

All the Arguments

Are in favor of having your clothes made by us. In quality of materials, in style, in fit, in finish, in every essential detail of fine tailoring, we are in the lead.

O. LABELLE & CO.
346 RICHMOND STREET.

"The Hardware"

Let us help you to solve the gift problem!

RUSSIA HAMMERED BRASS
Round and Oval-shaped Fern Pots, Jardinieres, all shapes and sizes. Trays in different styles. A pleasure to show goods. Prices right.

W. B. GILLESPIE & CO.
PHONE 750. 204 DUNDAS ST.

NATHAN GRIFFITH

(Successor to D. A. Stewart)

The Leading Funeral Director and Embalmer

Private Ambulance in Connection.
104 DUNDAS ST. PHONE 459.

SMITH, SON & OLARKE

UNDERTAKERS
115 DUNDAS ST. PHONE 586
629 DUNDAS ST. PHONE 678
Residence on Premises.
Private Ambulance Service.

JOHN FERGUSON & SONS

FUNERAL DIRECTORS.
10 KING STREET, PHONES 541, 543
The best, the largest and cheapest in London. Open night and day.
ESTABLISHED 50 YEARS.

Logan & Ball

Funeral Directors
418 RICHMOND ST. PHONE 1968
Residence on Premises.

R. K. COWAN

BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, ETC.

Why Get Tanned or Sunburnt?

Our Witch Hazel, Honey and Almond Cream keeps the most delicate skin in perfect condition. Keep it on your dressing table always. Costs only 25c for a large bottle. Special gift to each and every customer at

McCALLUM'S Drug Store

Remember the Red Front, 134 DUNDAS STREET, half block east of old stand.

That smart, dainty appearance of many ladies is mainly due to the fact of their wearing a carefully selected and fitted figure. Woolnough Corsetry, Toronto, will make to your measure.

MISS L. QUINN
274 Dundas street, represents them, and solicits your inquiry. tyw

MASON & RISCH Piano Ware-

rooms 213 Dundas Street
Upstairs, Duffell Block.

Catalogues and prices mailed free on application.

REMOVED REMOVED

REMOVED

LONDON LOAN & SAVINGS COMPANY OF CANADA

—TO—

220 DUNDAS STREET

NEWBURY NEWS.

July 12.—Miss Jessie Gray returned to Detroit, after spending a week's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Gray.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hay returned from the west on Tuesday, after a very pleasant trip. We hope to still have them as citizens.

Mrs. Hawke and her niece, Miss E. Mitchell, of Moosejaw, spent a few days at Dr. Gordon's last week.

Miss Anna Gordon left on Saturday to spend her holidays in Clinton.

Mrs. Alex. Armstrong returned on Tuesday after a delightful trip to Dresden, Sarnia and other points.

Miss M. M. W. Armstrong has returned after a two weeks' visit in Chatham.

Rev. S. D. Jameson left on Saturday for a month's holidays. Rev. Mr. Allan is supplying the pulpit in his absence.

Mr. Barr, of Detroit, is visiting at Duncan Fletcher's.

Mr. Andrew Gray, of London, is spending his holidays with his parents here.

Miss Elsie Pringley is spending her holidays with her grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant.

For sixteen years the name "Salada" has stood for the maximum of quality, purity and flavor in blended Ceylon teas, so that the only thing you need to look out for is the "Salada" label on every package of tea you buy.

Order Hamilton's

Hamilton's Porter is fully aged. It is the best. Ask for Hamilton's when you are buying.

Order Hamilton's

THOS. WILSON
Merchant Tailor,
212 Dundas Street,
Higgins' Block. Telephone 598.

Fresh Mined

Screened Scranton Coal

Quality the best; quantity, 2,000 pounds to ton; delivery prompt and courteous. Why not let us fill your bin, as winter is sure to come, and you will need good, clean coal?

WEBSTER & KERNOHAN
PHONE 1383.

"Odd Things Not Found Elsewhere"

LITTLE FINGER RINGS

For the summer girl—Coral, Jade, Epidote and Turquoise Matrix. Very much admired "Little Finger" Rings, also Veil Pins, etc.

