Were we to have a war with England, it would be almost entirely detensive, save in two particulars: we should invade Canada, and should launch hundreds of privateers against British commerce on the high seas. Our defensive invincibility on the seaboard established, as it now is by the development at Charleston, there is left no room for doubt but that Er gland would get the worst of it in the struggle. As for Canada, it is admitted that it cannot pratect itself. The population of all the British Provinces is but about three millions, extending over a breadth of more than a thousand nailes. They are unaccustomed to the use of arms, and have little or no military spirit, as the ridiculous failure of the y-duateer movement in every province abundantly shows. The Atlantic Telegraph Enterprise. The great success which has attended the The great success which has attended the recent applications or subscriptions, both on this continent and Great Britain; render it perfectly certain that a new cable will be laid across the Atlantic next year. Over $250,600 has been subscribed by New York. The subscribers number over three hundred leading merchauts and business men. The latest advices from England state that over $1,000,000 has been subscribed there, and that no doubt existed as to the raising of the balance levy before it was wanted. All the surveys having been made, it only remains to surveys having been made, it only remains to construct the cable and to lay it. Experiments are being conducted in England for the ments are being conducted in England for the purpose of ascertaining the comparative merits of steel, flax, and one or two other articles in the external structure of the cable, with a view to obtain the best possible combination of strength and compactness, although the kind now in use is perfectly adapted for the Atlantic cable as well as the great European submarme lines. Mr. Field has received from Glass, Elliott & Co. a carious and in attractive collection of specimens of all the cables—thirty one in number—hitherto-laid by them. They illustrate progressive steps of improvements which have been inade in this branch of applied science.—Leader.

Immigration.—Intelligence received from all parts of Europe indicates plainly that the emigration to Canada will be more considerable this season than for several years past. There is no doubt that the distress arising from the cotton deficiency in England will cause many to lenigrate, and with reference to Germany and other parts of Europe, not a few who in ordinary circumstances would have sought a home much content of the third states, will probably, in the present state of affairs, prefer to try their fortuce in Canada. We learn that Mr. Buchanan, the emigration societies, to give them the necessary instructions.

Night descends, he has been swhors, his strength is almost exh ship, that far-off thing, where ther is gone; he sinks, he strains, he feela beneath him the shadowy the unseen; he shouts.

Men are no more. Where is G. He shouts. Help! help! he

Nothing in the horizon—no aky.

He implores the blue vault, the rocks, all are deaf. He supplica pest; the imperturable tempest the Infinite.

Around him-are darkness, storwild and unconscious tunult, the the horizon of the force waters. Wit ror and exhaustion. Beneath gulfing abyss. No resting place of the shadowy adventures of this lan the limitless gloom. The bitti styzes him, his hands clutch sprand grass at nothing. Winds, cl winds, blasts, stars, all useless! he do? He yields to despair; was eacks death; he no longer resist himself up; he abandons the conisrolled away into the dismal de abyss forever.
