Complaints, which conſiſt (as quoted in the Memorial by you) of demanding expreſs Orders to be ſent to De la Jonquiere, to deſiſt from ſuch unjuſt Proceedings, and in particular to cauſe the Fort at Niagara to be razed, and the French to retire; as likewiſe to ſet the ſix Engliſhmen at Liberty, and to make them ample Satisfaction for their Loſſes and Wrongs; and for the puniſhing the Perſons who had committed theſe Exceſſes.

But does aſking a Thing by one Man prove it to be granted by another? on the contrary, Time has ſhewn us, that not a ſingle Article of theſe Demands have ever been comply'd with; the Fort of Niagara remains untouch'd to this Hour; the other three Men in Canada were never releaſed. The ſame Conduct has been purſued in America, by the French, and no Satisfaction made for Loſs of Effects and Liberty to the Priſoners, or Loſs of Honour to the Crown: and the Court appears to be ſatisfied with that vague and indefinite Anſwer which Mr. Rouillé gave our Ambaſſador, That he would uſe his beſt Endeavours for that Purpoſe; that it was the Intention of their Court to prevent Diſputes; and that we might depend upon ſuch Orders being ſent to their Governors accordingly.
