Superintendent.

In reply to a question the witness said that the committee of management never authorized the issuing of that document nor had he ever seen it before.

There were no conditions attached to the Hockin and Ketchum bequests. Mrs. Ketchum had made a verbal request to him regarding the disposal of the money. Mrs. Ketchum protested by letter against any portion of the bequest being employed for counsel fees in this investigation.

In 1883 the committee agreed to pay 10 per cent for collection, the party paying all his own expenses.
