one of those dastardly attempts on the part of a crooked lawyer to destroy evidence developed in the case of Harry Webb, convicted of murder, when Janice Williams, a cabaret girl, who was engaged to marry Webb, was spirited away before the trial and could not give her evidence, which would have done much to acquite the accused man. Later she returned, but Webb had escaped his captors, and was in hiding in the Funeral Range where he for-

DECISION TO SEND LABOR DELEGATES TO CHAMBER RECALLED

Trades and Labor Council Has Rescinded Former Motion.

NEW MEETING

Knights of Pythias Hall Has Been Secured for Future Meetings.

After a hot and somewhat lengthy discussion it was decided at the meeting of the Trades and Labor Council last night that a motion which had previously been made that a member be sent to represent the Trades and Labor Council on the London Chamber of Commerce was rescinded. President Jos. Dean told of being approached by a local politician and asked to accept a free membership ticket. He refused the bribe, he declared, to uphold the dignity of the Trades and Labor Council.

One delegate remarked that if the question of keeping Tuckett's factory in the city should come up a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and was passed, then the Trades and Labor delegate would be opposing organized labor. In reply to a question asking if he had accepted a ticket to the Chamber of Commerce, Secretary Wakeling said Labor Council on the London Chamber

In reply to a question asking if he had accepted a ticket to the Chamber of Commerce, Secretary Wakeling said that he had, but he thought that President Dean would be elected as a delegate from the council, and that he accepted the ticket because he thought that he would like to be present as well as Mr. Dean.

W. Brennan, representative of the Cigarmakers' Union, declared that it was an insult to organized labor to be asked to join after the Chamber of Commerce had elected officers, and such ones as A. E. Silverwood and Sir Adam Beck. "Organized labor would be railroaded from the start," he said.

Wanted Delegate.

Frank McKay, representative of the International Typographical Union, thought that it would be worth while having a representative on the Chamber of Commerce, even if he did not carry much weight. Pte. Fred Young also thought a member should be elected, but Charles Thomson objected, declaring that the Chamber of Commerce would get control from the start.

"Those men are discussing the lower-get control from the start.

"Those men are discussing the lowering of wages," said R. Hessel, and he further remarked that no good would come of electing a member, because the Chamber of Commerce would try to down organized labor.

It was decided to send a delegate the down organized labor.

It was decided to send a delegate to the Label League convention which is to be held at Toronto on Saturday. Dave Fountain was elected as delegate. It was announced that the local Label League would hold a meeting December 1 and the processor.

which was formed to find a new hall for meeting purposes, was heard. According to the report the committee had found the Knights of Pythias Hall on Richmond street suitable. The council decided to rent this hall, and the next meeting will be held there.

Barbers Have Complaint.

A deputation of barbers was heard. The barbers declared that their new scale of prices and wages had been arranged, but that some of the shops would not live up to the order that they close every Wednesday afternoon the year round. Some of the barbers declared that there was an undercurrent working against their union. Some of the trades and labor council members reported that they heard that if the new order came into effect there would only be 17 card-holding shops left in the city. The vote on the question which came before the barbers some time ago was reported to have been 24 for it, and 9 against it. John & Secker said that he knew of seven shops which would drop their cards if the order was enforced. The council decided to let the barbers settle the matter themselves, and to indorse whatever action was taken.

A committee consisting of Secretary Wakeling, Treasurer Cumming, W. Brennan and Jos. Hill was appointed to look into the matter of co-operative stores, as it was thought that the stores were not using the union label enough. John Secker said that for the past five years he had not sold or displayed anything but union-made cigars in his store.

John Bruce, who is endeavoring to effect a wage settlement between the plumbers and their employers, was present and brought the matter before the council. He declared that the wage demand was not outrageous, 65c per hour being the wage asked by the men. "I can take them out and get them 75c in other towns or at other industries needing plumbers," he remarked, "but the men do not want to move." Mr. Bruce said that only one employer had replied to a letter sent to all employers last Friday, and that his reply was unsatisfactory. He said that the men were looking for the trades and labor council to give them support. A motion which stated that if the men met with failure the trades and labor council was behind them and would heartily indorse them, carried. Frank McKay declared that, according to newspapers, there was a report that the men were violating their contracts and the contracts and th according to newspapers, there was a report that the men were violating their contracts, and after Mr. Bruce had assured him that this was not the case he said that he was inclined to believe that it was an advertisement.

PRUDENT LEADERSHIP NECESSARY TO PILOT THE DOMINION THROUGH THE PERIOD OF RECONSTRUCTION

Other Ontario Editors Voice Views on Canada's Peace Outlook-One Warns Against Danger of Government's Fear of Big Interests.

Further views on the reconstruction period as it will affect Western Canada, have reached The Advertiser from Western Ontario editors. They continue to evidence a feeling of optimism.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 20.—In our opinion the post-war problems of Western Ontario, so far as this district is concerned, are less complex and serious than they are likely to be in industrial centres. We can find no reasonable ground for a pessimistic view of the outlook, since it is probable that for some considerable time to come the demand for agricultural products of all kinds will be maintained at high prices.

Don't Move Hastily.

Dominion policies must inevitably be conditioned by the policies of the great Allied nations as these will be shaped after the conclusion of peace. It would not, therefore, be prudent to commit Canada to any definite line of action until the elements necessary to a correct judgment are available. More generally Canada should respond to the release of the democratic world spirit by removing whatever tends to separate the community, providing equality of opportunity, educationally and otherwise, and securing that merit and talent shall be recognized. There should be more of real national sentiment and less of racial, religious and partisan prejudice.

To prophesy unbroken should be not ment and less of racial, rement and less of racial, partisan prejudice.

Outlook Favorable.

To prophesy unbroken prosperity cannot be justified, since reactions and recessions must be expected during the period of readjustment. Canada, however, should feel these less severely than countries more advanced in their industrial and commercial development. To our mind the outlook velopment. CUT INFLATED VALUES. GODERICH, Nov. 20 .- The role GODERICH, Nov. 20.—The role of prophecy is not lightly to be assumed, but it looks as if Canada were in for a period of sharp readjustment attended with more or less difficulty. Values which have been inflated by the war will have to come into line with natural conditions and this process will mean distress to some classes of people and relief to others.

The theory was not shared by F. G. Mitchell, owner of the plant, nor by E. R. Dennis, who operates or rather operated a plant of the same nature. Mr. Mitchell explained in a technical way the working of the plant which he stated Snider had leased from will not keep well in ordinary storage.

of Canada should then enter upon a period of real and lasting prosperity. The chief danger appears to be in the Government's apparent fear of the big interests, and this is a very real danger. Newspapers have been under some restraint during the war, but with the return of peace there should be searching criticism of the tendency to allow big money to control everything to its own advantage. Particism fould no longer be a shield for plush Education. General education has necessarily been somewhat neglected during the war period, but will now be accorded greater importance. As compared with the war period, during which physical force was at a prenium, bran will now have to yield something to brain, and its people should be leaders in all that tends to make a country great. Owing to press of other work on the farm some of the members did not get their apples picked before the windstorm, so they are of little use, except for evaporation or pig feed. The prices for good handpicked apples were never better for western markets, and the outlook is that the price locally will also be high in late winter and spring, for owing to the very warm fall, the apples