THOS. GILLEAN
402 RICHMOND STREET.

Our Bins Are Filled With a

Bright, Clean, New Stock of the very best Coal. Now is the very best time to have your bins filled. Call and we will quote you a price.

Good dry mixed slabs, $1.75 per load.

MAY BROS.

'Phone 1224. 685 York St.

YES! IN YOUR FRIEND

CLEAN COAL—All our coal is carefully screened, and consequently it is free from dirt and dust. Another important item is that in buying our coal you do not pay for the waste. You get absolutely the best coal in the market, and at no higher price than you pay for inferior quality. Call or telephone 1312.

D. H. GILLIES & SON

JOHNSTON BROS' XXX BUTTER BREAD

To have the best supplies for the table is a rule of good housekeeping. Johnston Bros' XXX "Butter" Bread constitutes a class in itself; the purest, most delicious and nourishing loaf made. At grocers.

JOHNSTON BROS.

'PHONE 944.

A NURSE SENTENCED.

Toronto, July 12.—William Haley, formerly a male nurse of the Mimico Asylum, was sent to prison today for one year on a charge of fraud.

SUES G. T. R.

Ottawa, July 12.—Bradford Lee Gilbert, architect, of New York, is suing the G. T. R. for $119,543 for damages and alleged breach of contract in connection with the new hotel and station. He made the original plans, but the work is to be done from plans by Ross & McFarlane, of Montreal, which Lee charges are almost identical with his own.

We had the time of our lives at Port Stanley on the roller coaster.

Train orders receive prompt attention. Hueston's Livery.

For the Children

Presents for the tots, Spoons, Baby Pins, Knife and Fork Sets, Rings, Bracelets, etc. Assortment large and varied.

SUMNER

THE QUALITY JEWELER,

360 Richmond Street.

Up-Town Office Closed

Till September

Phone 470, or call at 425 York, cor. Burwell St.

John Mann & Sons

COAL, COKE, CEMENT.

Parnell's Bread

Why not try our famous

BREAD,

About which you have often read?

PARNELL'S is the best,

they say,

To use on a warm summer day.

PHONES 929 and 1390.

YOU CAN AVOID

the unpleasantness of chapped hands and lips by using Dermaline. It keeps the skin white, and smooth as velvet. 25 cents

Cairncross & Lawrence

Chemists and Druggists,
216 Dundas St., London, Ont.

BANKS FEAR ATTACK

BY AIRSHIP BANDITS

Bags of Sand Placed on Roof Would Prevent Destruction by Bombs.

London, July 12.—A Billingsgate ice dealer by the name of Newby attended the general court of the proprietors of the Bank of England and asked as to the security of £200,000,000 of gold in coin and ingots in the bank vaults from attack by airships. He is in an important way of business and a familiar figure at company meetings in the city.

He was at work in his office near Eastcheap when a newspaper man called to obtain some further light on his concern as to the vulnerability to attack by airships of the national gold reserve in the vaults of the bank. "It is an important, a very important matter," said Newby. "You will observe that I put a question to the governor of the bank, which he was obliged to admit he was unable to answer. He said it was a hypothetical question, whatever that may mean. It was not, Mr. Newby said, his business to suggest how the danger from airships should be met. 'You know the Bank of England people. They are so wrapped up in themselves that they would not accept any suggestion from anybody.'"

"But if I were asked to suggest a means of defense I would say, sand. Bags of sand piled up over the vaults would be invaluable to any bomb that could be discharged against them. Sand, or, perhaps, wool. Wool also is very good, I am told. It is not my business to know which is best, but I should be inclined to favor sand."

THE KAISER INSULTS POET HEINE'S MEMORY

The Emperor's Revenge on the Poet's Statue Arouses German Wrath.

London, July 12.—Literary and artistic Germany has just been deeply stirred by an action on the part of Emperor William which appears to be a wanton insult to the memory of one of Germany's great men; one, indeed, who (if the judgment of intellectual people all over the world be consulted), reflects the brightest glory on his country as a home of letters. The Kaiser has sold for £500 a statue of the poet, Heine, which once stood in a temple attached to the villa erected in Corfu by the late Empress Elizabeth of Austria, the beautiful woman who died at the hands of an assassin at Geneva eleven years ago.

