Our Lighting Monopolies.

If we can save $20 a year on each arc lamp by operating our own electric plant, or even $10, we will effect an economy well worth striving for. But important as this economical consideration may be it is by no means the principal argument in favor of a municipal electric plant. Let us review the subject of light as it is supplied in its various forms to the citizens of Toronto. First there is gas light, supplied by a company that enjoys an absolute monopoly. It is a monopoly over which we practically have no control. If the city operated the plant it could sell gas at something less than 75 cents a thousand. This statement is capable of absolute proof. The citizens pay $160,000 annually to the shareholders of the Consumers' Gas Company on a capital of $1,600,000. The city could raise that capital at 4 per cent. and thereby save $96,000 a year interest. That is equal to 12 cents per thousand in the price of gas. That is but a single item to show the economy of municipal control.

In regard to incandescent lighting the city is under a monopoly. If you want an incandescent light in your house there is only the one company from whom you can obtain it. You must accept their terms and conditions or do without the light. Against this monopoly we have no redress. Finally the company that supplies the city with arc lights enjoys a monopoly in that business. The companies have a perfect understanding between themselves. For instance, one agreement between the two electric companies is this, that as long as the Arc Light Company is permitted to get the contract for lighting the streets (it brings in over $100,000 a year) it agrees not to supply incandescent lights. If we lighted the streets with our own plant the Toronto Electric Light Company would be forced to go into incandescent lighting and the people would then enjoy the benefit of competition. As it is, Toronto is away behind the age in the matter of incandescent lighting. The company's plant is antiquated and we have to pay about double what we should for this kind of light. Incandescent lighting is the healthiest and best of all lights for household purposes. Under present conditions few, indeed, and far between are the houses supplied with it. The fact that the establishment of a municipal plant will break up these two electric monopolies is the chief and most urgent reason why we should establish such a plant.

It is just as well that this electric light question has been postponed for a while. It will stand a great deal more discussion, and in due time we intend to let the public into a few secrets, which ought to have some influence in the final decision of this question. We received yesterday a detailed statement of the cost of installing and maintaining a plant for 1500 lights. The statement was prepared by a gentleman who is even better qualified than Mr. Keating for making such an estimate. According to his estimate the cost per lamp is $74.00. For the present we reserve the statement. It will be made public at the proper time later on. We hope before this matter is decided to be able to convince the public that it is greatly in the interests of Toronto to operate its own street-lighting plant. Aldermen and editors representing the electric companies have thrown a lot of dust in the eyes of the public, which in due time will be removed.

The New Movement.

Whatever may be the outcome of the Intercolonial Conference we know at least that the gathering at Ottawa is the outcome of a new movement that is slowly but surely rescuing Canada from long years of colonial isolation. The newly-made nation has all along felt itself lacking in that spirit of independence that is so potent to inspire national life and national aspirations. The new movement has in view, not the transforming Canada into an independent nation, but in making her an integral and equal part of the greatest empire of the world. The new movement will be successful if it provides something to take the place of that aching void of nationality that characterizes us as well as all other people who exist as a lean-to instead of being an independent structure. The new movement ought to evolve something that will make Canada feel that she is a part of the great Empire, not in maps and on paper, but in very reality. Such a feeling will be best established by the adoption of some trade policy common to the empire, by the development of commercial highways, and of cable and telegraph lines, mail routes and the like. These are more potent to create the superstructure of empire than sentiment and lip loyalty. Canada already forms part of the highway of the world's travel. Our relations with Great Britain and the colonies have within the last few years become more intimate and substantial. We look to the new movement to enlarge that intimacy and to strengthen the bonds that connect us with the rest of the Empire. The country was never more unanimous in any movement than it is in its desire to see the Empire consolidated into a living structure, a harmonious whole with its component parts working in unison and having as its great mission the Anglicizing of the world.

Beverley-Street Baptists' Picnic at Wilson, N.Y.

