BASEBALL.

Should Have No Secrets.

Sarcasm sometimes reaches its apogee on the baseball field. When Coveleskie was pitching for the Phillies he one day let a runner get from first to second without the slightest effort to stop him. The manager was furious. "Didn't you know there was a man on first?" he demanded of Coveleskie. "No, I forgot all about it."

Turning to the first baseman the manager said coolly: "Mr. Bransfield, one moment, please. Hereafter whenever a player on the opposite side reaches your base I wish you would inform Mr. Coveleskie, because it seems foolish to have any secrets in the club."

The new record was the average of one-mile dashes, three downstream and three upstream.

Police Stop Jack Johnson.

(New York Times.)

Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion, was forbidden by the Newark police to speak at the Roosevelt Temple, First Regiment Armory, Newark, last night. The police also refused to allow him to head a parade of negroes to the temple. William J. Brennan, Director of Public Safety, took the action because of a speech Johnson made in the armory two weeks ago, when he predicted the time would soon come when negroes as a race would be able to cope with the whites.

Activity against the Ku-Klux-Klan in Newark began right after Johnson's speech, and Director Brennan is said to have determined to prevent a recurrence of the controversy.

About 2,000 negroes gathered at the armory to attend a dance and hear Johnson, but the negro pugilist made no effort to make a speech, and neither did the Rev. Sylvester L. Carruthers, pastor of the Congregationalist church, which promoted the affair.

J., Sept. 8—Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion, was summoned to appear before the New Jersey boxing commission today to explain why he did not put up a stiffer battle in his Labor Day match with Bryan Downey. Sinclair charges that Playfellow was unsound at the time of his purchase from James A. Johnson, a Brooklyn horse owner, and was a "cribber" and "windsucker." The horse as a two year old last spring won two races in sensational style under Mr. Johnson's colors. After his purchase by Mr. Sinclair, Playfellow competed in two races and was badly beaten in both.

JOHNSON PASSES CY YOUNG'S TOTAL OF 2,290 STRIKEOUTS

(New York Times.)

A major league record which had endured for years was broken yesterday, and Walter Johnson now takes a place in baseball's Hall of Fame where Cy Young had held forth. In a stretch of twenty-two seasons of pitching in the majors, Cy registered a total of 2,290 strikeouts. Johnson, now in his seventeenth consecutive year with the Washington club, has been steadily approaching this mark, and he needed only three to equal Young's record when he went into the box yesterday morning at Philadelphia against the Mackmen. At the Polo Grounds last week Johnson retired seven Yankees on strikes, thereby running his total up to 2,287. Six Mackmen fell before Walter's speed yesterday morning, so the Washington Siege Gun now has to his credit three more strikeouts than Young recorder over a considerably longer period. It is probable, too, that Johnson will see many more batsmen carry their bats back to the bench before he passes out of major league baseball.

RESTAURANT PROFITS.

Boston, Sept. 8.—The average plate of baked beans served in armchair lunchrooms in Boston contains 295 beans, which, together with bread and butter furnished with it, cost about two and one-half cents, the State Commission of Necessaries of Life reports. The usual charge to the public is fifteen cents, the commission's investigators found.

Frankfurter sanwiches, popular with those who patronize quick lunches, cost an average of two and four-tenths cents, including mustard, and usually sell for ten cents.

A communication has been received from Hance J. Logan, president of the Maritime Board of Trade, by the local branch, requesting a strong delegation from St. John to be present at a meeting of the maritime board, which will be held in Charlottetown on Wednesday, Sept. 14.
