Ottawa Hits the Bottom
OTTAWA, Feb. 10.—Ottawa said farewell to seven-man hockey Saturday night when Quebec defeated them by four to one, and thus got both arms around the Stanley Cup. It was the poorest exhibition of hockey seen here this season.

Torontos Win
Notching two goals in the last eight minutes of play, Torontos snatched a 5 to 3 victory from Canadiens in a N. H. A. fixture at the Arena on Saturday night. The game was played under the seven-man rule.

Refuses to Tell Name of Player who Caused Him to Lose an Eye
MONTREAL, Feb. 10.—Struck with a hockey stick during the match between the M. A. A. A. and Shawinigan, played at the latter place on Saturday night, William Slater, 20 years old, lost the sight of his eye, and will undergo an operation at the Royal Victoria Hospital for the removal of the injured optic. Slater hurried to Montreal, reaching the Mile End station at 5 o'clock this morning, where an ambulance was waiting, and taken to the hospital.

No one apparently saw the accident and only the victim knows whose stick struck him. He has refused to divulge the name of the player, stating that it was simply one of the risks of the game, and that the affair was purely accidental.

Tecumsehs 2, Wanderers 1.
MONTREAL, Feb. 10.—For the first time in the history of professional hockey in Montreal, two N. H. A. teams played before Royalty in a strenuous game at the Arena on Saturday night. The match, witnessed by H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught was between the Wanderers and Tecumsehs.

The Wanderers blew up, and were defeated in a furious game by Tecumsehs, with a score of 2 to 1. The local team had a chance to best the Indians, who assumed the lead in the first period, and the Wanderers tied the score before the expiration of the first twenty minutes, but the visitors went to the front again in the next session, and maintained their lead to the end.

Nicholson played a remarkable game in goal for Tecumsehs, while the McNamara boys, checked well stood off the opposing forwards by

LACROSSE
"Billy" Aubron is Dead
ST. CATHARINES, Ont. Feb. 10. The death occurred here Saturday of "Billy" Aubron, the fast home player of the St. Catharines Athletic lacrosse team. Aubron was considered one of the best home men in the lacrosse world, and had received many tempting offers to join the professional ranks. He had played with the senior Athletics since 1907, and in the recent attempt to lift the Mann Cup succeeded in scoring the only goal against Vancouver. Deceased was captain of the volunteer fire department, and caught cold in fighting a fire at the Ellis House barns a short time ago, and which developed into typhoid-pneumonia. He was 28 years of age, and is survived by a widowed mother, two brothers and a sister.

The deceased was well known to the lacrosse players of this city and was a favorite with all the boys. His many Brantford friends will regret to learn of his death, and sympathize with the deceased's sorrowing mother and family.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed. Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh), that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

At the level of the sea the pressure of the atmosphere on the piston of an engine is about fifteen pounds to the square inch, but decreases at higher altitudes. As this atmospheric pressure must be overcome by the steam pressure before any work can be done, it is evident that at the diminished air pressure of high altitudes more work can be obtained from a given pressure of steam than at the sea level, or, in other words, an equally effective pressure of steam can be obtained with the expenditure of less fuel. The difference, however, is not great enough to be of any practical importance.

Testing Rough Diamonds.
When the expert is about to examine and appraise a rough diamond he places his lips close to the tissue paper whereon it rests and breathes gently on the gem. It thereupon takes on a slightly yellowish cast. Diamonds even in the rough are so bright that the eye does not easily distinguish an "off color" tint, but when one breathes on them the slight coating of moisture takes away for a moment or two their brilliancy, so the examiner is able to distinguish with certainty any defect of the kind.

ROAR OF THE ARCTIC.
Sullen Thunder of the Gale and the "Voices of the Ice."

Most of us cherish the idea that in the far reaches of the Arctic circle there prevails an everlasting death-like stillness. But those who have spent a long time in the far north assure us that that region is far from being silent, although so little life is manifest for the greater part of the year.

On polar seas the ice, though thick as solid as granite, is hardly ever still. There are tides in the arctic, and these lift and lower the huge icefields, causing them to give out all manner of noises. Even as late as November the pack will wake up without warning and pile itself in huge heaps with indescribable crashings, groanings and roarings. Peary speaks of the "rabbid roar" of the "tumbling chaos of ice blocks." His Eskimos were terribly frightened and set up weird howlings. The dogs whined and barked, and altogether the noise was terrific. Every arctic explorer has given similar accounts.

The movements of the ice—the gradual crowding and pressing, bending and pushing, the breaking of the ice into great floes lying at the "ice foot"—have given rise to the expression of explorers, "The voices of the ice." It may be that one will hear a low sizzling, splashing or grumbling, alternating with various other sounds, crackling and snapping. These sounds irregularly from a great distance, like a confusion of human voices, the racket of a railway train or the skurrying of a sledging party. Then, again, the noises are such as to suggest the explorer to fancy he hears the steps and voices of various species of animals.

