Dana's Opinion.

Charles A. Dana, the veteran editor of The New York Sun, is enjoying himself in Europe after the bustle of the election campaign, and is, or was, the other day, in Paris. There he was interviewed by a Herald correspondent on the subject of the recent great event. Dana is one of those men who have a habit of saying something to the purpose and he gives it as his opinion that Cleveland has been a very much over-rated man, with a fatal facility for making mis-titled enemies. He is led into this largely through abounding confidence in himself. He has been too much addicted to I, myself and Destiny with a big D. Dana thinks that the election of 1888 is a "settler" for Free Trade in the United States. We quote:

"This last election has, therefore, settled the free-trade question. No party can succeed in the United States which wavers in its adherence to protection. California wants protection for its wines and woolens and fruits; Alabama wants it for its iron, and so will Colorado in time. The whole West wants it for manufactures and industries which are springing up there as if by magic. The East has always wanted it and the South will follow suit. * * * To talk about Cleveland having been knifed in New York by Hill and Hewitt is nonsense. Those two men added rather than injured the Presidential candidate. The bitterness aroused in New York State by these factional jealousies resulted in drawing out an enormous vote, which largely helped the Democrats. Furthermore, Hill rolled thousands of votes among Republicans opposed to restricting the sale of liquor, and many such men were thus led to cast a straight Democratic ticket. * * * If the Democrats had chosen as their candidate a man without Cleveland's host of enemies and if they had excluded from their platform anything which might be construed as leaning toward free trade, I think there is no doubt they would have been successful. As it is, they are set back where they were seven years ago, and they have a Republican majority against them in both houses."

The Herald uses the cable liberally in transmitting what Dana has to say; and gives prominent place to the same. Our contemporary gave Cleveland and free trade together its best support through the fight; but now it seems to be looking towards the rising sun. It evidently endorses Dana's opinion that the whole country wants protection, and that the Democrats have got a set-back for twenty years at least.

The Geographical Argument.

Our advocates of annexation think that geographical proximity should decide the question in favor of commercial union, and of political union too, though this latter The Globe is still anxious to repudiate. On Saturday The Mail had a long article setting forth its belief that the Dominion Government is becoming more Protectionist than before, which we only hope will be confirmed by events. On one point we quote The Mail's words:

> Up to the present, however, the Ministerial papers have confined their objection to grinding in bond. As for the flour duty, fifty cents a barrel has hitherto been deemed a sufficiently onerous tax on the Maritime consumer, who, if he were allowed, would buy all his flour in New England, where he sells his fish.

This is arguing as if the "Maritime consumer," whose product is fish, were making an exchange with his near neighbor in New England, whose product is flour. All wrong, we reply, the alleged argument is based on a misconception, or a blunder, all through. The flour which the Maritime consumer buys in New England is the product of the far Western States, and before coming east has been "handled" probably in Chicago or Minneapolis. As a matter of fact the average distance that Canadian flour has to be carried to reach Nova Scotia is no more than that over which American flour is carried. The latter, remember, is not made from wheat raised in Maine or Massachusetts, but from wheat raised in Iowa, Minnesota or thereabouts. If geographical distance is to be your argument, then the home product deserves at least as favorable consideration as the imported. On the ground of geographical distance alone, Ontario, and even Manitoba, should stand as well as Minnesota. As far as flour is concerned, the geographical argument which The Mail seems to think so much of is not worth a row of pins.

Coming Nearer Together.

The attraction of the different Protestant denominations toward one grand union of forces has been rapid—too rapid that its progress can hardly be appreciated. But the union that has been and is growing has not been and is not, it seems, confined within the Protestant bodies. The relations between the Roman Catholic and Protestant are becoming more sympathetic, gradually it is true, but if the evidences are to be accepted none the less surely.

An induction of this progress toward the universal brotherhood of the Christian Church is found in the circular letter of Cardinal Gibbons, calling for the observance of the United States National Thanksgiving Day, in the Roman Catholic churches of the archdiocese of Baltimore. Thus, for the first time in the history of the country, the one religious festival which is peculiar to the people of this continent will be celebrated in Roman Catholic churches. This is a step toward unity of feeling at which the Protestant can rejoice as well as the Catholic.

Adulterated Lard.

