

photo feature—

SKELETON BUILDING

DISTRACTED IN ALL OF MY LECTURES on the third floor of the engineering building by the men next door playing with their giant meccano set, I decided to take my camera in hand

Who, standing on a fifth story beam, can take off his gloves, poke around in his jacket for pipe and tobacco, light up, then sit back on the beam for a smoke?

Here are some of the pictures and as they tell all I'd like to, but can't put into words, I'll stop writing.

Wm. C. Stenton

