GOLDEN HUE OIL
You can tell a whole lot about olive oil by its color. When olive oil is expressed from green olives it is very dark. When it is expressed from full ripe olives it has a golden hue. When it is expressed from olives that are ripe and have been stored in a cool place it has a very light color. Look at BERT OLIVE OIL and you will see that it is of a beautiful golden hue.
This is one of the guarantees that we can give you that it is pure and made from the right kind of olives. 25 cents and 50 cents a bottle. 90 cents per tin. Sold in St. John only by

SUNLIGHT AND THE SEA.
Sunlight and ships at sea,
Clouds as still as stars,
Out beyond the vast, wide
Of earth's horizon-bars.
Take my hand and let us go
Where the winds may lead,
Earth and time are all we know;
Life is all we need.

Dawn-dush and flying foam,
Tides that beat and turn,
Now the vast beyond is home,
And there our altars burn.
Take my hand; our cottage hearth
Is waiting in your eyes,
Earth shall be our garden-plot,
Our tent the summer skies.

Daily Hints For the Cook

FRANKLIN BREAD PUDDING
Two cups of stale bread crumbs, one quart of milk scalded, three fourths cup of sugar, two eggs, two squares of chocolate, one fourth teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of vanilla. Add the hot milk to the bread and let it stand for 20 minutes. Melt the chocolate over hot water and dilute it with a little of the hot milk, then add it to the bread and milk. Add the sugar, eggs beaten slightly, salt and vanilla. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake for one hour in a moderate oven. Serve with hard or vanilla sauce.

POLLY'S DELIGHT
One pint of milk, one cup of brown sugar, three tablespoons of cornstarch, one teaspoonful of cinnamon. Heat sugar and milk in a double boiler, add cornstarch, and stir in the cinnamon. Pour into glass cups. When cool pour over them a syrup made of two cups of brown sugar, one cup of milk, and a piece of butter boiled four minutes. Then add a layer of whipped cream. The pudding can be served with either the syrup or the cream alone.

BOTTOMLEY MUST PAY $250,000

Verdict is Against British M. P., Editor and Promoter

"A HUMAN ENIGMA"

On Trial Before and Cheered Each Day as he Entered The Courtroom—Once Made His Word Good at the Expense of $1,200,000

London, July 4.—Horatio W. Bottomley, member of parliament, editor and daring promoter, who has won so many legal battles single-handed against the most brilliant lawyers of the crown, has at last lost a case. He was condemned by Lord Chief Justice Alverstone to pay $250,000 damages to the estate of the late R. E. Master, from whom, it was charged, he obtained $285,000 through misrepresentation of worthless shares in his many enterprises. Bottomley heard the verdict unmoved, and then addressed the jury.

"This is only another of those black-mailing charges, in defending which I have almost lived in the witness-box during the past ten years," he said. "Since the counsel has called me the cleverest thief in the empire, I ask you to brand those responsible for this charge as the most notorious and most creditable blackmailers of the bar."

Bottomley is undoubtedly the greatest human enigma in England. He has made friends as fast as he has made enemies. His undertakings, conceived on a gigantic scale, have fallen through time and again, swamping the resources of thousands of small investors, but Bottomley has still held a high position in the popular esteem. During the last trial—it was only last March—that he was called upon to undergo, he was cheered each day as he entered the courtroom. The magistrate finally dismissed the case, declaring it would be impossible to get any jury to convict Bottomley. The treasury was prosecuting him at that time for financial juggling.

The incident that gave this remarkable man his public prestige followed the collapse, in 1892, of his Hensard Printing and Publishing Union, a combination of some of the largest printing firms in London. So glowing were the descriptions of future profits to be made by the union that $75,000 worth of stock was distributed within a few days, and shortly afterward $750,000 more was sold.

The business went on with great success for a short time. Then the South African difficulties and the failure of the Harbours suddenly wrecked the publishing union. Thousands of small investors were ruined. There were meetings of shareholders in which Bottomley was denounced again and again. Twice he was assaulted. But one day he made the solemn declaration that he would repay the losses of all the shareholders. He was jeered and laughed at.

Then Bottomley dropped out of public notice for four years. What he did in that time no one seems to know. But in the spring of 1897 a public notice was given out to the effect that Mr. Bottomley, managing director of the defunct publishers' union, was now prepared to make good his word and repay the losses of the shareholders.

A great meeting of shareholders was called. Most of them were sceptical. Mr. Bottomley made an address reminding them of his promise, and then turned over $1,250,000 to the committee of the shareholders selected to distribute the funds. The meeting ended with ringing cheers for Bottomley. Throughout his legal troubles the memory of this act has stood him in good stead.

Still Very Wealthy
He is still very wealthy. He is a devotee of sports, particularly racing. He is reputed to be the best lay lawyer in England. The sum he has just been condemned to pay will go to the daughter of the man he was accused of duping.

If, after boiling the cabbage, it is chopped fairly fine, and served with a rich cream sauce, to which a little grated cheese has been added, it will make a tasty vegetable dish.