A couple of sessions ago the Dominion Parliament prohibited the importation of bogus butter. It may therefore be expected that the request to be made by the pork packers of the Dominion for the regulation of adulterated or bogus lard importation will be granted. The packers want either the stuff kept out of the country altogether or its being properly labelled. In these requests there is nothing unreasonable. The sale of "compound lard" in England is only allowed when the purchaser, be he retailer, jobber or consumer, is acquainted with the nature of the article. Not alone for the protection of Canadian producers should this Chicago manufactured lard be dealt with, but also for the protection of consumers.

About Bismarck's Retirement.

Mr. Labouchere is generally believed to know a good deal about what is going on in high quarters; and he speaks of Bismarck's retirement next spring as a thing settled upon. Count Herbert will never be the man to fill his father's shoes, so Labouchere says, and instead of succeeding to the control at Berlin, will be practically shelved as ambassador to London. The coming man in Germany is Count von Waldersee, who, as Labouchere puts it, will be the de facto ruler of the German Empire in conjunction with the Kaiser before another year has passed.

Canada need not distress herself about the threats of Michigan lumbermen to put an extra duty on Canadian lumber in retaliation for the increased export duty the Canadian Government has placed on logs. The Michigan men have not succeeded in their purpose and if they should it will but hasten the day that shall see the United States dependent on Canada for their lumber.

Mr. H. T. Barker, Stratford, writes to The Canadian Grocer a letter on the Butter question in which he suggests as a means of regulating the placing of a bad article on the market that butter be inspected and graded as is now done with grain, hides and other commodities. If such a scheme be feasible, and it looks to be, the result would be worth an experiment.

The Ottawa Journal argues that because the Divine founder of Christianity paid taxes to Cæsar, Christian clergymen to-day should not claim exemption for themselves or for church property.

When The Ottawa Free Press again begins to call Mr. Blake "the Reform leader" we are prompted to ask what Mr. Laurier's and Sir Richard Cartwright's relations to the party are.

Lady Macdonald.

Ottawa correspondence New York Tribune.

Apart from the Queen's representatives, the "first lady" in Canada is the wife of the Premier. Lady Macdonald will be remembered by many in Washington, whither she accompanied Sir John at the time of the last commission to settle the fishery question. In appearance she has altered very little since then, except that her dark hair has turned a snowy white and this, rolled back from her forehead, gives a look of softness and gentleness to a face more expressive of purely intellectual qualities. Lady Macdonald is a remarkable woman, even in this age of remarkable women. Her mind has the masculine qualities of breadth and grasp and accuracy and logic, yet she is capable of the tenderest expression of womanly sympathy, the finest tact and the keenest feminine appreciation. But for the service she has rendered the country in being the stay and support, the intelligent and capable companion of her husband through so many critical years of his public life, Lady Macdonald would have had no province in Canada. Either in England or the United States such a personality as hers would have found a more interesting environment and wider appreciation. Here her superiority in knowledge of public affairs and general intellectuality overawes every woman whose husband is in Parliament to so marked that comparison is out of the question.

In the event of the retirement of Hon. J. H. Pope from the Railway department, which is anticipated, he will in all probability be replaced by Sir Hector Langevin.

A Crumb of Comfort.

From The Parkdale Times.

If Parkdale has got to be swamped by the city to-day, West Toronto Junction will be swamped to-morrow.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

A Week of Big Attractions at the City Play Houses.

To-night the Lydia Thompson Burlesque Company opens a three nights' engagement at the Grand Opera House in Fred. Solomon's sarcastic burlesque entitled "Penelope." The company comes highly recommended. The music is catchy and the costumes and scenery magnificent. There are over sixty people in the cast, all selected for their special fitness for their respective parts. There will be no matinee on Wednesday, the engagement being limited to three nights. Mrs. Langtry will appear in the following repertoire this week: Thursday evening and Saturday matinee, "As in a Looking Glass;" Friday evening, "The Lady of Lyons;" Saturday evening, "Pygmalion and Galatea." The sale of seats begins this morning.

"Theodora" at the Toronto.

