A far greater hardship exists to many of our manufacturers as the result of unfair American competition. It is well-known to many trades that some American manufacturers, while they have a settled and agreed-upon price in their home market, and to most foreign countries, expressly exempt Canada, and will sell their products at a lower price here, with our duty added, than the price obtained in their own country—this for the purpose of ruining manufacturers on this side, and so bye and bye gaining control of the market in both countries.
