the Dominion.

The only reason for this extraordinary demand is that "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit, and is the only remedy that will positively cure Constipation, Biliousness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Backache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Bladder and Kidney Troubles. One has only to read the testimonials given to "Fruit-a-tives" by some of the best-known and most highly esteemed people of Canada, to appreciate the wonderful amount of good that this grand fruit medicine has done and is doing for the sick and suffering.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. At dealers, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa.

PUSH OF GERMANS TAKES HOLY LAND

Palestine Fully in Control of Energetic Commercial Men and Settlers.

London, Aug. 15. — The Germanization of Palestine is proceeding rapidly. In the early fifties of the nineteenth century a body of Germans calling themselves templars left their native land for Palestine. These early pilgrims were well supplied with money. Each of them bought land and built a house for himself.

In less than three years a colony of 200 well-built houses of European style stood on the slopes of Mount Carmel. Little by little from this centre the German colonists branched out to Jaffa, Jerusalem and other places. Recruits came freely from the fatherland.

In thirty years the German proprietors could be counted by thousands. With Teutonic tenacity of purpose they worked to open up a market for manufactures, and find an outlet for all kinds of articles of German production. Every inducement possible, cheap prices and long credit, courted the patronage of merchants.

Soon Gained Firm Hold.

Commercial travellers followed closely after one another. Some of them remained at Haifa, Jaffa and Jerusalem as commission agents. They offered their wares at very low prices and were willing to wait long for payment. Thus they became powerful and popular.

When the ground had been thus prepared the Emperor Frederick visited the country, an event which greatly heightened German prestige in Turkey. When the present Kaiser ascended the throne, he prosecuted his father's policy with far greater vigor.

The friendship between Wilhelm II. and his "cher et tres grand ami" Abdul Hamid made the position of the Germans in Palestine stronger than ever. After the visit of the Kaiser and Kaiserin to Jerusalem in 1898 there was another increase of German influence. Germans acquired immense tracts of land in all parts of the country. The recent visit of the Prince and Princess Eitel Friedrich has kept the German influence strong.

Financed by Templar Bank.

The German consul today is the great man in Palestine. Germans are still flocking into the country on every side. Most of them remain. If they have the money, they buy property at once, cultivate it, and build houses. If they are poor they are financed by the Templar Bank, which is subsidized by powerful political syndicates.

This German immigration is carefully planned and cleverly organized by influential syndicates, composed of great financiers, princes, manufacturers and military officers. The Kaiser himself is said to preside over the meetings of the principal of these syndicates. The conquest of Palestine seems to have begun.

GRAVE-DIGGERS' STRIKE.

London, Aug. 15.—The strike of the grave-diggers and other cemetery-workers in Paris is spreading. Almost all the men of the six Paris cemeteries are out, and a meeting at the Bourse du Travail has decided to call out those employed in the four suburban cemeteries.

Dissatisfaction is expressed in the army in Paris at the employment of soldiers to do grave-diggers' work, wash tombstones and keep cemeteries in order. It is pointed out that young men doing their military service expect to serve their country by learning to be soldiers, but do not expect to be set to work at any trade whose members choose to go on strike. The police, it is argued, ought rather to supply men for such jobs, or work might be provided in this way for some of the many unemployed in Paris.

THEORIES DAZZLE SAYS DR. CARMAN

Many Befooled by Speculation He Tells Conference.

THE JACKSON MATTER

General Superintendent Opens the Great Gathering at Victoria.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 15.—The Methodist General Conference was formally opened today with General Superintendent Carman's address. Some of the points made by Dr. Carman were as follows:

But One Anxiety.