THE LATE JOHN MCKANE

In an appreciative sketch of the late John McKane, the Leven Advertiser and Wemyss Gazette, Scotland, says in part: In recent years, the deceased enjoyed several holidays in the United States. He spent a month after spending a vacation in the "Kingdom." On one of these visits a movement was inaugurated with the object of his standing as Unionist candidate for the Stirling District of Burghs in opposition to the late Prime Minister. An ardent devotee of outdoor sport, he bought in 1904 for $2200 the ground at Ladywell on which Dunfermline Cricket Club play, and which is now known as the McKane Park, and vesting it in local trustees, he dedicated it for use for cricket or other outdoor sports. Not only as a patron of sport did he give rein to his generous instincts. A keen admirer of Scotland's national bard whose works he sang, he was in the country when the scheme for restoring the Auld Brig o' Ayr was launched, and to the fund he contributed $400. Curious Abbey restoration fund benefited by his munificence to the extent of $2200, he was a large giver towards the fund for the restoration of Dunfermline Abbey, and among his other benefactions was a gift of $200 to the University Union Extension Fund. It is recorded that on one occasion he handed the valuable gold watch he was wearing to a stableman, and he is reported to have been the author of not a few such startling acts of generosity. To American benevolent and other schemes he was a munificent donor. He is survived by his wife, but no family. A married sister resides at North Queensferry.

COMMON COUNCIL

Light and More Benches in King Square—A Lot of General Business at Monthly Meeting

Little more than routine business was transacted yesterday at the meeting of the common council, although all the reports of the committees were dealt with quite fully, and subject to some sharp criticisms. A delegation of merchants appeared early in the afternoon relative to early closing, but after having waited some time were told they would be given a hearing on July 13.

Fifty seats additional were ordered placed in King Square on motion of Ald. Potts, and it was decided to keep the lights going there every week night, with the coronation illuminations.

Ald. Elliott's motion that Adelaide street have water and sewerage as far as the coronation illuminations. The cost would be between $10,000 and $15,000, and the investment would yield 6 per cent. The aldermen, of whom there were fourteen present, divided evenly on the motion, which was lost on the mayor's vote.

Ald. Kierstead objected to the payment of $125 additional for the work in Market Square, holding that somebody should be responsible for whatever mistake had been made. On Ald. Potts' motion the matter was referred to the board of works.

The matter of the renewal of leases in Carleton for lots owned by the city in Protection street, to John J. Kane and others, was after discussion referred back.

Similar action was taken with regard to the application of the Goodyear Rubber & Tire Co. to lay a pipe under the sidewalk in Prince Wm. street for the refilling of automobile tires. Several aldermen took objection to the application and a remark was made that it would tend to turn the street into a machine shop.

The section referring to the erecting of electric signs by A. B. Lyons and A. S. Isaacs, was declared lost. Ald. Hayes said that it was evident that Ald. Potts had given the applicants permission to erect the signs some time ago, but

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

Saves Worry, Saves Money, Saves The Hair

If you want to free your head of dandruff and stop falling hair, you must sooner or later resort to Newbro's Herpicide. By using Herpicide first you save your self worry, which is desirable, you save money, which is a consideration, and you save your hair, which is the most important of all.

Why not profit by the experience of Mrs. S. A. Lee, of 110 South 4th street, Richmond, Va., who writes:

"Four years' residence in India ruined my hair until it was but two inches long and very thin. I tried everything in Europe and America without benefit until I was induced to use Herpicide. My hair is now long, soft and silky and natural color, while before it was quite grey. My friends never figured adding my hair."

Mrs. Lee's story is a real history of hair trouble. After everything else fails Newbro's Herpicide brings relief. It would be just as effective if used first.

Newbro's Herpicide is the dandruff germ and preventing falling hair. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly. No matter what the cause, dandruff, Herpicide is the only genuine original dandruff germ destroyer.

COACHMENT IN CHARLOTTE STREET EXTENSION

Ald. Russell moved that the section of the safety board's report recommending acceptance of tenders for repairs to No. 4 Engine House be referred back. This was carried.

Ald. McLeod challenged the mayor's ruling that the recommendation of the sub-committee of the safety board appointed in connection with the establishment of a salvage corps in Carleton was out of order, but his motion was supported on the matter being put to the council.

The report had recommended equipment for a Carleton Salvage Corps and that the proposed corps be given a room in City Hall, West End.

It was decided to provide seats for the three West End Squares.

Ald. Potts' motion, asking that the Crosby Molasses Company be required to guarantee ten per cent on the cost of water extension on their property for twenty years instead of ten, was lost.

The section of the water and sewerage report recommending increased wages for employees was agreed to. Considerable discussion was evoked concerning the recommendation exempting Joseph Bullock from entering the sewer in Nelson street, as he had put in septic tanks. On motion it was lost.

Ald. Scully was heard in support of the laying of a larger pipe in Sand Cove road, while Ald. Hayes spoke in opposition. The section was not adopted.

The section of the ferry committee's report recommending a $10 monthly increase to the mates was referred back.

Ald. Potts inquired on whose authority the repairs on the Newport were being made, and was told that the chairman of the civic committee had power to carry out things in their own way.

John Donovan asked to be placed on the city's working staff permanently, as he found it difficult to obtain work owing to the loss of an eye while working for the city.

The Trades & Labor council wrote asking a reduction of the tax of $7.50 on working men.
