Political Detective Agency. The San Francisco Call proposes a non-political organization in the nature of a detective agency to watch future muni-cipal administrations and prevent graft-ing. It says: "The example of eastern cities that so quickly relapsed into their evil ways shows that it will not do to leave these matters to chance. There must be the continuing fear of detection and punishment. In an earlier day the municipal police were sufficient to re-strain crime, but in the complexity of modern life the police themselves need as much watching as the so-called crim-inal classes, and even where the force is honest the detection of official crimes is wholly outside their province.
