BUSINESS OF THE HOUSE

Mr. Hnatyshyn: Mr. Speaker, I rise on a point of order with respect to the business of the House for the last two days of this week. I have had the benefit of consultations with House Leaders of the Opposition Parties and I would like to advise the House that it is my intention to call the following business for Thursday and Friday.

On Thursday, November 22, the first item of business will be the consideration of the six Ways and Means motions relating to the economic statement of the Minister of Finance. The second order of business will be Bill C-4, an Act to amend the Farm Products Marketing Agencies Act. The third item to be dealt with on Thursday will be a motion to establish the task force on the reform of the House of Commons. It is anticipated that this motion, which is outlined in the Speech from the Throne, will be called immediately following Routine Proceedings. If time remains following the debate on the motion to establish the task force, the House will then conclude consideration of Bill C-4. If Bill C-4 has been passed at all stages, the House will proceed to the consideration of Bill C-6, an Act to amend the Saltfish Act.

With respect to the business of the House on Friday, November 23, I would like to announce that I am designating this day as the second allotted day of the current supply period. I think it is also fair for me to indicate, with respect to Bill C-4 and Bill C-6, that notwithstanding the fact that the second reading motion involves reference to the standing committees of this House, there will be a disposition on the part of all Parties to have those Bills dealt with at all stages on the floor of the House.
