Royals Lose First Game On New Ground To Greys

ORIOLES WINNERS

Dunn's Crippled Club Too Good For Leafs—Only One Game in Big League Yesterday.

The Royals lost their first game on the new grounds yesterday, the Greys turning the trick by 5 to 2. Mays was too good for the locals. He held them to five well scattered hits, and struck out two of the eight safeties which his team collected off Miller's delivery.

The Orioles made it one to nothing in the first game with the Leafs yesterday. They got only four hits off Rogge, while Cottrell gave Toronto five safeties, but one was mixed in with a pass and a steal.

Buffalo and Toronto tried conclusions with major league clubs, in addition to their regular games. The Elisons beat both Newark and New York while the Leafs lost first to Baltimore, then to the Reds.

The only major league game scheduled yesterday was staged at Pittsburgh, where the Pirates took a fall out of the Phillies 3 to 2.

Valleyfield bowlers defended the Binks trophy again yesterday. The Ottawa Club of Ottawa gave the holders a hard run for possession of the hot club winning by a one shot margin.

The report of the proposed visit of Canadian players to Scotland in the course of the 1914-15 season was presented at the annual meeting by a representative committee of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club at Glasgow on Thursday. Invitations have been issued and accepted for the Canadian, Ontario and Manitoba branches, to send eight players each, the Nova Scotia branch four players, and New Brunswick two players, a total of thirty. The selecting of the team to play against Canada was left to a committee to be nominated by the General Council.

Comparing the baseball salaries of the present day with those of the past is just like comparing a pony to an elephant—there's just that much difference in the general bulk of the pay envelopes.

Amos Robie, regarded by many of the veteran fans who have seen the best of the past and present performers as just about the greatest pitcher of all time, got only a paltry $3,200 a year in comparison with Walter Johnson's $10,000, Nap, Rucker's $7,500, Mathewson's $12,000, and Joe Wood's $10,000. The amount that Amos used to draw down for his brilliant work is an amount that even the twirlers fresh from the bushes would sneeze at in these days.

George Van Halstrom had few peers as a base runner, few as a fielder and thrower, few as a brainer player, and usually could be counted on for a good number of safe hits each season. In the old days Van Halstrom was figured to be of as much value to his team as Speaker is to-day, yet George got only $2,100 a year, while Tris takes unto himself about $18,500.

Herman Long takes rank as the very best shortstop the game ever has known, with the possible exception of Hans Wagner. Yet Herman got only $2,400 for his labors.

AROUND THE CITY HALL

Canal Water For Montrealers Next Month, But City Officials Say It Is Harmless.

Mr. Fuller, of the firm of Herring and Fuller, New York, will be here on August 10 to inspect the water conduit. This will necessitate the emptying of the conduit and will mean that Montreal will be dependent on Canal water during a month which is as a rule the hottest of the summer, and in which the average consumption of water per day is exceptionally high. The city authorities assure taxpayers that the water will be amply sterilized, and base their belief in the harmlessness of the canal water on the fact that this source of supply, in the Spring, there were no evil effects.

One of the principal offenders in the matter of smoke nuisance is the city's own waterworks department. In an inspection trip yesterday Acting-Mayor Blumenthal called attention to the fact that of all the chimneys that were belching forth filth in Point St. Charles the pumping station was probably the worst.

The rulers of the city for a time at least have been prevented from purchasing property to widen Côte des Neiges Road and construct a park of a figure which some of the aldermen have protested as excessive. By judgment of Mr. Justice Lane yesterday an interim injunction was issued on petition of Tanerode Mareil, preventing the city from proceeding further with the purchase until the case had been heard. This will be on Friday, July 31.

CLAIMS ONE-SIXTEENTH INTEREST IN COMPANY

James Pearson Wants that Proportion of 2,500 Shares in Universal Tool Steel Company.

Bingham, Minn., July 25.—(Cah) Copson of this city, claims a sixteenth interest in the 2,500 shares of stock in Universal Tool Steel Company, Ltd., in the interim injunction granted to the firm of Justice Kelly, he is given leave to file a report on his active claim against M. J. Stewart. Under this permission, W. J. Lindsay, who says he assigned the share to Pearson, has filed an affidavit at Osgoode Hall. Lindsay says that R. L. Henderson following an action, transferred the 2,500 shares, with a par value of $25,000, to Stewart, and that Stewart agreed to transfer one-fourth to Henry W. Gordon, who sold 1/4 of that, or 1-16 of whole to Lindsay, who assigned it to Pearson.

The Universal Tool Steel Co., Ltd., was incorporated by Sir Donald Mann or his associates, for the manufacture of tools under a process invented or held by R. L. Henderson.

There were 30,911,564 males engaged in gainful occupations in continental United States in 1910, as compared with 8,075,772 females; that is, of a total of 38,987,336 persons engaged in all occupations in 1910, 78.8 per cent. were males and 21.2 per cent. were females.

$2,400 for his labors, a sum that is less than half that paid up in the major league shortstop of the present day.