It is considered by German literary men no mitigation that the statue has been sold to Herr Julius Kamp, of Hamburg, although he is a member of the publishing house which originally produced the works of Heine. Artistic feeling, it appears, has been outraged by the very fact of the statue's removal from its temple and its disposal as though it were a piece of unnecessary furniture. Some of the Kaiser's offended subjects have not hesitated to describe the act as a paltry piece of revenge on the dead genius for his strictures on the Hohenzollerns.

Has an Excuse.

It is, however, no new resolve on the part of the Emperor William to remove the statue from Corfu. When he bought the Achilleon, as the famous villa is called, as a summer residence for himself whenever he should be cruising in the Mediterranean, he was already credited with the intention of converting Heine's temple into a memorial chapel for the murdered Elizabeth herself. He can, therefore, at least, plead that he is performing a pious work when he takes steps to commemorate the imperial designer in the grounds of the building which she planned and had erected for herself by the Italian architect, Cerio.

Wildly extravagant as was the Empress Elizabeth in her craze for building and decorating the Achilleon was perhaps her greatest folly in luxurious and artistic prodigality. Built on the site of a sumptuous house which Elizabeth bought only to pull down, the villa cost no less than $15,000,000. Perched upon a rock commanding the sea, it has two stories on the side lapped by the waves, and, in addition, a ground floor on the land side only. The base of the building follows exactly the natural formation of the rock and the ascent to it.

Twelve Marble Pillars. A colonnade of twelve marble pillars fronts the blue expanse of sea. By every one of these pillars stood, in Elizabeth's time, some precious example of ancient statuary, each piece bought by her in Rome and transported by her from the Italian coast to Corfu on board her yacht Miramar, on which she made so many cruises.

When leaving the Achilleon towards the end of 1908, Elizabeth left a presentiment that she would never see it again. Tears rose to her eyes, burning with the strange light kindled by perpetual insomnia; and as she watched from the bridge of the steamer the sea swallowing up the white speck which was her splendid folly, she let drop these slow words: "Just as we desire to marry in our lifetime a beloved daughter, to secure her happiness, so we ought to sell before our death a beloved home, to make sure that a worthy master follows us."

Elizabeth was not destined to see this wish realized, hard though she strove, for there was no purchaser to be found for so fantastically costly a property.

PEOPLE REALLY AFRAID OF THE HOPE DIAMOND

On Account of the Vicissitudes of Its Various Owners.

Paris, July 12.—It looks as if people were really getting afraid of the famous blue Hope diamond. Recently it fetched only £16,000 at auction in Paris, though it changed hands a few years ago for £20,000. So long ago as 1830 Mr. Hope, the banker, gave £18,000 for it, and none of these represents its true value, which is said to be £60,000 at least.

There is no doubt a great deal of legend about the story of the diamond, and, strangely enough, it is its recent history that is wrapped in most obscurity. It was certainly in Constantinople for a few years. The story goes that it was in the possession of the deposed Sultan Abdul Hamid, that his favorite was wearing it when she was shot, and that nearly everyone concerned with it met speedy death or disaster.

All this would only be in keeping with the gloomy traditions that hang about the stone. The list of the authenticated tragedies with which it has been connected is certainly suggestive of evil. It was first heard of as the property of a French nobleman and writer, Jean Baptiste Tavernier, who, on his return from a voyage to the east in 1668, sold it to Louis XIV. of France. Tavernier was the first known victim of the diamond's evil spell. Reduced to poverty at the age of 81, he set out again for the east to recoup his fortune, and died of fever on the journey.

The famous Mme. de Montespan wore the diamond and simultaneously began to decline in health. In favor of Louis XIV. and she was before long supplanted by Mme. de Maintenon. The next to wear it was Nicolas Fouquet, courtier, schemer and financier, who borrowed £1,000,000 from the king to finance his

THE KAISER INSULTS POET HEINE'S MEMORY

The Emperor's Revenge on the Poet's Statue Arouses German Wrath.