"I have but one anxiety concerning our Methodism. It is that we be saved from worldliness and spiritual sloth and indifference, and all their consequences in every form, shape, measure and degree. Herein, possibly, is our greatest present danger; we are becoming wealthy, and may easily lose the vigor and tension of spiritual life and the voice and tone of aggressive evangelism. We have time for vain jangling and oppositions of science, falsely so called. It is very easy to slacken up our push and pace; be satisfied with our attainments and sink into the lap of formalism and naturalism and of worldly comfort and ease. At such times and under such conditions novelties are preached for the well-proven doctrines of converting grace and sanctifying power. The eye of the church is dimmed and her arm is paralyzed. There is no strength in her movements, or victory in her march. Even good men are dazzled with the glitter of theories and befooled with empty speculation. The grey solidity and stern simplicity of the truth have no charms for their intoxicated understanding. The tendency, current and force in the spiritual life of our humanity, left to itself, is ever downward and not upward, as some do vainly and erroneously teach. They build up conjecture, assumption and human art and device to our utter undoing. This is heathenism; this and this alone in the Christhe paganism of the nations.

After referring to those who have passed away since the last conference, and after paying a tribute to those taking a prominent part in the affairs of the Methodist Church, he continued:

The Jackson Matter.

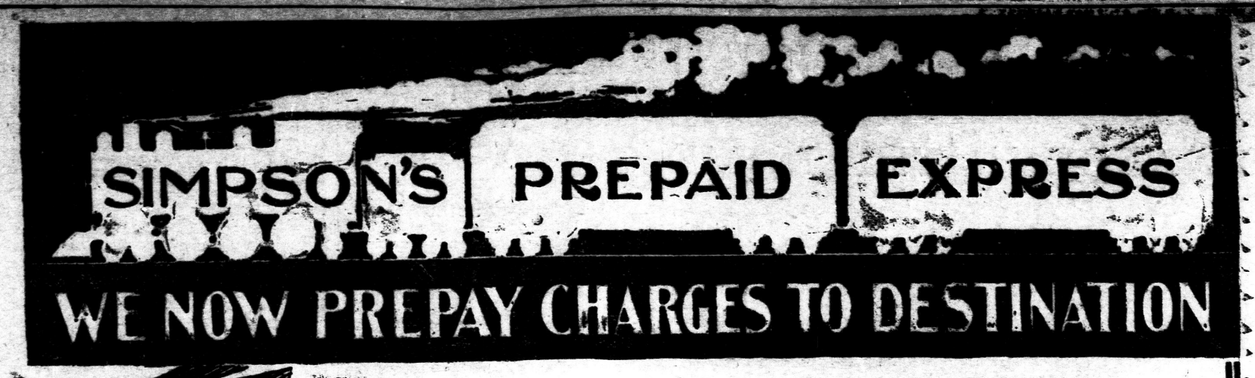
"The general superintendent is wholly responsible to the General Conference for his administrative acts. One of our wealthiest churches wished to invite to its pastorate and pulpit a minister from abroad who was not a member of any of our annual conferences or of our church. By an arrangement with the stationing committee of the conference, which placed a kind and loving brother at least nominally in charge, the wish was gratified and the pulpit was given to the minister from abroad, who was not a member of our church, nor did he during his term of service of three or four years there become a member. With this transaction the general superintendent, under discipline, had no special call to concern himself; though he had hoped and expressed the desire that such a case would never again occur in our Methodism; especially for this reason, that if one rich and powerful church could adopt that course to obtain the men of their desire, why not another? And why not all that could afford it? Then what of our itinerant system? And what of the rights and precious interests of our own home ministers?

Challenged Statement.

"All this, however, might have been overlooked, and the affair, however unpleasant, have passed off quietly, but for some statements made by the minister from abroad which the general superintendent deemed it his duty to challenge. Controversy followed, and Biblical ethnology explains and disturbance and unrest in the church, which we may regret has not yet subsided. As some aspects of the case are likely to come before the general conference, I do not think it necessary to deal further with it now; except perhaps that I may be permitted to say, as not utterly alien from some circumstances and implications of it, that I read with surprise and regret in the report of the board of regents of Victoria University, as penned presumably by the learned chancellor, among many most encouraging statements, a strong plea for increase in the professional staff, particularly in philosophy, psychology and kindred subjects; that the positions of personality and its relations in instruction be clearly defined and firmly held.

