GREECE REFUSES TO SURRENDER ARMS TO THE ALLIES

GREEKS HAVE TURNED DOWN THE DEMANDS OF ENTENTE

Will Not Surrender Batteries and Arms as Ordered. BY THE FRENCH ADMIRAL. Declare It Would Be Violation of Neutrality.

London, Nov. 23.—The Greek Government has refused to comply with the demand of the Entente Allies for the surrender of arms and ammunition. Reuter's correspondent at Athens cables.

The correspondent's dispatch reads as follows: "The Greek Government has refused the demands of Vice-Admiral Dufournet that Greece surrender its field batteries, 15 batteries of mountain artillery with 1,000 shells for each, 40,000 Mannlichers with 200 cartridges each, 140 machine guns with ammunition and 50 motor vans.

"Referring to Admiral Dufournet's contention that the reason for war material to the Bulgarians and Germans had disturbed the equilibrium, the Government replies that although it does not desire to enter into the details of that operation, it must point out that the cabinet could not approve of resistance to the central powers without abandoning neutrality, but duly protested. It also contends that the guns already taken by the Entente were modern, while those taken by Bulgaria were obsolete.

Latest Atrocity of Huns Hardens the British Resolution

Intense Indignation Over Ruthless Sinking of the Britannic—German Expectation That the Act Would Hasten Peace Woefully Wrong.

[Canadian Press.] New York, Nov. 23.—The London correspondent of the Tribune says: Intense feeling has been aroused here at the contravention of all laws of war and humanity shown in the torpedoing of the big hospital ship Britannic. The British people are particularly hard hit by the disaster because the Britannic was built to resemble its ill-fated sister ship, the Titanic, as a direct challenge to the supremacy of the great German liners, the Vaterland and the Imperator.
