

AGAIN DISCUSS
SPRINKLERS FOR WEST END DOCKS

Commissioners Favor Principle But Defer Action For Week

FEAR GREAT LOSS
SHOULD FIRE COME

Commissioner Frink Tells of Bonds Coming Due Few Years Hence

That the Common Council should at an early date consider whether it would not be in the public interest to equip the West End sheds with a sprinkler system and so carry its own risk or do without the sprinkler and continue to insure with the fire insurance companies was the view advanced by His Worship Mayor White this morning at a committee meeting.

Commissioner Frink said that from 1851 to 1853 the city would retire $2,225,000 of bonds and save quite a sum in interest and he urged that large expenditures be kept down until that time.

LOYALIST DAY. Mayor White referred to the fact that tomorrow was the anniversary of the landing of the Loyalists and made a request that citizens honor the day by flying their flags.

Commissioner Wigmore recommended that the 2-inch main in Chubb street, laid 40 years ago, be renewed with a 6-inch main at an estimated cost of $1,000 to be paid for by bond issue. He said the work was necessary and could be done at less than any other time on account of the excavation in Millidge street.

He said this bond would not affect the general tax rate as the interest and sinking fund assessment was a charge on water revenue.

Commissioner Bullock asked if the money could be provided from revenue and Commissioner Wigmore said it could not.

Commissioner Frink said that if the people would have a little patience things would be better, insofar as bonds were concerned. Beginning in 1931 and running along to 1933 the city would retire $2,225,000 of bonds and the money was in the sinking funds to pay them off as they came due. He said a large block of 6 per cent. bonds would be retired and renewed at the then current rate of interest, which would reduce the amount needed for interest.

The motion to put in the larger main carried.

Commissioner Bullock reported that J. M. Martin, federal tackle inspector, had made some complaint about the passenger gangway used at the potato shed, East Side and asserted that unless it was suitable to him as provided he could stop the ship from working. The commissioner said that all the regular lines of steamers had their own passenger gangways and he did not propose to take any notice of the communication.

TOP WHARFAGE CASE. Commissioner Bullock reported that the Canadian Molasses Co. had refused to pay a bill of $766, top wharfage on a cargo of molasses discharged into the tanks on the McLeod wharf and had offered to pay one half the bill, contending the first account was excessive. The harbor master had consulted the city solicitor and been advised that the bill could be collected.

Commissioner Frink took exception to the harbor master having consulted the city solicitor and took the ground that the commissioner was the one to have seen the solicitor.

Commissioner Bullock's motion to authorize the city solicitor to issue a writ and collect the amount of the bill carried.

SPRINKLER DEBATE. Commissioner Bullock brought up the matter of installing sprinklers in the West Saint John sheds. He said the rates at present paid for insurance were $275 and $375, and the rates if sprinklers were installed would be $1 and $125. The gross amount paid now was $10,761.45, and under the new rate it would be $6,695.05, a saving of $4,166.40. He moved that the city engineer be asked to prepare plans and specifications acceptable to the New Brunswick Board of Fire Underwriters, and an estimate of the cost of installing the sprinkler system and report to the council.

His Worship said he was keenly interested and had given some consideration to this in connection with the proposed installation at the General Public Hospital. Evidence had been submitted by the man who was before the hospital commissioners that of a great number of fires only three had reached up to $100 damage. He also asked if the city was at present carrying 90 per cent of the value of the plant required if sprinklers were installed and a reduction in the rate made.

Commissioner Bullock said he thought the city was carrying about 85 per cent. He thought these matters should be considered before the engineer was asked to prepare plans and specifications.

Commissioner Bullock said the city was paying now what he considered a very high rate and had nothing to prevent fire, which the sprinklers would prevent. He said that the city was carrying 90 per cent of the value of the plant required if sprinklers were installed and a reduction in the rate made.

Commissioner Wigmore said he was in favor of the sprinkler system because of the fact that a contingency would cause even if no money was saved in insurance premiums. Money could not be taken off as they could not bring back the lost business.

It was decided to defer further consideration for the time being. The commissioner of harbors in the meantime to find out to what extent the sheds were insured at present.

An application from W. T. White for permission to erect a filling station in Douglas Avenue was referred to the Commissioner of Safety for a report.

Commissioner Frink presented a report from H. G. Washburn, who had proposed to erect an electric sign on his property Douglas Avenue, 60 feet long and 10 feet high, about five feet back from the street. The commissioner said that this sign was on private property it was a matter for the building inspector, not the public works department, and he moved it be referred to the building inspector.