Root of the Trouble.

"Here, I apprehend, is the root of the whole trouble; and it is satisfactory to know that the chancellor has his eye upon it. He evidently detects the deflection and the sagging which forever deflect further and sag more dangerously as they take in the soakage from naturalism, rationalism, and incipient heathenism unless toned up, braced up by adequate conceptions of God and man. Personality! Cloudless, flawless ideas of personality! The Personality of God! The personality of each and every man! This and this alone is the basis of sound ethics! This, with what it implies, is the indestructible foundation of pure and true religion. A right and complete, a full-orbed personality, immanent and transcendent and free; in natural law and in miracles adjusting many a conflict. Without it, as apprehended by the common mind, according to the will of God, can be no conviction of sin or conversion. Even a secular college ought to teach and maintain this moral, ethical and civil personality if it would build and fortify the Commonwealth. A religious and theological college that does not hold it aloft as in the light of noonday and proclaim it and the spiritual personality and what it involves as from the mountain tops is a perversion and a failure, if not a snare. Personality in its absolute unity and accountability, its intelligence, conscience, freedom, feeling, and will is the clamp, the clasp of steel that must keep all lines of investigation and knowledge in full stretch and each in its own place. Through it must pass the physical and the metaphysical, the scientific and the philosophic, the rational and spiritual, the moral and religious. The clasp must hold or the strings slacken, dangle and fall into confusion. This is heathenism or far on the road to it. This is precisely what Paul meant of the heathen world when he said: 'When they knew God they glorified Him not as God, neither were thankful: but became vain in their imaginations and their foolish heart was darkened. God gave them over to a reprobate mind to do the things that are not convenient.' On the Godward side personality means creation, revelation, inspiration, authority, superhuman act, miracle; on man's side it is regeneration, adoration, obedience reason, faith. This we should hold if we drop everything else to hold it, or give up the pretence of university education. You will see I am decidedly with our chancellor in stiffening up the conception and clarifying the idea of the personality of God and man in the instruction of the colleges. And I think we could find half a dozen Methodist superannuates who could and would do it."



WITH the issue of our new Fall and Winter Catalogue, The Robert Simpson Company Limited, starts a new chapter in the mail order business of Canada.

To further develop our Great Mail Order System and spread its benefits to all parts of the Dominion, we will, until further notice, pay all charges on the great bulk of our shipments, and thereby put our mail order customers on an absolute equality with city customers.

TURKISH DOGS ARE BANISHED

Canines of Constantinople Exiled to Lonely Island of Oxias.

London, Aug. 13.—Action in regard to the scavenger dogs of Constintinople which have been exiled to the Island of Oxias has been taken by the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The society appealed strongly to Sir Edward Grey, foreign secretary, in an endeavor to induce the Turkish authorities to have the animals mercifully destroyed. The great difficulty in the way of this action was the religious objection of Mohammedans to take the life of an animal. In order to meet this, the society offered to raise a fund for the purchase of the dogs and their merciful destruction by the Christians.

A high official of the Turkish Government who was in London last week informed the society the dogs were well provided with food and water. The British ambassador at Constantinople, in a letter to the society, confirms this statement, and says he hopes the animals shortly will be destroyed.

Given Regular Rations.

The Island of Oxias is in the Sea of Marmora, and until the dogs were sent there was deserted. The dogs have been turned loose to exist as they can, though, as the Turkish official says, they have regular rations provided by a Government vote under the pressure of public opinion. The poor animals evidently feel their isolation, and must look back reflectively on their existence in Constantinople. Oxias is picturesquely situated, and well wooded, and visits to it to see how the dogs are getting on often are paid just now by the people of Constantinople.

The dogs, numbers of which at all times will be seen in the daytime standing on the beach or half-plunged in the sea in order to avoid tormenting flies and gnats, and to keep cool under the burning sun, always crowd down to the water's edge as the boats come near, showing evident signs of joy at again seeing human beings. Water is supplied them from wells on the island, being drawn up daily, and placed in large tin cans. They make wild rushes for the cans at the time for watering.