Miss Phœa McAllister commences a week's engagement at the Toronto to-night. An exchange says of the performance: Miss Phœa McAllister and her company gave an English version of Sardou's great play "Theodora" last evening. The very elaborate costumes, scenery and properties used by the lamented Lillian Olcott were used and the play was put on the stage without any material change. Miss Phœa characterized its first production in this city. The play has evidently been rewritten, and the changes made have improved it. Miss McAllister grew into a very creditable impersonation of the title role and cannot fail to make for herself an enviable reputation in her new venture. She deserves more than usual appreciation for presenting the character according to her own conception of it, and of simply imitating the methods of Miss Olcott.

The B. O. C.

The Beacon Orchestral Club will this evening commence a week's engagement at the Permanent Exhibition. The seven lady artists who comprise this organization unite in rendering an attractive program of sweet chamber music and their efforts have been highly eulogized in Boston and other places. This will be their first appearance before a Toronto audience, but having been brought direct from Boston by Messrs Nicholls & Howland.

The Conservatory Concert.

The Conservatory of Music gave one of its smaller concerts on Saturday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. lecture room. The program consisted of nine pieces, which were thoroughly enjoyed by the select audience present. The participating pupils were Miss Lillian Hewitt, Miss Dwyle, Miss Hitchelon (Hamilton), the Misses Robinson (Brampton), Miss Lizzie Reeve, Miss Bell, Miss Whitehead, Miss Eleanor Dallas, and Miss Louie Might. The artists here represented were Mr. Edward Fisher, the musical director, Mrs. Brudley, Mr. Guiseppe Dinelli, Miss Hillary, Mrs. Jarvis and Mrs. Adamson.

Toronto College of Music.

The latest addition to the staff of the Toronto College of Music is Mr. H. M. Field, a brilliant Canadian piano virtuoso who has studied in Frankfort with Dr Hans von Bulow, and in Leipsig with Dr. Carl Reinecke, S. Jadassohn and Martin Krause, the celebrated German critic, and friend and pupil of Dr. Franz Liszt. He will teach piano and harmony at the College, Bond-street. Miss Lucas, from the London Philharmonic and Crystal Palace concerts and now residing in the city, will make her first appearance before a Toronto audience next Saturday afternoon, when she will give a piano recital before the pupils of the college. Mme. Lucas recently played before a New York audience in Steinway Hall with Theodore Suckens orchestra, winning unstinted praise from the New York Press

ROWALK'S FANCY FARMER.

T. B. Gunning's Remarkable Escapade With His Rich Wife's Money.

The New York Sun of Saturday says it has positive information that T. B Gunning, the absconding husband of the niece of ex-Gov. Leland Stanford, the California millionaire, from Toronto. The Sun also says that Lawyer Mackenzie of Toronto arrived in Norwalk, Conn., on Friday and had an interview with Mrs. Gunning and her lawyer, John S. Symour. Mr. McKenzie found that Mrs. Gunning had already begun a suit for $100,000 against her husband, and that other creditors will try on Wednesday next to have Mr. Gunning thrown into bankruptcy. Mrs. Gunning has also begun divorce proceedings on the ground of cruelty, and annuls the custody of the two child en. When Mr. McKenzie brought from his client Mr. Seymour would not say. Mr. Seymour did say this in behalf of his client:

> During the 24½ years of their married life Mr. Gunning spent his wife's money like water. In the past year he squandered over $2,000 of her money by his extensive carousals South Wilton. But before he left he took out a check for $250, signed by his wife but drawn to nobody's order, and filled in its own name. He did the same thing with another large check and and these both cashed. Together he took about $15,000 in cash, as near as we can tell, and went away leaving his wife with hardly any money. His action was precipitated by a family quarrel. We have sued him for $100,000, because he forged a deed of an undivided half interest in the property at South Wilton, which was bought with his wife's money. The superfluous stock will be sold off and the farm will still be run in the interest of Mr. Gunning.

