ered by lack of education and regretted the inability of obtaining it when young. The monument should be put up by the city and the educational scheme undertaken by the Government.

Mr. W. G. Gosling agreed with Dr. Robinson and saw no need of dragging in the fallen to back up an educational improvement that was wanted even if there had been no war. He favored a memorial alone at first and thought it did not matter much, where it was placed so long as it served purely as a memorial.

Mr. John Browning considered the idea of a University absurd and higher education as framed at present, a farce. He agreed with the G.W.V.A. idea and thought the Government should be pressed for technical schools mainly. Sound elementary education is needed and the idea of Universities should be dropped. He further thought the monument resolution might be dealt with separately.

Mr. A. Wilson approved of compulsory education and thought the University idea was starting at the right end as it would keep many students here. He supported Dr. Curtis' resolutions.

LC Col. Bernard thought the two resolutions might be combined, and Mr. J. J. McKay, Secretary of the Memorial Committee, felt the statutory might be erected by subscription and the national memorial by the Government.

Mr. H. E. Brookes supported the Committee's resolutions thinking the Association by its own efforts would induce the Government to back up.

Mr. S. D. Blandford approved the G. W. V. A. idea, while Mr. Justice Kent saw little difference in the resolutions and thought ideas were mixed as to a University which was intended for the future. We want a normal school before compulsory education so as to have qualified teachers, and he thought the memorial should contain a hall to contain the invaluable records of the Regiment and souvenirs.

Dr. V. P. Burke warmly supported the Committee's resolutions pointing out the G. W. V. A.'s was the same except that the word University was a misnomer and unfortunately used. Messrs. W. J. Ellis, F. W. Bradshaw, W. R. Howley and Sir W. F. Lloyd also expressed their opinions. Dr. Robinson was added to the Committee and it was finally decided that the Association and G. W. V. A. representatives get together with the view to formulating a proposal to be submitted at another meeting on Monday next.

The meeting closed at midnight.
