SAYS BUSINESS IS ONE THE

DEAN STORRS AT CHURCH STREET

While surface conditions in the business life of the Dominion continue unsatisfactory, yet important strides have been taken along the path leading out of the chaos of readjustment following the great war, and insofar as Canada is concerned the rosy dawn of prosperity lies immediately before, according to Roger W. Babson, famous statician, in an address delivered before the Canadian Club in Toronto. He declares that Canada fundamentally and basicly, is in a much more favorable situation than the United States, whose trade channels were choked with two-thirds of the world's gold.

FRALICK—THOMPSON

The home of J. H. DeAdder, Brooklyn Corner, on Wednesday, September 24, was the scene of a quiet but very pretty wedding, when Clarence Edwin, son of Capt, and Mrs. Charles Fralick, of Hacketts Cove, St. Margarets Bay, and Elsie Vera, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Thompson, of Wolfville, were united in marriage by the Rev. A. M. Bent, of Kentville. The bride who was given away by her father looked charming in a dress of steel-grey astin with shoes and stockings to match and wore a bridal well trimmed with orange blosoms and carried a bouquet of white asters. The parlor was beautifully decorated for the occasion with autumn foilage, sweet peas and pansies. The couple were attended by Miss Alice Aker, who wore a natural pongee dress, and Mr. Clyde MacInnes, of Coldbrook. After the ceremony a dainty lunch was served by the bride's mother. The bride and groom were glitted with many useful presents. The gitt to the bride from the groom was a gold watch. Mr. and Mrs. Fralick will reside for the time being at Brooklyn Cornes.

Sunday was a red letter day in the annals of the old parish of Cornwallis, for it was the occasion of a visit to his birthplace and his boyhood seenes of the Very Reverend John Storrs, M.A., D.D., Dean of Rochester Cathedral, England. The dean is a son of the late Rev. John Storrs, B.A., who for thirty-five years, from 1841-1876, was rector of St. John's church, Cornwallis, and who, as such, was very widely known and universally beloved.

The Dean, whose own son is now the first governor of Jerusalem, assisted and preached at the eleven o'clock service in St. John's church, and a truly wonderful sermon it was from St. Luke XXII, 24, "And there was also a strife among them, which of them should be the greatest." True greatness, the speaker declared, consists not in the glovy of the athlete or in the greatness of the millionaire or ever of the thinker or in the strong power of the shame or in the strong power or the sh

To the Editor of The Acadan
Dear Mr. Editor,—May I venture a question or so?

Why are manure piles abutting on Main street allowed to mingle their colors with our autumn freshness and
other odors common to said street?

Why is the use of fire arms permitted
in our town limits whether for the purpose of annihilating cats!!!! or other things?

Can a permit be obtained for use of
said firearms in our town?

Why is intoxicating liquor sold in
our town?

Why is the mixing of the above liquid
with gasolene allowed?

Why do we elect a mayor who knows liquor is sold in our town and yet does not "clean up the town"?

And why is it that lools like myself
ask questions and no one answers them?

Yours for information.

season: the annual millinery opening which was announced for Sept. 24, bespeaks the following styles for fall and winter wear:

The outstanding feature of models displayed is the prominence given to black, with brown from tete-de-negre to the light shades of oakwood a close second, and Mary blue, sand and grey and green and purple also clamoring for honors.

Miss B. K. Saxton's designer informs us the real tendency is Spanish in this season's millinery, in many smart designs. The youthful bolero shape with its upturned soft brim or fitted as the case may be and smart high square crown, and the sailor which has been forgotten for some time holds the strongest place, either with a bandeau at the side and decidedly Spanish in effect, or with straight brim and high crown with side rolls and high side back trimmings and the charming berettas are members of this Spanish family.

The cloche shapes are with us again but bearing new marks of distinction. The brim in almost all cases rolls away from the face on one point at least, the front, the back or sides. The crownshave undergone a redical change, higher, flat-topped, resembling a manitar activities and flat in every variety by the yard, and faille and bengaline silk. Ribbon of every description from narrow for embroidery to the corded and wide widths is very prominent, and beautiful upstanding bows is one of the style features.

Ostrich in many phases, from willow feathers to the burnt cocardes shewn on many of the French imports, and every variety of buckles and brilliant ornaments, and beautifully beaded and sequin designs.

Flowers also have a large place and the velvet colors are particularly lovely.

Many handsome models are on display at Miss Saxton's shop in both thress and tailored styles, also C. H. Forter carries a variety of tailored models.

Former Wolfville Citizen Passes Away in Virginia

The death of William Charles Archibald, for many years a prominent citizen of this town, occurred on Saturday last in Virginia, where the diseased has been residing for the past two years.

Mr. Archibald was a native of Musquodoboit where he was born 82 years ago, and in early life he went to Halifax, where he engaged in business for some years. On the outbreak of the civil war in the United States he joined the army of the North and fought through many of the battles of that memorable struggle. In the early seventies he became a resident of Wolfville and for some time carried on an enterprise here for the production of knitted goods. Later this was removed to Halifax and finally suspended operations.

Always keenly interested in horticulture, Mr. Archibald soon after coming to the valley purchased the land which now bounds on Earmaclifie avenue and engaged in fruit-growing on a large scale. He took an active part in the movement which resulted in the establishment here of the Horticultural School, which was later removed to Truro and affiliated with the Agricultural College. For many years he was a prominent member of the Nova Scotia Fruit Growers Association, and was also deeply interested in the work of the Historical Society. A staunch Baptist he took an active part in forwarding the interests of that denomination. In later years Mr. Archibald, Paradise, three sons, and Mr. Archibald, Paradise, three sons, and two daughters. The other sons are H. Archibald, Paradise, three sons, and two daughters. The other sons are H. Archibald, Paradise, three sisters of the deceased —Mrs. Annie Hill, Tacoma, Washington; Mrs. E. G. Lewis, of West Brook Mills, Cumberland county; and Mrs. E. C. Bligh, of Brooklyn Corner, Kings county.

It is understood that the remaina will be brought to Wolfville and intered in Willow Bank Cemetery beside other members of the family whe predeceased him.

Nobody who see "Human Nreck
the Mrs. Wallace Reid picture
on the Century screen, a film of power
and great purpose, is likely to ever be tricked into the dope habit.
On trickery, as the story clearly shows, the peddlars and higher-up dealers depend in making victims to whom they may sell the narcotics.

So it is well that the tricks of this awful traffic are exposed, along with the showing of the suffering and abject misery that the habit inevitably entails. The danger it, seems, can be averted only at the beginning of each individual case, which makes imperative the educational need in relation to the drugs and those who sell them.
Mrs. Reid has been splendidly brave
in giving this production to the world.
Thinking about the cumulative good
that it will do, the picture seems to be something to be classed among the greatest recent benefits to humanity.
The wife of Wallace Reid showed great courage in dealing with the problem
that was hers when her struggle to save
that was hers when her struggle to save
the gifted actor first stirred the American public to interest and sympathy.
We may be sure that it has not been an easy matter for her to give in picture form the vivid story of the pitful experiences; her sense of duty and her zeal in this great cause shine through every glimpse of it.