If Big Dan Drouthers were in his prime to-day he could command and play in the old days of poor pay, and was perfectly satisfied with the $1,900 salary that he drew.

Ruck Ewing got only $2,400 a year, but he was worth $10,000 at least according to present day standards. Tim Lincecum had only $2,000 a year, yet he got only $2,000.—New York Sun.

NEWS OF WORLD TOLD IN BRIEF

Immediate Feature of Irish Question is Filled With Uncertainty

ONE MUST YIELD

Either Triple Entente or Triple Alliance Will Have to Back Out To Avoid War, It is Thought.

Most of the morning papers are discussing the probable future course of events in connection with the Irish issue, but which fact is abundantly clear that the immediate future is full of uncertainty. The cabinet had a very stormy meeting yesterday afternoon, and Mr. Asquith and his colleagues are still without any definite policy as to their next step. The impending bill is to be taken on Tuesday. It may not survive its second reading.

Intimation from an authoritative source is to the effect that developments are pending in the Austro-Serbian crisis which are likely to lead, if not to a protracted period of international unrest, such as accompanied the outbreak of war in the Balkans. War, indeed, can only be averted by a complete breakdown on the part of one of the other of the two great triple alliances into which the European powers are divided.

William Waldorf Astor is no longer the owner of the Pall Mall Gazette and the Observer, which have been purchased by Gardner Sinclair, who is well known in business circles, and he head of the London printing and publishing firm of Dobson, Molle and Co. The price is not stated, but it is understood that Mr. Astor, who has determined to sell the properties, accepted a sum much less than he paid for the two papers.

J. L. Garvin will remain as editor of both.

General Huerta and the party of fugitives from Mexico, who accompany him, arrived in the Helix, Jamaica, at noon, yesterday, on board the German cruiser Dresden, from Puerto Mexico.

Arrangements had been made in advance for the former Mexican dictator, with General Blanquet, and the rest of the party, to remain for a week or more at a hotel where several British consular residences were already staying.

General Huerta had luncheon on board the Dresden with the cruiser's captain, and the German Consul here. He declined to see anyone without a card.

At those o'clock yesterday afternoon, with the members of his party and his baggage, he was taken to a hotel, and proceeded to a hotel. His journey thither from the pier was without incident.

As the result of the investigation ordered by Provisional President Carria into the finances of the country, the administration of General Victoriano Huerta, it is reported that a warrant has been issued for the arrest of Eugenio Paredes, former Chief Treasurer of the Mexican Republic, for embezzling more than $500,000 pesos of government money. He is reported to be now at Puerto Mexico.

MY FIRST STACK

By Peter McArthur.

Ekrid, July 22.—For the past few days we have been hauling in hay and hustling like a gang of lightning rod peddlars following up a destructive thunderstorm. And I have built my first stack. That may not seem a very startling statement to a tired business man, but I beg to assure all such that a stack of blue-grass and a stack of blues are two entirely different things. The method of building them is not the same and a stack of blue-grass goes farther in feeding the cattle than a stack of blues in feeding the kitty. But a-h-h-h! I should not be introducing these esoteric terms of high finance into innocent pastoral scenes. To return to the stack—I feel fairly proud of it. It is more symmetrical than I thought it could ever make one, and it is settling down on its foundation like a benediction. Having seen real farmers who are reputed to be good stack-builders, get down off their stack and run for a rail to prop it up so that it would not fall over, it gives me a glow of satisfaction to give my first attempt sitting as upright as a pyramid. Whenever I have nothing else to do—when I am smoking my pipe after dinner, and at such times I always wander to some spot where I can see and admire my first stack from a new angle, and I find that it looks fairly well from every side. Of course it is not perfect and I would not advise people who are busy or have something important to do to come far out of their way to look at it, but I am not ashamed to have it examined. In the past I have always had an expert stack-builder to do the building, but this year the boys and I are doing all the farm work and I had to build myself. Of course I have often helped at stack-building, keeping the hay in front of the builder or pitching off the loads, but I never before had the courage to act as chief architect. I have also heard good stack-builders discuss the art, and I know that the chief thing is to keep the middle full." As nearly as possible made this stack all middle, kept it well tramped and never went too near the edges. Experts who have looked at it say that it will turn the wet all right, but I shall not feel entirely safe until it has been opened next winter. I have no doubt the cows have a profound effect to the effect that "the proof is in the eating."

SHORT INTEREST AT NEW YORK TO MILLION SHARES

In the Opinion of a Market Specialist It Would Not Now Take Much to Induce a Bear Panic.

New York, July 25.—It would not take much to cause a bear panic, in the opinion of the men who make a study of the technical position of the market. Loan specialists estimate the short interest at between 750,000 and 1,000,000 shares, and this takes account only of the shares borrowed on the floor of the Stock Exchange before and after each daily session.

WILL BE CONFIRMED

Warburg to Receive Appointment Provided He Appears Before the Senate Committee.

Washington, July 25.—The question of whether Paul M. Warburg will be confirmed by the Senate as a member of the Federal Reserve Board, has been placed squarely up to Warburg himself by the administration. It is now known to President Wilson that Warburg can be confirmed provided he appears before the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency. This fact has been communicated to the New York banker.

