The War on the Plains.

The dillydallying of the U. S. officers on the plains is bearing its natural ruit. The Indians now attack whole rains of emigrants, railroad construction and telegraph repair parties, and cometimes detachments of troops. The messacre at Fort Phil. of the same description of rock. This disparity in the yield, it is said, arose in a great degree from the newness of the apparatus, but it is Mr Christie's opinion, from observations made by him, that the rock taken indiscriminately from the ledge, and worked by the arrastra process, will average $10 a ton, and if culled an average of $25 might be obtained. The great trouble appears to be to find a solid ledge, but this desideratum, it is believed from the present inclination of the reef. will be obtained when the shaft has been sunk fifty feet deeper. NEW CREEK STRUCK!

Mr Oliver Urqubart and his two partners, months past, returned on Monday evening, and reported the discovery of a creek in which they found gold in paying quantities. The creek has been named Mustang creek, and is situated about 25 miles to the north. west of William creek and four miles to tne north-west of Sugar creek; it is about one and a half miles in length and empties into a large creek which was also named by the party Beaver creek, from the great number of beaver that abound in that vicinity. Urquhart and his party have located and recorded with a dog; Kent couldn't CANTER-BERRY cleared up for the week 251 oz. Jenkins a discovery claim, about 500 feet from the mouth of the creek, and have prospected it sufficiently well to know that they can make from $12 to $20 a-day to the hand, and even more if there was a plentiful supply of water. The ground is not over 8 feet in depth, so far as they have found, and the pay appears to be confined chiefly to the gravel, near the bed rock, although there is a strata of top gravel that yields a fair prospect. The bed rock is a hard, blue slate, intermixed with small quartz veins, and resembles in appears ance the rock on this creek. We were shown by Mr Urquhart about 15 ounces of the dust. which appears coarse and well washed. Its quality is much about the same as that of the gold found on Sugar creek. There are a number of other creeks and gulches in the vicinity that look equally as well as the one referred to, which it is the opinion of our informant, who prospected some of them, will pay well. These will no doubt receive a thorough prospecting from the number of miners who have been attracted there within the last two days, by the flattering prospects obtained in that quarter. Mr Urquhart and party returned yesterday with a stock of provisions, and will commence sawing lumber and prepare to take advantage of the fall
