MEETING OF LIBERAL MEM-

On Thursday a meeting of liberal members of Parliament was held at Lord John Russel's residence in Chesham-place. Aleedings did not commence until 1 o'clock. A great number of persons as-sembled in front of the noble Lord's resaling him whether, it was the intention of the Exchequer and whether it was not the Government to make any statement of the Government of the Gover to call upon the Government for an explanation of their principles. At the same time, those with whom he had advised, as well as many brave fearts struggling manfully to the isset agifiest the favets atruggling manfully to the isset agifiest the favets atruggling manfully to the isset agifiest the favets above to fife any measures which were required in carrying the service of the supplies, or to delay measures which were required in carrying attempting to stop the supplies, or to delay measures which were required in carrying on the definition. The country, provided the government made some statement of their intentions. The commercial, the agricultural, and the general interests of the country absolutely required that Parliament should know at the earliest period whether the Administration of Lord Derby mean to carry, out the policy of Free-trade, or to a country as is usual in such cases attempt to reverse it. There had been the Electors are now called upon to say attempt to reverse it. There had been the country to delay measures which were required in carrying on the business of the country, provided the Government made some statement of their intentions. The commercial, the agricultural, and the general interests of the country absolutely required that Parliament should know at the earliest period whether the Administration of Lord Derby meant to carry out the policy of Free-trade, or to attempt to reverse it. There had been the Electors are now called upon to say the policy of Free-trade, or the lad beautiful to reverse it. There had been the our of need. some indication that they did mtend to whether they repose confidence in the Gov-funnel the policy of Free-trade would be continuhe stared, because he was confident that, so far from having been injurious, as Mr. Christofrom having been injurious, as Mr. Christopher thought, to the interests of the coun-

Prince Felix Lewis John Frederic in accepting a post, which public opinion cupies the attention and the industry of minety-nine out of every hundred of you.—You will not say that this, the paramount interest of Ganada, Agriculture, shall be the only one, of which Government shall take no care. You will not pronounce useless or mischievous, the attempt to direct emigration to these shores; knowing, as you do, that the wealth, and strength, and influence, and happiness of young country, decoration of the public heart.—Whoever seeks history in our Statute book of this period, will find the real state of the case left untold; the best part cut of the case left untold; the best part cut out by the arm of a power that stood above the people; and all that remains is but release or mischievous, the attempt to direct emigration to these shores; knowing, as you do, that the wealth, and strength, and influence, and happiness of young country, decorations of half a century.

It is notorious that Mr. Cayley neck and from the promulgation of the Constitutional held to the High Church party in Canada, whose chief aim is to compel the various they had the accommodations, &c., required they had the accommodations, &c., required lions of acres of forest lands that now lie mate the effect of this system of repression the appropriate to contribute to by the By-Laws of Council. Seven houses in jungle and in waste. And you know on the energies of the people, on their prosome indication that they did mend to reverse it. Mr. Christopher had said in his address to the Lincolnshire electors, that his conviction was that Lord Derby and the people of the pe nor General nominates, as heads of the various Departments of the pupilic service.—
