

The Charlottetown Herald.

NEW SERIES.

CHARLOTTETOWN, PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND, WEDNESDAY, MAY 25, 1904

Vol. XXXIII, No. 21

HUMPHREY'S
CELEBRATED
Moncton Tweed

has this ticket on every piece. Take it and no other.

Quality, Style & Durability always found in
Moncton Tweed.

THE HUMPHREY CLOTHING STORE,
Opera House Building.
A. WINFIELD SCOTT, Manager. Phone 63

We are sole agents for P. E. Island. Highest price allowed for wool in exchange.

For Your Baby You Need a Carriage.

We have received our first shipment of New Carriages & Go Carts.

You will find it easy to choose one that will please you from this assortment, as we have some of the finest designs ever shown here. Call in and see them anyway.

JOHN NEWSON.

All Sorts and Conditions of Eyes.

All sorts and conditions of eyes are brought here in the course of a year, for us to try our skill upon in the fitting of Glasses. Yet we seldom, if ever, fail to fit them satisfactorily, no matter what the defect of vision that makes glasses necessary.

We have had experience in fitting eyes with Glasses for more than a quarter of a century back, and have been studying and learning more about eyes every single week during that long period.

At any time when you have need of Glasses we believe it will be to your interest to place the matter in our hands.

Of course we have Eye Glasses & Spectacles

Of all kinds, Silver, Gold Filled, Solid Gold, etc.; but, after all, it's the fitting that's most important.

E. W. TAYLOR,
Cameron Block.

Seeds. Seeds. If You Buy

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED
A Large Consignment of SEEDS

From Messrs. Steele Briggs' Co., of Toronto.

These goods will give entire satisfaction. If you deal with us we will not allow you to be dissatisfied. To trade with us is a pleasure. Once a customer always a customer.

John McKenna.
Phone 226, Cor. Queen and Dorchester Sts.

New Wall Paper

WE HAVE JUST OPENED UP OUR
New Wall Paper for 1904

The patterns and colorings are away ahead of anything ever seen here before.

Don't buy before seeing our line.

TAYLOR'S
Book and Wall Paper Store.

HARDWARE!

Largest Assortment,
Lowest Prices.

WHOLESALE and RETAIL

Fennell & Chandler.

ROBERT PALMER & CO.,

Charlottetown Sash and Door Factory,
Manufacturers of Doors & Frames, Sashes & Frames
Interior and Exterior finish etc., etc.

Our Specialties

Gothic windows, stairs, stair rails, Balusters, Newel Posts, Cypress Gutter and Conductors. Kiln dried Spruce and Hardwood Flooring, Kiln dried clear spruce, sheathing and clapboards, Encourage home industry.

ROBERT PALMER & CO.,
PEAKE'S No. 3 WHARF.
CHARLOTTETOWN.

Seeds. Seeds. If You Buy

Lawn Mowers, Garden Tools and Hoes, Poultry Netting, Screen Wire, Screen Doors and Hinges.

We Can Supply Your Wants.

SIMON W. CRABBE.
Stoves and Hardware - Walker's Corner.

A BAD CASE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

CURED BY DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Kidney troubles, no matter of what kind or what stage of the disease, can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of these wonderful pills. Mr. Joseph Leland, Alms, N.W.T., recommends them to all kidney trouble sufferers, when he says:—I was troubled with dull headaches, had frightful dreams, terrible pains in my legs and a frequent desire to urinate. Noticing DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS recommended for just such annoyances as mine, it occurred to me to give them a trial, so I procured a box of them, and was very much surprised at the effectual cure they made. I take a great deal of pleasure in recommending them to all kidney trouble sufferers.

Price 50c. per box, or 3 for $1.25; all dealers or The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

MISCELLANEOUS.

"Don't judge me harshly," said the new acquaintance, "my disposition's somewhat soured. You may not believe it, but I was once much better off."

"Of course you were," replied Henshaw; "I can understand that. I'm married myself."

Distress After Eating.

