Mr. Hunter, in seconding this proposi-tion, stated that he was largely interested in this matter and must consider his posi-tion. If Mr. Cowan was appointed he would have confidence, but if he was not appointed he should feel that the assets should be released as quickly as possible and the company wound up. His position had been an independent one, but as he could not cure the deadlock he went to the side of the New Zealand Shipping Company in the matter, as he was sure they were ficher and better able to finance the corn fixed was being a sure they were ficher and better able to finance the corn in proceeded to read a telegram he had just "weelve, anounced that Mr. Cowan would the above "sim. of 263,474 represents ap-provide still be made. accurate statement of the affairs of my company. Meantime, I should like to cor-rect a few obvious errors. Your report says that after the Aorangi's arrival in Sydney she had to undergo considerable alterations, and that altogether the loss amounted to £67,000. That should read £6,000 or £7,000. I may add that, owing to continual interruptions of the Aorangi, and which compelled the managers to refund large amounts of passage money, and led to greatly diminished traffic, the loss indi-rectly amounted to about £10,000. Our ac-countant informs me that up to the dime of the winding-up order, on January 22, he had delivered to the company three voyage accounts, and that two more were delivered prior to the last meeting. As accounts reach the managers from Australia, New Zealand, America and the pacific, they are promptly posted into their pacific, and should be the second the managers from Australia.

Australia, New Zealand, America and their Pacific, they are promptly posted into their books and voyage accounts rendered as quickly as practicable. Part of the agree-ment was that three voyage accounts should be supported by vouchers; but, ow-ing to the board failing to supply the managers with working capital, many of these accounts (ospeaidly in Sydney, New ing the first few months, in order to ad-just the time-table two steamships had to be laid up for a period of five weeks each. If the majority of the board had not pre-vented us raising capital, the difficulty would have been removed, and the improv-ing revenue which was in sight from the New Zealand subsidy and Klondike would have enabled the managers to pull the company into a good position. The minute-book and correspondence will show that, from the date of registration of the company, the managers urged the board to capitalize the company sufficiently to enable them to carry on the business with comfort. While every effort was made to increase the revenue by subsidies and traffic, the utmost vigilance has been ex-ercised to reduce the expenditure consist-ently with efficiency and safety; and the more our management is looked into, the better we shall be pleased. I may add that out of the 7 per cent. commission which the managers were paid, they had to disburse commissions to their agents in Australia, New Zealand, Fiji, Honolulu and America. From the moment that a dead-lock occurred on the board, the facts a derelict, antil harmony is restored. In due, time the public shall know the facts company was sealed, and it will remain a derellet until harmony is restored. In the time the public shall know the facts of this case in all their nakedness. I re-