It is probable that the new nominee to succeed T. D. Jones will be a Chicago or St. Louis business man, and Chas. R. Crane, or George E. Roberts, director of the Mint, are being mentioned.

to develop themselves and to make the most of their lives they must away to the cities where the things that literature and art glorify may be found or accomplished. You cannot expect young men of spirit to take to farming until it has been idealized. In the present condition of public taste they can only hope to figure in literature as studious and sometimes amusing drudges, and if all kinds of things are adequately applauded by beautiful women dressed in the latest fashion. All our literature and art tends to foster these foolish dreams. It is vain for philosophers to preach the advantages of the simple life and for editors to preach the great duty of producing the world's food. Duty, the stern daughter of the voice of God, is not popular with the young. They want life and action and joyousness because literature and art have taught them that these are the things most to be desired. And they hurry to the cities to find them. The art of living has not penetrated to the country and you need not expect it to make progress until we have that new race of poets and writers and artists which Whitman foresaw but did not work much. Thoreau, with all his cantankerousness, came nearer to the new literature. His farming, was all done to supply his own needs, and he foresaw the possibility of leisure and ease in connection with farm life when he said, "No man need learn his bread in the sweat of his brow unless he sweats more easily than I do." If the farmers learn to get leisure and use it, the old order will change and instead of a new heaven and a new earth, we shall have a new earth and a new heaven. The change will begin on the earth. When farmers learn to work for homes and well-to-do cities instead of for money, a new race of artists and writers will spring from the soil and give us the much needed literature and art of Democracy. They will give a romantic glamour to country life, and the change instead of being handed down from the heights will be handed up, or rather, we shall have to go back to the soil to get it. Most of the free and equal citizens of the country are born on the land and it is probable that in the near future all the people on the land will be well educated. When that time comes we shall have a new literature, art and poetry, and the world will be given new ideals. Instead of the age of poetry being past it is merely beginning to dawn.

MINNEAPOLIS AND ST. LOUIS MAKING PREPARATIONS TO MOVE RECORD TONNAGE OF GRAIN

Toronto, Ont., July 25.—James Parment of Minneapolis & St. Louis feels confident that earnings in the current fiscal year will be substantially better than those for the year ended June 30.

In common with all the northwestern roads, Minneapolis & St. Louis is making preparations to move a record tonnage of grain.

Last year but 2,000 cars were handled from Minnesota and South Dakota, but fully 6,000 are expected this year.

The best year that Minneapolis & St. Louis had was that ended June 30, 1913, when 7.6 per cent. was earned on the preferred stock. "Barring accidents, it is believed, that this may be equalled if not bettered this year."

HE IS CONFIDENT

In Statement Made at Creditors' Meeting, Head of Big Dry Goods Firm Says Present Course Will Clear Up Indebtedness of Firm.

(Exclusive Leased Wire to Journal of Commerce.)

New York, July 25.—John Claffin, former head of H. B. Claffin Company, has finally broken the strict silence he has maintained since the company failed with the declaration that he pledges his fortune to the end that all creditors may be paid in full. Claffin's statement to creditors says: "It is my paramount wish that all the creditors of the H. B. Claffin Company and of the affiliated stores shall be paid in full, all my efforts have been and will be devoted to that end. In view of my knowledge of the various properties and of my long experience as a merchant, it is my confident belief that a reasonable time this result can be accomplished. To obtain such result, however, a receivership of the H. B. Claffin Company and the stores affiliated with it be terminated at the earliest possible date."

"A combination of the companies, in my judgment essential to the success of such a combination of important retail stores well distributed geographically and holding 43 per cent. of the common stock of the Claffin Goods Company, will be in a position to buy merchandise under the most favorable conditions and to sell it at a profit against the severest competition. Eliminating everything unprofitable, both at wholesale and at retail, the H. B. Claffin Company will surely work out one hundred cents on the dollar, and interest for the creditors of the H. B. Claffin Company."

"The $5,260,000 of United Dry Goods Company's common stock is an asset of great value. United Dry Goods Company has for years earned more than 12 per cent. for its common stock in addition to the H. B. Claffin Company dividends and in future such earnings should be increased by the great success of several of its companies. Between the creditors to co-operation he and the creditors of the affiliated stores would be a contest between the holders of the various retail stores bearing the burden of such earnings. Claffin and Company and the stores of the H. B. Claffin Company. Such a contest would mean litigation that would dissipate the assets of the company to the extent that payment of 100 cents on the dollar and so long as the creditors may wish my cooperation and all my energies will be devoted to that end."

"The record of the last ten months demonstrates the ability of the combined retail stores to earn interest on the total investment for possible service of the H. B. Claffin Company and their rapidly increasing business gives me absolute confidence in their ability to make gradual provision for the payment of the principal indebtedness."

"A sacrifice of the retail assets now would be disastrous to both the holders and to other creditors. Receivers Martindale and Juillard filed their report with the Federal Court in which they stated that they hoped to be able to continue the business without borrowing money."