Mrs. P. Waters, Dileston, Ont., writes: "I suffered for five years with pain in the stomach and distress after eating. Doctors failed to cure me, so I tried Laxa-Liver Pills and three bottles of them made a complete cure."

When a woman wants a new dress, you find that her cooling comes before her billing.

Keep Minard's Liniment in the House.

"And is the air healthy here?" asked a visitor at a mountain resort.

"Excellent, sir, excellent. One can become a centenarian here in a little while."

Hagyard's Yellow Oil is a healing, soothing, balmy preparation, that cures pain, allays inflammation and reduces swelling. A perfect medicine chest. Price 25c.

Leavitt.—There is a woman who treats her husband like a dog.

Bob.—Abuses him?

Leavitt.—Oo, no. Pets and fondles him.

Don't suffer from Rheumatism this winter. Milburn's Rheumatic Pills eliminate every atom of the uric acid poison from the system and give complete relief from pain and suffering.

A young lady sent to a newspaper a poem entitled "I Cannot Make Him Smile." The editor ventured to express an opinion that she would have succeeded had she shown him the poem.

Minard's Liniment cures Dandruff.

"At what age do you consider women the most charming?" asked the inquisitive female of more or less uncertain age.

"At the age of the woman who asks the question," answered the man, who was a diplomat.

Old People's Coughs.

Every winter many old people are troubled with a nasty cough, which afflicts them all season. Let them take Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and be rid of the cough this year.

BRITISH TROOP OIL LINIMENT

FOR
Sprains, Strains, Cuts, Wounds, Ulcers, Open Sores, Bruises, Still Joints, Bites and Stings of Insects, Coughs, Colds, Contracted Cords, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Bronchitis, Croup, Sore Throat, Quinsy, Whooping Cough and all Painful Swellings.

A LARGE BOTTLE, 25c.

The Mother.

BY CHARLES HANSON TOWNE.

She was so tired of toil—of everything
Save loving those who needed all her love.

Her heart was like the golden heart of spring
When white clouds sail above.

Autumn of life and tears were hers,
and yet
She sang and loved, and gladdened us the while.

Nor storms nor snow could make her once forget
Young April's radiant smile.

She was so weary; but we never grieved
How weary, till she smiled at set of sun,
And whispered, as she drifted into rest—
"My loving now is done."

"Tired of all save loving!" Let this be
The epitaph inscribed where now she lies.

Time shall not hide the words, nor memory
The love-look of her eyes.
—Sacred Heart Review.

Consumption Cured by Fresh Air.

It seems to be settled now that not medicine but fresh air is the cure for consumption and all other diseases of the lungs. From all over the country reports have appeared in the papers recently of the excellent effect experienced by consumptives sleeping in the open air. Even during the coldest weather, last winter, people afflicted with consumption have slept on verandas, or in rooms unheated and with windows open, for the purpose of strengthening their lungs. Some years ago such a course of procedure would be considered almost suicidal. Then lung diseases were doctored and coddled. Now the treatment is radically different. Fresh air, fresh air, and more fresh air—such is the prescription now. We read in the paper last week of a man who has walked more than 10,000 miles to cure himself of the dread disease. He comes from San Francisco where, eleven years ago, he found himself afflicted with consumption. He removed to Salt Lake City and to Los Angeles in a futile endeavor to improve his health. His wife died, and in August, 1901, when he was told he could not live three months, he resolved to start walking and to die, on the road in the effort to better himself if necessary. He then weighed 93 pounds.

At first he was so weak he could go only a short distance. But the fresh air, for he also slept in the open air where he could, soon gave him new strength, and he has been walking ever since. He now weighs 138 pounds and is in robust health, but says he feels the necessity of keeping in the open and exercising constantly to keep alive. In the cold weather he goes South and in the Spring makes his way North again. He has been in nearly every State in the Union and along the borders of Canada.

Of course not everyone can take the tramping cure, nor is it likely that in every case it would be beneficial, but every one may have the main good which the tramping affords, namely, fresh air.

Items of Interest.