Commissioner Wigmore said that he felt that the city should demand an indemnity bond before giving permission for any of the large signs. The motion to refer to the building inspector carried.

DEFENCE REACHED. Lloyd Johnson Murder Trial at St. Andrews Enters Another Phase

ST. ANDREWS, May 17.—The case for the defence in the trial of Lloyd Johnson, charged with the shooting of James Lord at Deer Island on Dec. 1 last, was opened today, the crown having finished presenting evidence on Saturday. At Saturday's session, Charles Lord, brother of the dead man, testified that the accused had deliberately shot James after provoking a quarrel, following liquor drinking. Hazen Lord, another brother, corroborated the evidence.

Audley Butler gave evidence to the effect that Johnson had admitted to plan that he did the shooting, but had no intention of killing James Lord.

TOMORROW'S MEET. It was announced today by the officials in charge of the schoolboys' Athletic meet, scheduled for the Hazen Avenue grounds, beginning at 2 o'clock tomorrow, that unless the weather was rainy the meet would take place as arranged. The unpromising conditions of today elicited a lot of inquiry. Only a steady rain will hold up the meet. If postponement is absolutely necessary, next Saturday will be the alternate date.

WORK IN BAY. The C. G. S. Dullard, which arrived in port late Saturday evening after placing buoys in parts of the Bay of Fundy, expects to leave Wednesday or Thursday for Cape Enrage where she also will lay buoys.

Get Tip By Telephone After Motor Boat Men Investigate

EMPTY CASE FOUND IN VESSEL'S HOLD

Fashlight and Gun Figure in Story Told to Officials

Called to the Maritime Nail Co. Ltd. wharf at 1:30 o'clock this morning by telephone, Walter P. Dawes, inland revenue officer, with J. L. Armstrong, customs and excise examiner; Policeman Frank Killen and Provincial Constable Andrew Garnett, seized the motorship Hival, owned by J. H. Laval, at the wharf at the same wharf as the Hival. These men reported having noticed what are alleged to be cases brought ashore. They decided to investigate. On boarding the Hival, they said, a man proffered them a bottle of J. D. McCallum and told them to "beat it and keep quiet." They fled and returned to their motorboat, where they stayed until 6 o'clock replacing their craft.

FLASH AND REVOLVER. At 11 o'clock last night the two men decided to return to the Hival to see "what was going on." They returned to the wharf, two men with flashlights and revolvers told them to "keep on moving." Then Mr. Dawes was telephoned.

When Inspector Dawes boarded the Hival, he was met by John and Albert Livingston, two brothers. It later developed that John was carrying a loaded .38 calibre revolver and that Albert had a flashlight. Two other men, said to be named Kane and Boyle, were with the Livingstons. These left the scene.

The bottle of whiskey said to have been the informant was sent by Inspector Dawes and the lettering which was on the broken case for the hold corresponded to the label on the bottle. The inspector searched the hold thoroughly but could find no trace of liquor.

Inspector Dawes said this afternoon that John Livingston had been arrested by the police for carrying a revolver without a license and that Albert Livingston had been apprehended on charge of not being able to give a satisfactory account of himself.

The department at Ottawa has been informed of the seizure and Inspector Dawes said that no further action would be taken in the matter until he received word from Ottawa.

IN POLICE COURT. It cost John Livingston, 22, the sum of $20 for having a .38 calibre revolver in his possession when he was arrested by Policeman Killen on Monday morning at 2:30 o'clock on Sunday morning. John was arrested along with his brother, Arthur, 16, on a charge of vagrancy and with not giving a satisfactory account of himself. The youths appeared before Magistrate Henderson in the police court this morning and were fined $10 each. The witness saw four young men walking down the wharf. Arthur Livingston shone a flashlight on the witness and asked them where they were going. John said that they were looking for boats. Stuff was being stolen off the boats and they were guarding them. He searched both boats and took the loaded revolver off John. He then took them to the police station. To Mr. Henderson the witness said that the father of the youths, who owned one of the boats, had confirmed their story and said he had given John the gun. In reply to the magistrate the witness said the boat had been seized by the customs officers.

The charge of vagrancy was dismissed and on the plea of Mr. Henderson, who said that in extension of the other offence the revolver had been used to scare off marauders, the amount of the fine for carrying a revolver without a permit was reduced from $100 to $20, which sum was struck against John Livingston.

WORK IN BAY. The C. G. S. Dullard, which arrived in port late Saturday evening after placing buoys in parts of the Bay of Fundy, expects to leave Wednesday or Thursday for Cape Enrage where she also will lay buoys.