Mrs. Gunning is a niece of ex-Gov. Leland Stanford, the Californian millionaire, and before her marriage was a Miss Lathrop. Her mother is wealthy and has a fine Queen Anne residence at Saratoga overlooking Hilton Park. Her sister, Miss Amy La Irop, is said to have been adopted by ex-Gov. Stanford. Mr. T. B. Gunning went to Norwalk in October, 1887, having hired his brother's $60,000 house, about four miles from the city, known as Stonehouse. He bought 500 acres of land, adjacent to the 70 acres of Stonehouse, and proceeded to assist the farmers by his extravagance. His farm began to assume the proportions of a ranch in the wild West, where land is plenty and animals feed without cost to their owner. Among his first purchases were 250 head of cattle, including two splendid Holstein bulls. Then he bought 30 thoroughbred horses as a starter. Meantime he put up costly stables, tobacco store rooms, granaries and hennaries. He also built a great silo pit. He paid high prices for his stock, and employed scores of workmen and farm laborers. Contractors, builders, mechanics, farm laborers and tradesmen are wondering when their bills will be paid.

JOHN TEEMER IN THE SOUP

WILLIAM O'CONNOR NOW CHAMPION OF AMERICA.

A Great Race on the Potomac—The Toronto Oarsman Leads From Start to Finish and Wins by Ten Lengths in 21.38—General Sporting News.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Never has a boat race aroused so much enthusiasm in America as to-day's 3-mile sculling contest on the Potomac River between William O'Connor of Toronto and John Teemer of McKeesport, Pa., for $1000 a side and the championship of America. The long-talked-of battle between the two famous oarsmen has at last been settled and the Toronto boy is the hero of the hour. That he well earned the title of champion of America it is useless to say, for he led from start to finish, Teemer at no time being able to overtake him.

The day was about as mean as it could be for an aquatic contest, there being a cold, raw wind, with a cloudy sky, which was anything but pleasant. Nevertheless the banks of the river on the Washington side were crowded with spectators, every boathouse and other building being topheavy with people eager to witness the great contest. The course selected was three miles with a turn from Cumberland's lower boathouse to a turn up stake near the Long bridge.

As to the betting O'Connor had the call, and when his followers could not secure even money they put it up at odds of $100 to $75. Even then the Toronto party were unable to get up half their money. Whenever a Toronto man would offer to bet he was at once surrounded by Canadians who accommodated him.

It was 4 o'clock when the referee called the men out, the water being in good condition. O'Connor was the first to make his appearance, wearing a white sleeveless shirt, with blue boots and black cap. He was boated in a Riddock shell with a Warren seat, and weighed 158 pounds. He looked in excellent condition and confident. When he pulled away from his boat house a spectator in the crowd remarked: "There goes an honest man, let us give him three cheers," which the crowd quickly responded.

It was fifteen minutes later before Teemer stepped into his shell, dressed in a maroon sweater with a pink cap, and pulled towards the starter's boat. He had an anxious look and seemed to want to delay the start by rowing away several times, at which O'Connor said to the referee: "If you do not start us at once I will have to return to my boat house, as I cannot stand the cold any longer."

Teemer, who won the toss, chose the Virginia shore. The men were then got into position and the referee gave the word "go." O'Connor was the first to get his stroke, and before Teemer could realize it the Canadian had a length to the good, rowing at 41 strokes to the minute, Teemer pulling 40. It then looked as if the race was over, as the latter was rowing well within himself and increasing his lead.

When half way up the course, three-quarters of a mile from the start, O'Connor settled down to it while Teemer was rowing 38 strokes. The Toronto oarsman had increased the lead to three lengths, but steered a little out of his course, which gave Teemer a slight advantage, and on reaching the turning buoy Teemer was only 1½ lengths behind O'Connor. That the pace was fast may be judged by the time, O'Connor reaching the buoy in 11.38.

This seemed to break Teemer's heart, for when both men were straightened for home O'Connor quickly increased his advantage to 6 lengths, and it was a procession to the finish. A wind now blew up and with the tide against them the speed was decreased. O'Connor, however, responded to a strong stroke while Teemer was labouring, and though Mr. McKeesport made several spurts O'Connor drew away, finishing ten lengths in front in 21.29. Teemer's time for the 3 miles was 21.38. The slow time is accounted for by the wind and strong tide.

At the finish O'Connor was loudly cheered, the Toronto contingent even carrying the British flag, which was waved to the Canadian. Had the race been rowed on Toronto Bay Teemer would not have received a better reception, the feeling of the Washington people being with him.

