The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

This is the season of house-cleaning.

To o self-evident to mention, you think?

Quite so. But I mentioned it only to introduce a suggestion.

As you take your broom in hand to move up on the foe, will you not make up your mind that the season of housecleaning this year, is to be also a season of housecleaning and simplification?

The desire to accumulate simply for the sake of accumulation is one of the oldest and most unreasoning of human passions. The child who hoards the red candy box and the half dozen seashells, beautiful once as they sparkled in their proper setting, the wet sea sand, but hopelessly ugly now, and the hundred and one little treasures quite as valueless and useless and quite as precious; the Indian who treasures his bits of colored glass; the miser who gloats over his hidden gold; and the housewife who solemnly takes out and cleans and puts back each year a lot of truck that she does not really want and will never use, are all slaves of this same primeval obsession—the mania for accumulation.

To discriminate, to know what to keep and what to throw away, to have the wisdom and courage to simplify one's existence by getting rid of all truck one is keeping simply because one does not quite like to throw it away—that is the mark of the woman who has developed somewhat beyond the primeval.

There are so many departments of the average household where simplification could be attempted with good results. For instance, the writing desk. Ten to one it is overflowing with letters long ago read and answered and kept, not for any sentimental or literary worth, but merely "because it seems too bad to throw them right away." Go through that desk with a relentless hand, trying up any letters that you have any real reason for keeping, and consigning the others to the fire, and see if you do not approve the result.

And by the way, let me offer a suggestion in regard to the souvenir cards which—if you are not a collector or do not happen to know any one who is—will seem a problem to you because it seems too bad to burn them up. Don't do that. Mine go to a dear old lady who delights in forwarding them to the missionaries who greatly appreciate this new kind of picture cards. Doubtless your Church Missionary Society will be glad of yours.

Then there is the medicine chest, with dozens of bottles in it that contain little trickles of medicine that you will never use again. There's a little of that fever medicine the doctor gave you when you had the gripe, and a few drops of the stuff he gave the baby for measles, and another bottle half full of some dark colored liquid whose reason for being there you have quite forgotten. You pretend to think that perhaps you will use some of these again but really you know you never will.

And then there are the closets and wardrobes and chests where your unused clothes are stored. Your elimination here surely ought to be most rigid, because you owe it to two people—to yourself, whose life these unnecessary things are clogging, and to somebody else who has need of them. There are those boots that didn't quite fit you and that you have hoarded for two years hoping some day to get up the courage to wear them. You never will. You know it now. And they might mean so much to that somebody else.

There's that brown serge dress that you laid aside because you never liked and soiled your conscience by pretending that some day you will have made over. You know you never will and somebody's hands are outstretched waiting to receive it from you.

The responsibility of keeping these things—that by right of eminent domain belong to the somebody who need them—truly I do not see how anyone dare assume it.

These are just a few general suggestions. The specific simplifications which your household needs, only you can know. But if you bravely carry out this policy through the whole house I promise that you shall be more satisfied with your spring cleaning than you have ever been before.

The Fountain Head of Life Is The Stomach

A man who has a weak and impaired stomach and who does not properly digest his food will soon find that his blood has become weak and impoverished, and that his whole body is improperly and insufficiently nourished.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY makes the stomach strong, promotes the flow of digestive juices, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and restorative nerve tonic. It makes men strong in body, active in mind and cool in judgement.

This "Discovery" is a pure, glyceric extract of American medical roots, absolutely free from alcohol and all injurious, habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are printed on its wrappers. It has no relationship with secret nostrums. Its every ingredient is endorsed by the leaders in all the schools of medicine. Don't accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this time-proven remedy or known composition. Ask your neighbors. They must know of many cures made by it during past 40 years, right in your own neighborhood. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

Household Notes.

If troubled with rats use crude oil freely.

Milk is much better for wiping off linoleum than water.

Meat soaked in crude oil is said to be excellent bait for rodents.

Copper may be cleaned by scouring with a cut lemon dipped in salt.

To make a boric acid solution use one teaspoonful boric acid to one pint of water.

A damp picture is indispensable for wiping off chamois frames that are enameled.

A slice of bacon cooked with spinach or other greens gives a delightful seasoning.

It is better to keep tea and coffee in airtight glass jars, in a place not exposed to strong light.

A little alum dissolved in the water in which cretonne is washed is an aid in keeping colors bright.

Always scald the milk used in making a custard. Then when it is baked it will always be smooth.

Scatter sassafras bark with woolen goods and furs when putting them away for the summer. It keeps moths out.

