Special to The Standard. Fredericton, June 30.—The Maritime Circuit opened today with the first day's racing of the Fredericton Park Association's programme. The 2.15 class proved easy for Bard Allerton, Frank Fox's nomination in the Readville $15,000 handicap for pacers, after the first heat, when he had reduced his record one second to 2:20 1/4 to beat Meadowvale and with the first heat was too much for Meadowvale, and when Driver Tom Holmes went to the bat in the last heat, the Torbrook gelding lost courage and Fox's other entry, Improved Directly, took second. Dimple K. was drawn after the first heat, when Driver Dustin was fouled by Frank Fox on the first turn the second time around. LEACH CROSS COMES UP WITH HIS EXCUSES

Leach Cross telegraphed to his New York friends the other day that the erratic California climate made his legs stiff and caused him to weaken before Hyland's persistent attack at Colma on Saturday. Cross has always been long on excuses after suffering a defeat, so this explanation of his downfall is not entirely unexpected. Physically Cross was never intended for a sprinter. He is simply a hard hitting boxer, with plenty of gameness. Hyland, on the other hand, is a natural boxer fighter with the instinct of a bulldog that never knows when to quit. On the strength of his victory over Cross Hyland wants another fight with Battling Nelson.

SOLUTION IS TO INSPECT THEM ALIVE

Montreal, June 30.—A stricter inspection of meat may be the outcome of the vigorous protest of the butchers recently against the strictness of the federal officers. At present meat for export must stand a "live" test for tuberculosis, while that for home consumption is tested "dressed." There is a strong movement against the inspection of dressed meats as it is claimed that it is impossible to detect tuberculosis in that way. Veterinarians claim that the only means of finding out whether an animal is diseased is to test it while alive, as in the live state the injection used acts on the blood and the presence of disease can be detected. In the case of dressed meats there is no reaction and it is impossible to tell whether the animal was diseased before death or not. City Health Officers' View. Dr. A. Lesperance of the Civic Health Department, is strong in his opinion that a change is urgently needed. "Cattle, sheep and hogs, slaughtered at their homes, should not be allowed to be offered for sale in the public markets of Montreal," he said. "Animals should be brought to the city alive, inspected, killed at the abattoirs, and inspected as soon as cut open." Dr. Lesperance declared that great quantities of beef, hogs and other meats were brought to the city during the autumn and winter months. The food was inspected, but he added, "it is almost impossible to tell in what condition the animals were when they were slaughtered." Inspectors Do Their Best. Dr. Lesperance said Messrs. H. Masterman and A. Hammell, practical butchers, had charge of the work. There were also three veterinary surgeons in the inspection department. Dr. J. McFarry, Dr. J. Mayotte and himself. Dr. Lesperance said they did the best they could under the circumstances, but the proper system would be to have a "live" inspection. The butchers of the city had complained that the Government inspectors were too severe and that they were placed at a disadvantage compared with the farmers. This could be rectified by making the farmers conform to the "live" inspection rule. Dr. Lesperance believed that Happy lot, who about ten years ago was playing with the Houlton team. Strong Nines. The Bangor nine is the strongest that has visited St. John this season and, some first-class baseball is expected. As the local team is under heavy expense bringing Bangor here, it is hoped that the public will patronize the games well.

LEWIS AND BURKE. Since the arrival of Sam Langford from England, Willie Lewis has been as quiet as a mouse. Lewis, however, is talking about meeting Ketchel at 150 pounds, ringside, when there is little chance for such a match. Sailor Burke wants to settle an old score with Lewis and says he will make a match for ten rounds at a moment's notice. By whipping Burke Lewis can easily convince sporting men that he has a right to call himself a good middleweight.