O'Connor waited at the finish to shake hands with Teemer, the latter being accompanied by his trainer Hanlan, who followed him the last p rt of the journey, as did Mr. Rowe with O'Connor. Rowe gave up to his boathouse without returning to the judges' stand.

Joseph Rogers of Toronto, the backer of O'Connor, said that he now proposed to go to Australia, and would back O'Connor for championship from Searle. Rogers won a big pot of money.

I saw O'Connor at the hotel to-night. He said that his race with Gaudaur was much harder, and that the pace kill d Teemer. He was sorry he could not honor his challenge from a young lady in Toronto. The champion will sail home for New York on Monday and arrive in Toronto about next Saturday.

THE LOSERS KICK.

A Claim That Teemer Sold Out—Referee Elder Says the Race Was an Honest One.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—There have been ugly rumors since the O'Conner-Teemer boat race, and having been brought yesterday afternoon to the effect that Teemer sold out. In an interview Referee Elder said: "There have been some comments that the race was not an honest one, but I am satisfied that it was and cannot find any reason for changing my decision. I consider myself competent to judge of the character of the contest, and I am confident that the race was won fairly and by O'Connor deserves his victory. I regard him as a wonderful oarsman, and I think now that he cannot only beat as he did in this country but that he can beat anyone in the world."

The men who had bet money on Teemer declare that Teemer could have beaten O'Connor if he had tried. Jas. W. Sullivan, the Pittsburg man who had increased the stakes to $2500 and who had made other wagers to the amount of $2000 that Teemer would win, has sent a formal notice to each stakeholder not to pay over the money as he proposes to contest the referee's decision. Mr. Sullivan also called on Referee Elder, and stated that he regarded the race as being unfair and requested that he withhold his decision in order that the matter might be investigated. Mr. Elder, however, replied that he was satisfied that the race was decided on its merits and that his decision was final. Mr. Sullivan declared that if Teemer lost he was willing to hear any evidence to the contrary which they might desire to produce.

Mr. Sullivan has since employed Campbell Carrington as his attorney and it is likely that some trouble will be caused before the matter is ended. It should be borne in mind that these statements emanate from the losers.

Mr. Sullivan's statement that "O'Connor was displayed there were cheers upon cheers sent up with screeches and shouts of exultation. Men and youths waved their hats, and jumped and danced. Everyone was jubilant, and those who had made money on O'Connor were in a heaven of delight.

It was a difficult in the extreme to find men who would acknowledge that they had backed Teemer. Any one who s id "Teemer" around the Georgetown regatta was quick to hand up $ o'clock there were plenty of people willing to back O'Connor at 5 to 2 and even 5 to 1. News was received from Washington that a great deal of Toronto money sent on there could not be wagered. It is supposed that the Canadians scared the betting men at the Yankee Capital by showing them too much stuff. While the rumors about a huge total being in the hands of Toronto stakeholders was much exaggerated there was a very respectable lump. The two Pittsburgh sports who came here with seven or eight thousand dollars to put up on Teemer were accommodated to the last cent, and they were two tired men when the result was known. The saloons profited greatly by the result, and up to 7 o'clock, when they closed, their conners were literally with men about town who celebrated the victory in a downpour of libations.

The Coming Champion of the World.

William O'Connor, who brings back to this city the championship of America, is, like his predecessor Hanlan, a native born Torontonian, having been born in the East end 25 years ago. When in his teens he joined the Don Rowing Club, and for several years carried off prizes and with Enright made a team of double-our scullers who had a series of successes. Later he joined the Toronto Rowing Club, for which he continued his victories. Two years ago the National Association declared him a professional, and he then got down to hard work and we t in to make rowing his profession in earnest. That he has succeeded admirably is evident from his defeat of Peterson at Saratoga last spring, of Gaudaur at Sturgeon Point on August 22 last and the event of Saturday. In the Gaudaur race he won by over a length in 19.42, the best time he ever made. The World's prediction of O'Connor after that event seems to have been verified. This paper stated that he would bring back the championship of the universe to Toronto and there is now every indication that he will do so. His next victim will be Searle of Australia.

Some of the Happy Ones.

