

Kitchener Goes Down Amid Fearful Scenes

London, June 15—Details of some of the incidents on board the British cruiser Hampshire just before she sank off the Orkneys last week, causing the death of Field Marshal Earl Kitchener, are given in an official statement issued tonight based on statements by the dozen survivors of the cruiser who were washed ashore on a raft.

"From the report of the 12 survivors of the Hampshire," says the statement, "the following conclusions were reached: "As the men were going to their stations before abandoning the ship Lord Kitchener, accompanied by a naval officer, appeared. The latter said, 'Make way for Kitchener.' Both ascended to the quarter deck. Subsequently four military officers were seen there, walking after on the port side.

"The Captain called Lord Kitchener to the forebridge, near where the Captain's boat was hoisted. The Captain also called Lord Kitchener to enter the boat. It is unknown if Lord Kitchener entered it or what happened to any boat."

Settles at Once. "The Hampshire was proceeding along the west coast of the Orkneys. A heavy gale was blowing and seas were breaking over the ship which necessitated her being partially battered down. Between 7.30 and 7.45 p.m. the vessel struck a mine and began at once to settle by the bows, heeling over to starboard, before she finally went down, about fifteen minutes after.

"Orders were given by the Captain for all hands to go to their established stations for abandoning ship. Some of the hatches were opened and the ship's company went quickly to their stations. Efforts were made, without success, to lower some boats. One of them was broken in half and its occupants were thrown into the water.

Some Died on Rafts. "Large numbers of the crew had life-saving vessels and waistcoats, which proved effective in keeping them afloat. Three rafts were safely launched, and, with about fifty to seventy men on each, got clear. It was daylight up to about eleven. Though rafts with these large numbers of men got away, in one case, out of over seventy men aboard, only six survived. The survivors all report that the men gradually dropped off even died aboard the rafts from exhaustion and exposure to cold. Some of the crew must have perished in trying to land on the rocky coast after such a long exposure. Some died after landing."

Goes Down With Ship

The London Daily Mail publishes the following account of the loss of the Hampshire by a leading seaman, Stogerson, one of the Hampshire's survivors. "Of those who left the ship and have survived I was the one who saw Lord Kitchener last. He went down with the ship; he did not leave her. I saw Captain Savill help his boat's crew to clear away his galley. At the same time the Captain was calling to Kitchener to come to the boat, but owing to the noise made by the wind and sea, Lord Kitchener could not hear him. I think when the explosion occurred Lord Kitchener walked calmly from the Captain's cabin, went up the ladder and on to the quarter-deck. There I saw him walking quite collectively and talking to two officers. All three were wearing khaki and had no overcoats on. Lord Kitchener calmly watched preparations for abandoning the ship which were going on. The crew just went to the stations, obeyed orders and did their best to get out the boats, but it was impossible owing to the rough weather.

Seas Smash Boats. "No boats could be lowered.

Gin Pills FOR THE KIDNEYS Why Demanded

"Gin Pills did for my husband what no other remedy could. I have been suffering for upwards of 20 years, and one by one the doctors told her they could not cure her. The doctors told her they could not cure her, but could relieve her by an operation. I did not think it advisable for her to go. I took my advice she tried Gin Pills which cured her and for which she is ever ready to speak in terms of praise."

Those that were got out were smashed up at once. No boats left the ship. What the people on shore thought to be boats leaving were rafts. The men did get into the boats as these lay in their cradles, thinking that as the boat would float, but the ship sank by the head, and when she went she turned a somersault forward, carrying down with her all the boats and those in them. I do not think Lord Kitchener got into the boat. When I sprang to a raft he was still on the starboard side of the quarterdeck talking with the officers. From the little time that elapsed between my leaving the ship and her sinking, I feel certain that Lord Kitchener went down with her and was on deck at the time she sank. Of the civilian members of his suite I saw nothing.

France to Borrow $100,000,000 in United States.

New York, June 16—Negotiations which were started some months ago looking to the flotation of a French loan in this country have been practically completed. Announcement of a public offering is looked for soon after July 1. The French will be provided with $100,000,000. The net cost will be approximately five and a half per cent. All the proceeds will be used in the United States. The lower rate is obtained through the use of collateral and the interposition of a holding company.

The French Government will deposit with a corporation in this country bonds of Argentina, Switzerland, the Scandinavian countries, Spain and Uruguay, with market value sufficiency in excess of $100,000,000 to furnish a safe margin. In return the corporation will at once extend to the French Government a banking credit of $100,000,000, to be used in place of exchange in making payments here. The credit will run for three years. The securities pledged have been borrowed from investors.

United States Ablaze With War Spirit This Morning

Washington, D. C., June 19—Not since the Spanish War has the United States seen such military activities as today. More than 100,000 National guardsmen in fifteen states were under orders to mobilize for Mexican service. They constitute virtually the entire militia strength of the Nation. President Wilson through Secretary of War Baker, issued the orders yesterday when it became apparent that the threatening conditions in Northern Mexico were not improving.

Boston, Mass., June 19—Members of the Massachusetts National guard assembled at their armouries throughout the State today, in preparation for service on the Mexican border. In their mobilization at the Framingham Camp, the troops will have the benefit of first hand information from the camps in Canada. Col. Graves, commanding, having been in the Dominion on special detail, as special observer, for several weeks. He was ordered to return today.