Spring is the noisiest time in the polar seas. McClure of the Investigator compared the breaking up of the ice at that season to heavy thunder or the sound of great guns. Another writer likened the sound of the breaking ice to that produced by a volcanic eruption.

Moreover, the air in the arctic regions is seldom absolutely still. Gales are frequent, the wind is never still. Nansen tells of the constant hiss of the breeze laden with tiny bits of ice, which flowed along knee high like a shining white river glittering in the pale arctic sunlight.

Nor is there lack of sounds caused by animals. In the arctic one often heard the baying of wolves and the barking of seal, while in the summer the harsh cry of sea birds echoes along the faces of the cliffs—Harper's Weekly.

Formation of Worlds.
There are two hypotheses in reference to the condition of the matter of the universe at the moment when science begins its discussion of the formation of the worlds. Both these agree that the matter was in a nebulous condition. As Professor Young says: "This does not assume that matter was created in a nebulous condition. As the egg may be taken as the starting point for the life history of the animal, so the nebula may be taken as the starting point for the life history of the planetary system." On one theory the nebula was in the form of a heated gas; on the other, it was a cloud of cold meteoric dust. This latter many astronomers think is more likely to be true.—Scientific American.

Clever Fat.
The girl was talking to the ex-college man.
"And what are you going to do now that you have completed your education?" she asked.
"Oh, I think I'll live on my income," he answered airily.
"I am disappointed in you. Live on your income, indeed! Why don't you do some great deed to show the world how clever you are?"
"My dear young woman, if I succeed in living on my income it will be the cleverest deed any man ever accomplished."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

He Got on Deck.
A sailor who had landed after a long voyage and having been paid off, called a cab, threw his luggage inside and jumped on top himself.
"Beg pardon, sir," said the astonished cabman, "but you should get inside and put your boxes on top."
"Steer the craft ahead, Jarvey. Passengers always go on deck and luggage in the hold," was the reply from the top.—London Tit-Bits.

Able Officeholder.
"I understand that you once sang in a glee club."
"Yes," replied the great politician.
"And I want to tell you when a man with a voice like mine can hold a position in a glee club it shows that he is some officeholder." — Los Angeles Listener.

Breakage.
"My new cook broke her word to me to come early."
"Well, if her word to you is all she breaks in the house you are getting off easy."—Baltimore American.

How The Body Kills Germs.
Germs that get into the body are killed in two ways—by the white corpuscles of the blood, and by a germ-killing substance that is in the blood. Just what this substance is, we do not know. The blood of a healthy person always has some germ-killing substance in it to ward off the attack of disease. The fountain head of life is the stomach. A man who has a weak and impaired stomach and who does not properly digest his food will soon find that his blood has become weak and impoverished, and that his whole body is improperly and insufficiently nourished. To put the body in healthy condition, to feed the system on rich, red blood and throw out the poisons from the body, nothing in the past forty years has excelled Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a pure glyceric extract (without alcohol), of bloodroot, golden seal and Oregon grape root, stone root, mandrake and queen's root with black cherry bark.

"My husband was a sufferer from stomach trouble and impure blood," writes Mrs. JAMES H. MARTIN, of Frankfort, Ky. "He had a sore on his face that would form a scab which would dry and drop off in about a month, then another would immediately form. It continued this way for a long time. He tried every remedy that any one would suggest but found no relief. He then tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery which completely cured him. He has stayed cured now for two years, and I recommend this valuable medicine for impurities of the blood."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules.

(Courier Leased Wire.)
LONDON, Feb. 11.—A number of details of the disaster in which Captain Scott and four of his men perished in the antarctic are being here in special despatches of Central News Services. Captain Scott evidently set out from tent in which the four men had but succumbed to starvation and exhaustion to brave death alone in blizzard, which had overpowered them.

After a brave struggle for with his hands frost bitten, Scott clared to his comrades that he going to set out in the storm, did not know when he would be back. He left the tent and he never seen again. He evidently knew he was setting out to meet death alone.

The others later tried to push but were forced into camp again the 21st of March after nine struggle in the blizzard. Food fuel were both exhausted.

Probably realizing that his was doomed, Captain Scott entered his diary four days later, on the of March, "a message to the public. In this he declared that the disaster was not due to faulty organization but to misfortune. He said not in the world could expect to successfully encounter temperatures storms as they had met on the arctic, which so retarded their progress. When they arrived within eight miles of One Ton Depot they had fuel for one hot meal and for two days.

The doomed explorer wrote autographically of his "rough notes," said these and the bodies must be the tale. He appealed to his countrymen for the care of those dependent upon the perishing explorers.

According to the special despatches, the Terra Nova Relief party which found the bodies, read a ple burial ritual over them. A service was held over the bodies.

The relief expedition then set in search for the body of Captain Scott, but although they covered over twenty miles, they discovered no trace of his body. It was with feebly that the party brought all of the records, including a letter to the King of Norway and a large quantity of geological specimens.

March 25, 1912, the date of Captain Scott's last message to the public believed to have been written.
