

The McLuhan Program at the University of Toronto welcomes DRAFT's invitation to convene and host a consultation on the question of new media and human rights and the opportunity to make policy and other

We would like to accomplish as much as possible during the day and will do our best as hosts of the roundtable to adhere to the following civil rules:

The workshop is sponsored in part by The Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade (DFAIT)

meetings with the NGO's that week to Ottawa on Monday, March 1, 1999, in time for scheduled <http://www.pasam-hydesign.net/humanrights/> and will be sent series Electronic Commons web site, Final report will be posted on the hyDesign Visionary Speaker

Working together on final recommendations

Discussion

Report from small groups and a series

Final session: "Connecting Intelligence byDesign"

2:30 p.m. - 4:00 p.m.

2:00 p.m. - 2:30 p.m. Break/Networking recommendations

- Audience members comment on practices, visions and in terms of concrete practices and projects (<http://www.ilex.org>) journalists, and how his organization has responded to new media, other new media have changed the practices and vulnerability of Five Expression (CIFE), will comment on how the Internet and Wayne Shatpe, executive director of the Canadian Journalists for human rights from his perspective as a cultural figure in exile James Sankar, Cuban Writer-in-Exile, will speak on a vision of

- Panel/Design Visionary Speakers Series

12:10 p.m. - 1 p.m.

11:35 a.m. - 12:00 p.m. Working Lunch Break

- Connected Intelligence discussions in small groups

10:45 a.m. - 11:35 a.m.

10:30 a.m. Pause

- Responses

organizations and activists