The stars in the constellation which Toronto sent to Washington to assist in putting Canada's Retaliation Bill in force were Hon. Millionaire McConnell, Count John Shakespeare O'Grady, Hon. Fred St. Charles Mossop, Sir Peter Sodesdark, Col. Pete Green of Yorkstreet, Villa, the O'Sullivan Triplets, Mike, Jimmie and Dan, without P. of, James McGinn to make up the Gig Four; Butcher Bob Manson from the Kingston-road; Peter Small, the auctioneer and Peter Ryan, the electioneer; Major Charles Buckingham Doherty, His Highness Joe Rogers, the man of much money; Marquis Vincent de Bero; proud John O'Connor, the champion's brother; Deputy Postmaster Joe Wright; Doctor Mathieson, the well-known, and Martin McCarron.

YACHT CLUB AMALGAMATION.

The Royal Canadian Willing to Join With the Toronto.

An important meeting of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club was held on Saturday night in the Russin House, Commodore John Leys in the chair. Over sixty members attended. The object of the meeting was to discuss the proposed amalgamation with the Toronto Yacht Club. The matter was fully gone into and the meeting appointed a committee to confer with the other club and inform them that the Royal Canadians were willing to amalgamate with them on the basis of a fusion of the joint committee of the two clubs which was made last spring when the negotiations fell through. Among the chief advocates of amalgamation were Messrs. Beverley Jones, L. H. Robertson, A. H. Boswell, and Lieut.-Col. Grasett. It was generally felt that if the two clubs were one it would be greatly to the advantage of each and would be a lively incentive to the promotion of yachting.

Will the T. Y. C. Amalgamate?

When the question of amalgamation came up at the Toronto Yacht Club's annual meeting last May, that body quickly settled it by declaring that they had no use for it. The Globe's report of the meeting says that "Mr. Hume Blake, in a fifteen-minute speech, reviewed the matter and proved to the satisfaction of everybody that the club had better stay out." A prominent member of the T. Y. C. remarked last night: "It takes two to make a bargain."

Stanley v. Y.M.C.A. (8 team).

These teams met on Saturday for the third time this season. The two previous games resulted in draws, but this, the deciding match, resulted in a win for the Young Men by one goal to love. The teams, as on the previous occasions, were evenly matched.

Shortly after kicking off the ball was taken up the field by the Stanley's goal and a corner kick ensued, but nothing came of it, the ball being well fisted out by the keeper. An attack was then made on the opposite goal, but Sims sent the leather in a safe direction, and hostilities were again renewed in front of the Stanley goal, where a goal was claimed by the Y.M.C.A., Lillie contending the ball which was nicely shot through the posts by Wrinch, but the referee could not see it and the claim was disallowed. Following this the play for some time was fairly even. McPherson and Hurndell on the Stanley's left then put in some good work, but nothing came of it. Half-time was called at half-time no points were registered by either side.

On re-starting the globe was quickly taken into the Stanley's territory by Rodgers, but Nelson soon put it to the right about. Then the play was mostly confined to the centre of the field, where some excellent passing and kicking was displayed by both sides. A corner was then obtained by the Stanleys, but Malloy and Lillie pulled the ball well to the left leather well up the field, where Conner took possession of it, who after dodging the backs put the ball through the uprights and registered the only point scored throughout the game. The Stanleys made desperate efforts to even up, but they were well met and nothing further of note occurred.

For the Stanleys, Hudson, Hurndell and Ingram played best, and Rodger, Urry and the backs showed to advantage for the Y. M. C. A.

The teams were as follows:

Stanley		Y.M.C.A.
Low	Goal	W. B. Holton
McCallum		Sims
E. Nelson	Backs	Malloy
Hodgetts		Wrinch
W. Nelson	Half-backs	W. Welch
Ingram		Wilson
C. Davies		Rodgers
F. W. Hudson	Right Wing	Conner
J. M'Pherson		F. Lillie

Football in the States.

The long talked of championship football game between Yale and Princeton took place Saturday afternoon at the latter's grounds and Yale came out victorious by a score of 10 to 0. It was a great contest.

The Lehigh University football team tied the University of Pennsylvania eleven for first place in the championship race by defeating Lafayette College at Bethlehem, Pa., Saturday afternoon by a score of 16 to 0.