At Hazebronck, France, the religious emblems were duly taken down from the law courts, but were afterwards carried in solemn procession to the City Hall, where the Mayor and his Municipal Council, in evening dress and wearing their insignia of office, assembled to receive them, and directed their being hung up in the main hall and in the committee-rooms.

During Holy Week the French journal announced the decease of M. Charles Arnaud, Mayor of Rheims, who owed his notoriety to his furious anti-clericalism. The following incident is related in connection with his sudden illness and dreadful death. Through his relentless persecution some poor nuns of Rheims had been reduced to abject poverty and distress, which they bore with uncomplaining fortitude. They had collected a glass of about twenty young girls in a corner of their dismantled convent, left empty by the liquidator. As they awaited their return, charged to remove the few chairs still left in the poor dwelling. One day when the class was over the nuns said: "Children, we are going to recite a prayer for M. Charles Arnaud, who is dangerously ill." The clarity of these humble religious so deeply injured by the Municipal Council of Rheims in praying for their persecutor has made a deep impression on the inhabitants of the town.

There is trouble brewing between the French Academy and the government over the appointment of a successor to the late M. Deschanel at the Collège de France. The Academy, who have the "right of recommendation" of a candidate for the post, had their own candidate in the person of one of their members, M. Ferdinand Brunetiere, but the government made it known before hand that they would veto the appointment of M. Brunetiere, who is too much of a fighting Catholic for their taste. M. Brunetiere accordingly withdrew his candidature, and the Academy, as a protest, refused to "recommend," and sent up to the Minister a plain sheet of white paper. Matters are at a standstill.

Apropos of the French Republic, there are some things which are more or less convenient to forget, and M. Boisson, one of the Chamber of Deputies, who has been most zealous in bringing forward the iniquitous laws against the religious in France, would probably prefer that the following extract from a speech which he made some years ago at a distribution of prizes should remain in oblivion. Then M. Boisson spoke in the name of government in his capacity as Director General of Primary Instruction: "We certainly shall never forget the Daughters of St. Vincent of Paul, the Sons of St. John Baptist of Salle, religions of every name and habit; we shall never forget that for two or three hundred years you alone occupied yourselves with the children of our people; and we do not wonder that they remember it and love you for it. We are not and never will be ungrateful." What has become now of the gratitude of the French nation towards those who have done so much for them?

Whilst at one of our Italian ports recently Emperor William received on board the "Hohenzollern" some Little Sisters of the Poor and gave each of them a contribution of £5. A German paper relates that during his stay at Naples he invited the Abbot of Monte Cassino (who is a German) and several of the Fathers to dinner on board the imperial yacht. Scarcely had they entered when the Emperor appeared and gave the monks a right hearty welcome. The Kaiser wore the uniform of an admiral, and in order to mark his esteem for his guests he also wore a massive gilt chain round his neck from which there hung upon his breast the large gold medal of St. Benedict which was presented to him some years ago at the Monastery of Beuron. The abbot was put in the place of honor at the right of the Emperor, while Father Diederich, the head of the Beuron School of Art, was seated at his left. During dinner the Emperor kept up an animated conversation with them and inquired particularly as to the progress made by the monks in the decoration of the tomb of St. Benedict at Monte Cassino. Last year the Emperor paid a visit to the monastery and very generously gave the monks the sum of £500 towards the decoration of the crypt.

Very Rev. Father Stebbing late superior at St. Bonet's, Monkwearmouth, has been appointed father provincial of the Redemptorist houses in the English province.

Says the Ave Maria: "It is hard, in the present temper of our people, to speak out against 'imperialism' without incurring the suspicion of partisanship. Yet an honest citizen can not well keep silent while the elders and leaders of the people preach new and strange doctrines, and the nation seems to have apostatized from the creed of the founders."

It has been announced officially by Mgr. Faouat, Bishop of St. Die, in the name of the Holy Father, that all publishers' privileges in the matter of plain chant have been abolished, and that a commission is to be at once formed to prepare a typical edition of Gregorian chant which may be freely reproduced by publishers in any part of the world.