A little vaseline or oil rubbed over a stove when it is taken down for the summer months will prevent rusting.

Strong soap suds and water in which there is washing soda is fatal to china or glassware decorated in gilt.

For wiping off a varnished paper use warm water and paraffin—half a cupful of paraffin to a pailful of water.

In mashing potatoes it pays to heat the milk, adding the butter to the milk, before turning into the mashed potatoes.

If a few pin holes are made in an egg shell before the egg is boiled there will be no danger or cracks in the shells.

To clean ivory, brush with a soft tooth brush, using lukewarm water. If the ivory is discolored use a little alcohol.

Always keep two large sponges for house cleaning purposes, one to wash woodwork with and one to use in rinsing.

There is no better way to remove egg stains from silver than by rubbing vigorously with a damp cloth dipped in salt.

Save your pound powder tins to steam brown bread in, to mold your pressed yeast or beef and cornmeal mush to fry.

Tartaric acid will remove almost any iron rust blemish from material

Bad Colds

Some colds are worse than others, but they are all bad. Do not neglect them. Treat promptly, vigorously. First of all, ask your doctor about taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Then do as he says.

Grows Hair Abundantly

This is an age of new discoveries. To grow hair after it has fallen out to-day is a reality.

SALVIA, the great Hair Tonic and Dressing, will positively create a new growth of hair.

If you want to have a beautiful head of hair, free from Dandruff, use SALVIA once a day and watch the results.

SALVIA is guaranteed to stop falling hair and restore the hair to its natural color. The greatest Hair Vigor known. At McMurdo's.

and it is excellent for removing yellow marks.

In keeping vegetables do not keep different kinds in the same basket. If you do there is danger of deterioration in flavor.

If one sings a chicken by holding it over a saucer of burning alcohol there is no danger of leaving soot marks on the flesh.

Baskets of raffia are most attractive receptacles for holding flowers. Those of birch bark, too, are used extensively this year.

Noble Tact.

Lord Rosebery, whose recent remarks on the "harum shirt" caused a great deal of amusement, is noted for his tact, and for his ability to say the right thing at the right moment.

On one occasion, when he was giving a dinner to some of his tenants, an old man, who sat next to him, was evidently much impressed by the magnificence of the meal, the like of which he had never seen before.

When the fies came on, the old chap eyed his portion curiously, and then put such a huge piece in his mouth that he nearly cried aloud with the cold.

"Why," he exclaimed in surprise when at last he regained his breath, "this pudding's froze!"

With the utmost gravity, Lord Rosebery tasted a little from his own plate and then, with a face as stern as a judge's, he said: "Great Scott, so it is!"

To Raise Mink and Muskrats in Alberta

Far Farm to Be Started in June With 500 Mink and 5,000 Rats.

Spokane, Wash., April 1—Two thousand acres of land in the lake district, north of Athabaska Landing, in the province of Alberta, has been leased for a term of years by Dr. T. J. Burgen of Spokane and his associates in eastern Washington, who propose operating a mink and muskrat farm as a commercial enterprise. The work of preparing the farm and stocking it with animals will be begun early in June. Dr. Burgen says of the project:

"I do not recall having heard of a similar experiment anywhere in Canada, but I have devoted all my spare time during the last seven years to careful investigation, and I am thoroughly convinced that the undertaking will be a big financial success."

"I was over the ground recently and chose the location. We are arranging to place 5,000 rats into the lake, which is well stocked already. Dark rats will be used, as the pelts are of a higher commercial value than the lighter varieties."

"The rats require no food other than what they can get themselves, except in unusual cases. We shall prepare for emergencies by growing carrots, which will be fed to the animals, if necessary. The muskrat pelts are worth from 80 cents to $1 each."

As one Grows old the bowels grow less active. Some then take harsh cathartics, and their bowels harden. Then they multiply the dose. Some take candy Casarets. They act in natural ways, and one tablet a day is sufficient.

Vest-pocket box, 10 cents—at drug stores. People now use a million boxes monthly.

Well Done, But—

Lord Kitchener, having finished his tour, is hurrying back to England to take up his new duties in connection with the coming Coronation. Some of his tours of "inspection have ended disastrously for the inspected."

A certain commanding officer was putting his troops through a series of manoeuvres before Lord Kitchener, but some how or other he managed to get his men thoroughly mixed up. In the end, however, the C.O. bobbed up, smiling, and trotting proudly up to "K. of K.", he remarked: "There, sir, I flatter myself that was extremely well done."

"Oh, excellently!" was the suave reply: "but, may I ask, what on earth were you trying to do?"
