ABOUT ART AND JOURNALISM.

This is essentially an age of art. Irrewherein America confessedly bears away the palm. And perhaps the most marvellous thing about it is that so much artistic excellence may be had at a price which sunshine and in remark there may be in the peal of a church be'l floating up some rural valley amid sunshine and in runing calm, it is undergible that in remark there may be in the peal of a church be'l floating up some rural valley amid sunshine and in runing calm, it is undergible that in some of poetry and sen-

Where the lestration is should be the discretion. So Gen. Arthur, who is responsible for the administration of the government for the balance of the pressidential term, should be free to choose his own cabinet.