In connection with the celebration of the Gregorian centenary, now being held in Rome, the Rev. H. Marrott Bannister, an Anglican clergyman, has been chosen by the Pope to prepare the exhibition of Vatican Gregorian codices. Mr. Bannister has been for several years one of the most diligent students of the Vatican Library, and is well known as an authority on liturgy and sacred music. The sequence in the Gregorian Mass which was sung in St. Peter's quite recently is one of the large number of sequences exhumed by him from the old MSS. of the Vatican.

There is trouble brewing between the French Academy and the government over the appointment of a successor to the late M. Deschanel at the Collège de France. The Academy, who have the "right of recommendation" of a candidate for the post, had their own candidate in the person of one of their members, M. Ferdinand Brunetiere, but the government made it known before hand that they would veto the appointment of M. Brunetiere, who is too much of a fighting Catholic for their taste. M. Brunetiere accordingly withdrew his candidature, and the Academy, as a protest, refused to "recommend," and sent up to the Minister a plain sheet of white paper. Matters are at a standstill.

Apropos of the French Republic, there are some things which are more or less convenient to forget, and M. Boisson, one of the Chamber of Deputies, who has been most zealous in bringing forward the iniquitous laws against the religious in France, would probably prefer that the following extract from a speech which he made some years ago at a distribution of prizes should remain in oblivion. Then M. Boisson spoke in the name of government in his capacity as Director General of Primary Instruction: "We certainly shall never forget the Daughters of St. Vincent of Paul, the Sons of St. John Baptist of Salle, religions of every name and habit; we shall never forget that for two or three hundred years you alone occupied yourselves with the children of our people; and we do not wonder that they remember it and love you for it. We are not and never will be ungrateful." What has become now of the gratitude of the French nation towards those who have done so much for them?

Whilst at one of our Italian ports recently Emperor William received on board the "Hohenzollern" some Little Sisters of the Poor and gave each of them a contribution of £5. A German paper relates that during his stay at Naples he invited the Abbot of Monte Cassino (who is a German) and several of the Fathers to dinner on board the imperial yacht. Scarcely had they entered when the Emperor appeared and gave the monks a right hearty welcome. The Kaiser wore the uniform of an admiral, and in order to mark his esteem for his guests he also wore a massive gilt chain round his neck from which there hung upon his breast the large gold medal of St. Benedict which was presented to him some years ago at the Monastery of Beuron. The abbot was put in the place of honor at the right of the Emperor, while Father Diederich, the head of the Beuron School of Art, was seated at his left. During dinner the Emperor kept up an animated conversation with them and inquired particularly as to the progress made by the monks in the decoration of the tomb of St. Benedict at Monte Cassino. Last year the Emperor paid a visit to the monastery and very generously gave the monks the sum of £500 towards the decoration of the crypt.

FAITH
NAIL YOUR FAITH
TO
BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS.

As a spring medicine it has no equal.

It purifies and enriches the blood. Acts on the Kidneys, Liver, Stomach and Bowels. Cleanses and invigorates the entire system from the crown of the head to the soles of the feet.

Don't be sick, weak, tired, worn and weary.

(THIS SPRING TAKE
Burdock Blood Bitters
AND KEEP WELL.)

MISCELLANEOUS.

Restaurant Keeper—Did the fisherman who stopped here this morning have frogs' legs?

Waitress—I couldn't tell you, man. He wore pants.

Stratford, 4th Aug., 1893.
MESSRS C. C. RICHARDS & CO.
Gentlemen—My neighbor's boy, 4 years old, fell into a tub of boiling water and got scalded fearfully. A few days later his legs swelled to three times their natural size and broke out in running sores. His parents could get nothing to help him till I recommended MINARD'S LINIMENT, which, after using two bottles, completely cured him, and I know of several other cases around here almost as remarkable, cured by the same Liniment and I can truly say I never handled a medicine which has had as good a sale or given such universal satisfaction.

M. HIBBERT,
General Merchant.

Minard's Liniment cures Diphtheria.

He stood in the doorway, hat in hand, and the stuttering young lady was inviting him to call again.