London, July 12.—Literary and artistic Germany has just been deeply stirred by an action on the part of Emperor William which appears to be a wanton insult to the memory of one of Germany's great men; one, indeed, who (if the judgment of intellectual people all over the world be consulted), reflects the brightest glory on his country as a home of letters. The Kaiser has sold for £500 a statue of the poet, Heine, which once stood in a temple attached to the villa erected in Corfu by the late Empress Elizabeth of Austria, the beautiful woman who died at the hands of an assassin at Geneva eleven years ago.

It is considered by German literary men no mitigation that the statue has been sold to Herr Julius Kamp, of Hamburg, although he is a member of the publishing house which originally produced the works of Heine. Artistic feeling, it appears, has been outraged by the very fact of the statue's removal from its temple and its disposal as though it were a piece of unnecessary furniture. Some of the Kaiser's offended subjects have not hesitated to describe the act as a paltry piece of revenge on the dead genius for his strictures on the Hohenzollerns.

Has an Excuse.

It is, however, no new resolve on the part of the Emperor William to remove the statue from Corfu. When he bought the Achilleon, as the famous villa is called, as a summer residence for himself whenever he should be cruising in the Mediterranean, he was already credited with the intention of converting Heine's temple into a memorial chapel for the murdered Elizabeth herself. He can, therefore, at least, plead that he is performing a pious work when he takes steps to commemorate the imperial designer in the grounds of the building which she planned and had erected for herself by the Italian architect, Cerio.

Wildly extravagant as was the Empress Elizabeth in her craze for building and decorating the Achilleon was perhaps her greatest folly in luxurious and artistic prodigality. Built on the site of a sumptuous house which Elizabeth bought only to pull down, the villa cost no less than $15,000,000. Perched upon a rock commanding the sea, it has two stories on the side lapped by the waves, and, in addition, a ground floor on the land side only. The base of the building follows exactly the natural formation of the rock and the ascent to it.

Twelve Marble Pillars. A colonnade of twelve marble pillars fronts the blue expanse of sea. By every one of these pillars stood, in Elizabeth's time, some precious example of ancient statuary, each piece bought by her in Rome and transported by her from the Italian coast to Corfu on board her yacht Miramar, on which she made so many cruises.

When leaving the Achilleon towards the end of 1908, Elizabeth left a presentiment that she would never see it again. Tears rose to her eyes, burning with the strange light kindled by perpetual insomnia; and as she watched from the bridge of the steamer the sea swallowing up the white speck which was her splendid folly, she let drop these slow words: "Just as we desire to marry in our lifetime a beloved daughter, to secure her happiness, so we ought to sell before our death a beloved home, to make sure that a worthy master follows us."

Elizabeth was not destined to see this wish realized, hard though she strove, for there was no purchaser to be found for so fantastically costly a property.

PEOPLE REALLY AFRAID OF THE HOPE DIAMOND

On Account of the Vicissitudes of Its Various Owners.

Paris, July 12.—It looks as if people were really getting afraid of the famous blue Hope diamond. Recently it fetched only £16,000 at auction in Paris, though it changed hands a few years ago for £20,000. So long ago as 1830 Mr. Hope, the banker, gave £18,000 for it, and none of these represents its true value, which is said to be £60,000 at least.

There is no doubt a great deal of legend about the story of the diamond, and, strangely enough, it is its recent history that is wrapped in most obscurity. It was certainly in Constantinople for a few years. The story goes that it was in the possession of the deposed Sultan Abdul Hamid, that his favorite was wearing it when she was shot, and that nearly everyone concerned with it met speedy death or disaster.

All this would only be in keeping with the gloomy traditions that hang about the stone. The list of the authenticated tragedies with which it has been connected is certainly suggestive of evil. It was first heard of as the property of a French nobleman and writer, Jean Baptiste Tavernier, who, on his return from a voyage to the east in 1668, sold it to Louis XIV. of France. Tavernier was the first known victim of the diamond's evil spell. Reduced to poverty at the age of 81, he set out again for the east to recoup his fortune, and died of fever on the journey.