The 10-Mile Run Won by Young.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The thrice postponed ten-mile run for the championship of America under the rules of the National Amateur Athletic Association came off yesterday at the Manhattan Athletic club grounds. W. G. Young, Spartan Harriers, England, was a good winner, but did not break the record. The starters were W. G. Young, Spartan Harriers, England; Fenwick, Prospect Harriers, J. L. H. McGregor, Brighton Athletic Club, and William McCarthy, M. A. C. At the end of the fifth mile it was definitely settled that Young could not be overtaken by the runners. He was urged to do his best, however, to break the old one-hour record of 10 miles 770 yards made by Robinson in Brooklyn. By extended running he succeeded in doing so, covering 10 miles 995 yards in one hour, which will hereafter be the standard.

Sporting Challenges.

Ed. Nikirk, the well-known Pittsburg sprinter, offers to run any man in America a half mile race on the Buffalo track for $500 a side.

James Quirk of Brantford, Ont., has challenged Johnson or any other man in America to run fifty yards for from $500 to $2,500 a side, the race to take place in Detroit or Toronto inside of eight weeks.

The Killen-McCaffrey Fight Postponed.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 25.—The Killen-McCaffrey fight, which was to have taken place here on Dec. 31, is indefinitely postponed because Killen refused to live up to the original articles. He wants to fight for a purse of from $500 to $5000 a side.

Carney's Challenge Accepted.

Jack McAuliffe, light weight champion, has accepted the challenge of Jemmy Carney, the English light weight champion, to fight for £1000. McAuliffe says he will fight according to London or Queensberry rules for from $5000 up. He will give Carney £100 expenses to fight in America, and will meet him three months from the date he (McAuliffe) fights Billy Myers.

The Manchester Meeting.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—At the Manchester November meeting to-day the race for the Manchester November Handicap of 20 sovereigns each, with 1,000 added, for 3-year-olds and upward, was won by Lord Howe's 4-year-old bay colt Chaumiere, which was named by Sir H. de Trafford. H. T. Fenwick's 4-year-old bay colt Phil was second and Mr. Vyner's 3-year-old bay filly Fallow Chat third. There were eighteen starters.

Gossip of the Turf.

Prince Wilkes, the great son of Red Wilkes, has gone into winter quarters at Harrodsburg, Ky.

The famous stallion George Wilkes is the sire of no less than 65 sons and daughters which have beaten 2.30. Twenty of them have records of 2.20 or better, Harry Wilkes, 2.13½, being the fastest.

A gentleman just from Woodburn, the stock farm of A. J. Alexander at Spring Station, Ky., says that if this era is to witness a 2-minute trotter, then he has seen it on that farm. It is the 4-year-old bay colt Nutwood Wilkes, by Nutwood, 2.18¼, dam Belle Wilkes, by George Wilkes, 2.22, and the other the dam of Pancoast, 2.21¾. The latter failed to come in foal; the first dropped a fine colt. Mr. Alexander sent out three more mares last year, two full sisters to Maud S, and a sister to Nutwood, 2.18¾. They have just returned, all fine mares, with foals by their side and in foal. They are a fortune and would sell at hardly less than $10,000 apiece. The foal of Fleetwinner, dam the dam of Maud S, is a dainty, Electioneer is the sire of Sunol, 2-year-old, record 2.18.

The Ochtwans Incorporated.

"The Ochtwan Sporting Club of Ontario," with a capital stock of $2500, $50 shares, has been incorporated. The promoters are Dr. J. F. W. Ross, C. E. Robinson, C. H. Nelson, John Henderson and John Massey, Toronto; Benjamin Clark, St. Louis, Mo.; George Massey and Ed. D. Fisher, New York, and H. E. Suckling, Montreal. The object of the club is—Social intercourse, mutual benefit, and camping, sporting, and pleasure excursions, to purchase and hold in fee simple certain lands known as lot nine, 1st con. of the Township of Livingstone, County of Haliburton, and in the meantime to carry on upon such lands and premises the business of preserving, protecting, breeding, and granting licenses to take game, muskrats, mink, deer, otter, beaver and fish.

Dust From the Diamond.

Ald. James Franklin, who represented the Buffalo club at the Syracuse meeting, states that he is not altogether satisfied with the $12,500 salary limit adopted by the International Association. The $12,500 was a compromise, as there were four cities on each side and the deadlock would not have been broken yet had not this been done. He says further that Syracuse offered to sell Connie Murphy to Buffalo, but Connie wanted $275 a month and the deal was off.