"Come around Saturday," she began, trying to say Sunday, but the sentence was never finished. The dog thought she meant "sic'em," and he did.

Mrs. Thos. Tracy, Bynedale, Ont. writes: "We have used Dr. Low's Pleasant worm Syrup and find it to be better than any other remedy. It is easy for the children to take and always effectual."

"You'll have to call again," said the servant at the door.

"That's what you said yesterday," said the bill collector.

"But Mr. Skinner is too ill to talk to you to-day."

"You needn't worry about that, I'll do all the talking."

Crying with Headache.

Mr. A. J. Oiment, the well known storekeeper, Indian Head, N. W. T., writes: "I have given Milburn's Sterling Headache Powders to some of my customers who came into my store almost crying with severe headache and in less than five minutes they went away cured and smiling." Price 10c. and 25c.

New Clerk—I think "I ought to get a raise. I'm certainly twice as good as the last man you had."

Employer—"The fellow I discharged? Oh yes, you might say you're ten times as good as he was."

New Clerk—"Well? ten times naught is naught."

Very Rev. Father Stebbing late superior at St. Bonet's, Monkwearmouth, has been appointed father provincial of the Redemptorist houses in the English province.

Says the Ave Maria: "It is hard, in the present temper of our people, to speak out against 'imperialism' without incurring the suspicion of partisanship. Yet an honest citizen can not well keep silent while the elders and leaders of the people preach new and strange doctrines, and the nation seems to have apostatized from the creed of the founders."

It has been announced officially by Mgr. Faouat, Bishop of St. Die, in the name of the Holy Father, that all publishers' privileges in the matter of plain chant have been abolished, and that a commission is to be at once formed to prepare a typical edition of Gregorian chant which may be freely reproduced by publishers in any part of the world.

In connection with the celebration of the Gregorian centenary, now being held in Rome, the Rev. H. Marrott Bannister, an Anglican clergyman, has been chosen by the Pope to prepare the exhibition of Vatican Gregorian codices. Mr. Bannister has been for several years one of the most diligent students of the Vatican Library, and is well known as an authority on liturgy and sacred music. The sequence in the Gregorian Mass which was sung in St. Peter's quite recently is one of the large number of sequences exhumed by him from the old MSS. of the Vatican.

There is trouble brewing between the French Academy and the government over the appointment of a successor to the late M. Deschanel at the Collège de France. The Academy, who have the "right of recommendation" of a candidate for the post, had their own candidate in the person of one of their members, M. Ferdinand Brunetiere, but the government made it known before hand that they would veto the appointment of M. Brunetiere, who is too much of a fighting Catholic for their taste. M. Brunetiere accordingly withdrew his candidature, and the Academy, as a protest, refused to "recommend," and sent up to the Minister a plain sheet of white paper. Matters are at a standstill.

Apropos of the French Republic, there are some things which are more or less convenient to forget, and M. Boisson, one of the Chamber of Deputies, who has been most zealous in bringing forward the iniquitous laws against the religious in France, would probably prefer that the following extract from a speech which he made some years ago at a distribution of prizes should remain in oblivion. Then M. Boisson spoke in the name of government in his capacity as Director General of Primary Instruction: "We certainly shall never forget the Daughters of St. Vincent of Paul, the Sons of St. John Baptist of Salle, religions of every name and habit; we shall never forget that for two or three hundred years you alone occupied yourselves with the children of our people; and we do not wonder that they remember it and love you for it. We are not and never will be ungrateful." What has become now of the gratitude of the French nation towards those who have done so much for them?

Whilst at one of our Italian ports recently Emperor William received on board the "Hohenzollern" some Little Sisters of the Poor and gave each of them a contribution of £5. A German paper relates that during his stay at Naples he invited the Abbot of Monte Cassino (who is a German) and several of the Fathers to dinner on board the imperial yacht. Scarcely had they entered when the Emperor appeared and gave the monks a right hearty welcome. The Kaiser wore the uniform of an admiral, and in order to mark his esteem for his guests he also wore a massive gilt chain round his neck from which there hung upon his breast the large gold medal of St. Benedict which was presented to him some years ago at the Monastery of Beuron. The abbot was put in the place of honor at the right of the Emperor, while Father Diederich, the head of the Beuron School of Art, was seated at his left. During dinner the Emperor kept up an animated conversation with them and inquired particularly as to the progress made by the monks in the decoration of the tomb of St. Benedict at Monte Cassino. Last year the Emperor paid a visit to the monastery and very generously gave the monks the sum of £500 towards the decoration of the crypt.