The famous Mme. de Montespan wore the diamond and simultaneously began to decline in health. In favor of Louis XIV. and she was before long supplanted by Mme. de Maintenon. The next to wear it was Nicolas Fouquet, courtier, schemer and financier, who borrowed £1,000,000 from the king to finance his

THE MORRISON SHOE CO.

Travelling Goods For the Vacation

Our stock, which is one of the largest in Western Ontario, was never more complete than at the present time, and the prices are within the reach of all. Below we give an abbreviated list sufficient, we hope, to cause your coming.

Iron-covered Trunks, hardwood slats, brass lock, from ... $1.49

Waterproof canvas-covered Trunks hardwood slats, brass lock and catches ... $1.98

Waterproof canvas-covered Trunks hardwood slats, two sole leather straps ... $3.49

Imitation Leather and Matting, Rubber Cloth and Leatherette Suitcases ... $1.69, $1.19 and 89c

Imported Japanese Matting Suitcases, very light in weight ... $1.89 and $1.59

Solid Leather Lined Suitcases, brass lock and catches, brown and russet $4.47 and $3.97

Imitation Leather Club Bags, from 59c

Solid Leather Club Bags, from 1.19

Canvas-Covered Telescopes, from 33c

Soft Leather Collar Bags ... 98c and 69c

Ladies' Purses ... 19c

Ladies' Handbags and Purses from 19c

Footwear Prices That Say "Buy Now"

Needed Now Goods at Wholesale Prices

Men's Gray Canvas Lace Boots, leather tip ... 79c

Boys' Gray Canvas Lace Boots, leather tip ... 69c

Youths' Gray Canvas Lace Boots, leather tip ... 63c

Women's White Canvas Blucher Cut Oxfords ... 98c

Women's Gray Canvas Blucher Cut Oxfords, turn sole, covered heel ... $1.39

Misses' Brown or white Canvas Oxfords ... 49c

Children's Brown, White or Red Canvas Oxfords, 49c and ... 39c

Women's Dongola and Kid Oxfords, light, and extension soles, $1.19 and 98c

Women's Chocolate Kid, Blucher Cut Oxfords, $1.89, $1.63 and ... $1.39

Women's Patent Colt, Blucher Cut Oxfords, $1.98 and ... $1.49

Women's Patent Colt, Blucher Cut Lace Boots ... $2.47

Misses' Three-Strap Slippers ... 98c

Misses' Chocolate Kid, Blucher Cut Oxfords ... $1.23

Men's Dongola Lace Boots, all solid ... $1.49

Men's Tan Calf Blucher Oxfords $2.39

Men's Patent Colt Blucher Lace Boots and Oxfords, Baltimore welt and hand-sewn, worth $3.50 and $4.00, while they last, $2.69 and ... $2.49

Boys' Boston Calf Lace Boots ... 98c

Boys' Dongola Kid Lace Boots, all solid ... $1.25

Boys' Box Calf, Blucher Cut Lace Boots ... $1.49

These are all new, dependable goods, bought for this season's trade. No old, odd or damaged stock.

Compare these quotations with any "sale" prices, then come, investigate and let us prove our claim to SAVE YOU MONEY.

The Morrison Shoe Co.

123 Dundas St. and 8 Market Square

Louis. Shortly afterward he fell into disgrace and died in prison.

Next the diamond graced the neck of Marie Antoinette at a Tuileries ball, and sometimes she lent it to her friend, the Princess de Lamballe. Marie Antoinette was beheaded, and the Princess de Lamballe was torn to pieces by the Paris mob. Another owner, Louis XVI., was beheaded.

To this extent the history of the stone is authentic. After the stone left Paris it was divided, and the Hope diamond, as was proved many years later, is the smaller portion of the Tavernier. For 40 years after leaving Paris little is known of the gem. It is said that it was given to an Amsterdam diamond cutter to be divided, that his son stole it and after ruining his father committed suicide.

Francis Beaulieu is the next recorded owner. He, it is said, was unable to sell it in time to save himself from death by starvation, but died the day after he sold it to a London dealer named Ellason, who in turn sold it to the late Francis Henry Hope, of Deepdene. It then passed into the hands of Lord Francis Hope, whose life it is not a tragedy was certainly not of the most enviable up to the date of his divorce from May Yohé in 1902