The annual picnic and excursion of the Beverley-street Baptist Sunday school took place to Wilson, N.Y., yesterday, and proved a most successful affair, both in point of numbers and financially. The day was an ideal one, and the trip across the lake was most delightful. The arrangements at the park were complete, and the genial manager, Mr. Harris, was untiring in his efforts to make the outing a grand success—and that his efforts were successful in the highest degree were amply attested by the expressions of entire satisfaction which were heard on every hand. Capt. Cooney and officers of the Garden City did all in their power to enhance the pleasure of the party. The outing was one of the most successful yet held by the school, and Lake Island Park is more popular than ever with the Beverley-street Baptists as a picnicking and excursion point.

Fever and Ague and Bilious Derangements are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

AN INDEPENDENT LABOR PARTY.

The Platform of Candidate John Armstrong Adopted.

In a close little room in Richmond Hall last night about a score of labor men met to organize a party which shall work for the cause of labor, independent of any of the old political parties.

The air was sultry and the temperature of the meeting was high. Discussion was long and personal, unimportant points being argued as if the future welfare of the British Empire depended upon the selection of a committee of three or five to draft a platform. Robert Glockling, Walter Burnill, Mr. Cribben, Robert Simpson, Samuel Small and others spoke many times. Finally a resolution was carried adopting as the preliminary basis of the organization the platform upon which John Armstrong waged his fight in East Toronto. A further meeting will be held, at which the platform will be formally received and amendments discussed. Labor men hope to form an organization which will be powerful in Dominion, provincial and municipal elections.

Mr. Clancy's Forced Retirement.

Stephenson's Chatham Planet: Clancy has fallen in the fight! From one end of the province to the other there is an expression of sincere regret at the defeat of this able and devoted representative. Had he gone down in a fair fight on his personal merits and the worth of the cause he espoused, the result could be accepted, if not without keen disappointment, at least with the grace becoming recognition of honorable defeat. But what are the facts? James Clancy died on the political field as he slept. It was not in hand-to-hand conflict with the foe—not in open battle—not as he led his followers and drove the opposing host before him—but while night cast her sombre mantle over the campaign scene. The enemy crept out under cover of darkness and did the cruel deed.

True friends stayed nobly by him; false friends joined with his avowed opponents to overwhelm him. He lost support in quarters where he had ever reason in fairness and justice to look for sustaining influence. "Clancy the Catholic!" was the slogan of the enemy in one direction. "Clancy the ally of Meredith and enemy of Separate Schools!" was the battle-cry of his foes in another part of the field. Upper and nether stones of the sectarian mill revolved and ground a grist.

Clancy had no opposing candidate to meet during the campaign. Pardo was wisely kept out of the way all through the contest. It was not, therefore, a struggle between men and politics. It was a gross and outrageous conspiracy against a candidate whom the Government ordered to be slaughtered at any cost. On his merits as a public man, and his character as a private citizen, Clancy should and would have held his own in West Kent. He failed—and the shame of it be on the men and measures employed to compass his overthrow.

Three Aged Voters.

The St. Thomas Journal says: Dunwich (West Elgin) is the home of stalwart Liberalism. In one polling sub-division the first vote cast cast was that of a veteran of 95 years, Mr. Simon Fraser. His brother, aged 85, also voted for Mr. Macnish, and Mr. Archibald Munn, over whose head 87 summers have passed, helped to roll up the Liberal majority.

"Before" and "After."

With Mr. Flatt a pretty stout man, and Mr. Awrey a pretty thin man, Wentworth's two representatives in the House will look like a picture of a patent medicine advertisement of "before" and "after."—Dundas Banner.

"Black Sandy's" Big Majority.

"Black Sandy" Robertson of North Waterloo polled the largest majority of any Liberal in the province. His majority over the Patron was 1012 and over the P.P.A. over 1200.

The Defeated Conservative Whip.

The Ottawa Free Press (Lib.) says: Many Reformers will deeply regret the defeat of Mr. G. W. Monk by another Conservative in Carleton; for though Mr. Monk was a staunch party man, he was always courteous to his opponents and in his capacity as Opposition whip in the Assembly he did much to soften the asperities of debate and to promote friendly feeling between the two parties.

The First Protest.

Mr. R. J. Graham, the Prohibition candidate, has decided to protest the election of Mr. W. H. Biggar, his successful competitor in West Hastings.

A Voter Aged 108.

Mr. John Guthrie of Pine Orchard, North York, is probably the oldest voter in Ontario who cast a ballot last Tuesday. He is in his 108th year.