During Holy Week the French journal announced the decease of M. Charles Arnaud, Mayor of Rheims, who owed his notoriety to his furious anti-clericalism. The following incident is related in connection with his sudden illness and dreadful death. Through his relentless persecution some poor nuns of Rheims had been reduced to abject poverty and distress, which they bore with uncomplaining fortitude. They had collected a glass of about twenty young girls in a corner of their dismantled convent, left empty by the liquidator. As they awaited their return, charged to remove the few chairs still left in the poor dwelling. One day when the class was over the nuns said: "Children, we are going to recite a prayer for M. Charles Arnaud, who is dangerously ill." The clarity of these humble religious so deeply injured by the Municipal Council of Rheims in praying for their persecutor has made a deep impression on the inhabitants of the town.

There is trouble brewing between the French Academy and the government over the appointment of a successor to the late M. Deschanel at the Collège de France. The Academy, who have the "right of recommendation" of a candidate for the post, had their own candidate in the person of one of their members, M. Ferdinand Brunetiere, but the government made it known before hand that they would veto the appointment of M. Brunetiere, who is too much of a fighting Catholic for their taste. M. Brunetiere accordingly withdrew his candidature, and the Academy, as a protest, refused to "recommend," and sent up to the Minister a plain sheet of white paper. Matters are at a standstill.

Apropos of the French Republic, there are some things which are more or less convenient to forget, and M. Boisson, one of the Chamber of Deputies, who has been most zealous in bringing forward the iniquitous laws against the religious in France, would probably prefer that the following extract from a speech which he made some years ago at a distribution of prizes should remain in oblivion. Then M. Boisson spoke in the name of government in his capacity as Director General of Primary Instruction: "We certainly shall never forget the Daughters of St. Vincent of Paul, the Sons of St. John Baptist of Salle, religions of every name and habit; we shall never forget that for two or three hundred years you alone occupied yourselves with the children of our people; and we do not wonder that they remember it and love you for it. We are not and never will be ungrateful." What has become now of the gratitude of the French nation towards those who have done so much for them?

Whilst at one of our Italian ports recently Emperor William received on board the "Hohenzollern" some Little Sisters of the Poor and gave each of them a contribution of £5. A German paper relates that during his stay at Naples he invited the Abbot of Monte Cassino (who is a German) and several of the Fathers to dinner on board the imperial yacht. Scarcely had they entered when the Emperor appeared and gave the monks a right hearty welcome. The Kaiser wore the uniform of an admiral, and in order to mark his esteem for his guests he also wore a massive gilt chain round his neck from which there hung upon his breast the large gold medal of St. Benedict which was presented to him some years ago at the Monastery of Beuron. The abbot was put in the place of honor at the right of the Emperor, while Father Diederich, the head of the Beuron School of Art, was seated at his left. During dinner the Emperor kept up an animated conversation with them and inquired particularly as to the progress made by the monks in the decoration of the tomb of St. Benedict at Monte Cassino. Last year the Emperor paid a visit to the monastery and very generously gave the monks the sum of £500 towards the decoration of the crypt.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS FOR WEAK PEOPLE

These pills cure all diseases and disorders arising from weak heart, worn out nerves or watery blood, such as Palpitation, Ship Bouts, Throbbing, Smothering, Dizziness, Weak or Painful Spills, Anæmia, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Brain Fog, General Debility and Lack of Vitality. They are a true heart tonic, nerve food and blood purifier, building up and renewing all the worn out and wasted tissue of the body and restoring perfect health. Price 50c. a box, or 3 for $1.25, at all drugstores.