

God's glory and helpfulness in all that made for it find an illustration on every page.

May God bless your little book ! You, He has blessed already, for you cannot but be the better for living, for a season, in the company of those who, in their day, were God's good servants and faithful doers of His will.

With many thanks for making a place for me in your record of the past, and many wishes for the success of your labors, I beg to remain very respectfully,

R. McBRADY.