There are 50,000 of these dogs in Constantinople. They lived in separate communities or guilds, which were parcelled out, and if a dog overstepped the limits of his domain he was promptly set upon by a dozen foes. Each group had a watchman, or "beteji," to keep guard.

Rules That Dogs Have Souls.

When proposed long ago in the reign of Ahmed I. that the Constantinople dogs be got rid of lest they should help spread the plague, the grand mufti was consulted. He ruled that as dogs have souls it was unlawful to destroy them. At another time many dogs were caught and marooned on an island, but swam back to the mainland amid popular applause. Offers have been made for the dogs for the purpose of making gloves of the skins, but were refused. Now there is a chance that the problem will be solved.

RUSS MURDERER CAUGHT.

Winnipeg, Aug. 16.—For three years the Russian police have been hunting the world for Sava Federenko and three companions accused of murder, robbery and arson. Winnipeg police got trace of Federenko, and Sunday night they surrounded a house in which he was found. Federenko and his companions looted a house and fired it, three occupants previously killed or bound, being burned in the house. Federenko and his companions fled, it was thought, to the Argentine, where the others are thought to be still. But Winnipeg police will draw the city on the chance of pocketing them up also. The prisoner will be held on a minor charge until papers arrive.

WESTMINSTER ABBEY FOR MISS NIGHTINGALE

Remains May Rest Amongst Those of Britain's Greatest.

London, Aug. 16.—A dramatic sequel to the death of Florence Nightingale occurred today in the death of John Finneghan, an aged soldier, who acted as Miss Nightingale's orderly in her hospital work during the Crimean war, Miss Nightingale died yesterday at the age of 90 years. When Finneghan was told of it, he was overcome, and the doctors say that grief killed him.

In all probability the dying request of Florence Nightingale, world-famed for her work as nurse during the Crimean war, and her subsequent efforts in behalf of British soldiers, for a simple funeral ceremony, will be ignored. Such a warm place did she hold in the affections of the people that there is now a widespread demand that her body find a resting place in Westminster Abbey, where England's greatest sons lie buried.

The press of England is urging Westminster Abbey as the burial place The greatest demand, however, for a public funeral, with full military honors, comes from the English soldiers, in whose behalf Miss Nightingale devoted her life since early womanhood. They demand that they be given an opportunity to do honor to her memory.

Government to Move.

The death of Miss Nightingale has stimulated the movement to abolish the present precarious method of supporting English hospitals by means of voluntary contributions, and of establishing a system of Governmental maintenance. This is one of the things for which Miss Nightingale labored so assiduously for the last half century.

With the exception of the death of the late Queen Victoria, the death of no other English woman has called forth so many expressions of regret and messages of condolence as that of Miss Nightingale. These messages come from all over the world.

King George sent a personal representative to the home of Miss Nightingale to express the sorrow of himself and the Queen.

CANADA-GERMAN TRADE

Small Decrease in Imports Since Removal of Surtax.

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—The declaration of commercial peace between Canada and Germany does not appear to have yet produced much improvement in the trade between the two countries. There was a small decrease in the imports of each country, the larger being in the imports by Germany of Canadian goods. During the three months following the removal of the surtax, Germany imported Canadian goods to the amount of $1,902,723, an increase of $181,327. In the same time Canada imported German goods to the value of $803,784, an increase of $392,228. The July figures have not yet been completed, but indicate the trade is on the increase.

HOPE TO BUILD LINE.

Hamilton, Aug. 15.—John Patterson, the promoter of the Hamilton, Waterloo and Guelph Railway, has returned to the city after a three months' visit in London, England, He went there to endeavor to finance the building of the road. He refused to make a definite announcement as to the success of his mission, contenting himself with the statement that while he had always hopes of building the line he now had good hopes. He promised to make an announcement before the end of the week.