Manager Cushman of Toronto on Saturday signed Swift, the crack second baseman of the Trenton League.

It is definitely announced that John M. Ward, the shortstop of the New York League baseball club, has been released to the Washington club for $12,000.

Donovan, the great fielder of the London club, was around the Fifth avenue hotel during the League meeting last week. Several clubs want him, but as the neat sum of $5,000 will be required to secure his release no one has got him as yet.

The Detroit Journal says that "Detroit is injured more than any other club by the rule adopted by the International Association forbidding the payment of more than $1,200 for one man's salary. None of good players will stay in Detroit for that amount."

Not a single man has been signed yet for the Buffalo team of 1889. Probably there will be nothing done until after the annual meeting some time in January.

Manager Powers of the Londons is broken up over a telegram from Indianapolis announcing the death of Right Fielder Bowers from typhoid fever. Sowders was one of the best batters in the league and his death will leave a big hole in the London team. He was a brother of Pitcher Sowders of the Boston team and a Lima, O., pitcher of that name.

Buffalo Courier: It is to be regretted that Hamilton remains a member of the International. Every year the association is bothered with that town. In the middle of the season the directors are always finding up a deal of trouble and the threatened disbandment invariably shakes the whole association. Such towns have no license to belong to well-to-do leagues. It is to be hoped that Hamilton will get either drop or be frozen out.

Excellent reasons exist why Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil should be used by persons troubled with affections of the throat or the play was mostly confined to the centre of the field, where some excellent passing and kicking was displayed by both sides. A corner was then obtained by the Stanleys, but Malloy and Lillie pulled the ball well to the left leather well up the field, where Conner took possession of it, who after dodging the backs put the ball through the uprights and registered the only point scored throughout the game. The Stanleys made desperate efforts to even up, but they were well met and nothing further of note occurred.

For the Stanleys, Hudson, Hurndell and Ingram played best, and Rodger, Urry and the backs showed to advantage for the Y. M. C. A.

The teams were as follows:

Stanley		Y.M.C.A.
Low	Goal	W. B. Holton
McCallum		Sims
E. Nelson	Backs	Malloy
Hodgetts		Wrinch
W. Nelson	Half-backs	W. Welch
Ingram		Wilson
C. Davies		Rodgers
F. W. Hudson	Right Wing	Conner
J. M'Pherson		F. Lillie
Ingram	Centre	W. Lillie
	Referee	McKay

Football in the States.

The long talked of championship football game between Yale and Princeton took place Saturday afternoon at the latter's grounds and Yale came out victorious by a score of 10 to 0. It was a great contest.

The Lehigh University football team tied the University of Pennsylvania eleven for first place in the championship race by defeating Lafayette College at Bethlehem, Pa., Saturday afternoon by a score of 16 to 0.

The 10-Mile Run Won by Young.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The thrice postponed ten-mile run for the championship of America under the rules of the National Amateur Athletic Association came off yesterday at the Manhattan Athletic club grounds. W. G. Young, Spartan Harriers, England, was a good winner, but did not break the record. The starters were W. G. Young, Spartan Harriers, England; Fenwick, Prospect Harriers, J. L. H. McGregor, Brighton Athletic Club, and William McCarthy, M. A. C. At the end of the fifth mile it was definitely settled that Young could not be overtaken by the runners. He was urged to do his best, however, to break the old one-hour record of 10 miles 770 yards made by Robinson in Brooklyn. By extended running he succeeded in doing so, covering 10 miles 995 yards in one hour, which will hereafter be the standard.

Sporting Challenges.

Ed. Nikirk, the well-known Pittsburg sprinter, offers to run any man in America a half mile race on the Buffalo track for $500 a side.

James Quirk of Brantford, Ont., has challenged Johnson or any other man in America to run fifty yards for from $500 to $2,500 a side, the race to take place in Detroit or Toronto inside of eight weeks.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 25.—The Killen-McCaffrey fight, which was to have taken place here on Dec. 31, is indefinitely postponed because Killen refused to live up to the original articles. He wants to fight for a purse of from $500 to $5000 a side.
