Ottawa, March 28.—It is genrally not a conceded that Hon. Mr. Foster's speech on Friday evening was a most offective one, so effective indeed that next the government, which was anxious to close the debate on the address that evening, could not allow Mr. Foster's points to pass unanswered. Accordingly it was decided that Sir Richard Cartwright should reply. This accounts for his moving the adjourn-ment of the debate. Just how long the debate on the address will continue it is not possible to say. The debate may finish tomorrow, then again it may last several days.

Hereafter a refund of 90 per cent. Will be allowed off the duty paid on guns, fishing rods, and other equipments of parties visiting Canada. Unquestionably, however, the members on both sides are anxious to get to their homes before Dominion day. Of course, at so early a period in the session it is the merest speculation to attempt to predict what may happen, but nasmuch as Messrs. Laurier and Tupper are anxious to get to England Hon.