Voted at Every Election Since 1832.

Newmarket Era: Mr. Joseph Brammar, the oldest voter in No. 1 Ward, East Gwillimbury, walked to the poll and cast his ballot. He has been a voter for 62 years, and has voted at every Parliamentary election since 1832.

Sam Hughes on The P.P.A. and P.I.

[Lindsay Warder.]

The Canadian Protective Association, usually termed the Protestants' Protective Association, has fought loyally in the recent elections for the return of W. R. Meredith and his friends. There has scarcely been a break in their ranks. They have stood for measures, not men.

The Patrons of Industry leaders on the contrary have played a most disreputable game. They have in every single instance injured the Conservative candidates, and have played the clear grit game throughout. The list of ridings named in another column as having been lost by the duplicity of the Patron leaders is sufficient to have upset Sir Oliver Mowat and placed Mr. Meredith in power. But their game was to save Sir Oliver, not to defeat him.

How Davy's Own Paper Puts It.

The Owen Sound Times says: The question that naturally arises is: What contributed to the defeat of Mr. Read in North Grey? So far as The Times can gather there were several circumstances which are responsible for so disastrous a result. In the whole constituency prohibition was an issue. As is quite usual in such cases, the anti-prohibitionists were active and united, while on the other hand prohibitionists, with few exceptions, followed the old political lines, notwithstanding that at a convention at which delegates representing almost every portion of the riding were present Mr. Read was almost unanimously chosen their candidate. The fact that Mr. Read is a Prohibitionist alienated ten votes of Conservatives to one Reform vote gained. Well-known staunch Conservatives either did not vote at all or voted for Mr. Cleland. This was one factor which led to defeat. Another and most regretable was the contemptible treatment Mr. Read received in his own township—St. Vincent. As a reward for nearly a quarter of a century of faithful service he was given a support of a paltry seventy-five votes, while Metcalfe, a new arrival, with scarcely anything at stake in the township, who was properly rejected two years ago as a councillor, and who is absolutely without the intellectual qualifications, received 397 votes. That base ingratitude should be prominent is scarcely to be wondered at amongst a people so lacking in ordinary intelligence.

Smith on Sir Oliver's Kissing.

[Bobcaygeon Independent.]

There is something very peculiar in this kissing business. When Sir Oliver Mowat was in Hamilton the other evening several pretty young girls presented him with bouquets. In receiving them the old chap kissed the girls, and the Grits carried both the Hamilton seats. Let some grey-headed old rooster kiss the girls and it is all right, it is ever so pretty and quite touching. Let some young spark try the same game and he would get his neck broken, though the chances are that the girls would not give one kiss of the latter for a bushel of the former. Ah! Come to think of it, perhaps that is the very reason why the young fellow gets thumped and the old relic is tolerated. With the youngster there is fire and danger, with the mouldering remains it is an impotent flickering of the old Adam that touches Nature's ruling passion.

Comes Hard on Them.

The Hamilton Herald says: What is perhaps the saddest feature of Tuesday's contest in Hamilton has yet to be told. The members of the P.P.A. were so cocksure of their candidates winning that they bet every dollar on them that they could scrape up. Many of them are poor men who have little ready money, so they borrowed money on their possessions, clothes, furniture and what-not and bet it freely and lost.

The result is that many of them will not get fairly on their feet again in months, perhaps in years. They will feel the pinch of poverty at home. Wives and little ones will suffer, if not for bread, at any rate for many of the things that we are all accustomed to look upon as being among the necessities of life, and the decreased purchasing ability will have a bad effect on business.

Political Notes.

The official count places Mr. Marter's majority in North Toronto at 805.

Dr. Ryerson has 1658 majority in East Toronto, according to the official count.

The official count in West York gives St. John 53 majority.

Ex-Speaker Ballantyne, James Clancy, ex-M.L.A. for West Kent, and J. R. Stratton, M.L.A. for West Peterboro, were in the city yesterday.

A majority of 931 for Mr. D. McNichol, M. L. A., South Grey, may lay claim to be the banner Patron riding.

Mrs. Brower, mother of Mr. C. A. Brower, the newly-elected M.L.A. for East Elgin, died at her residence in Yarmouth Tuesday night, aged 70 years.

Mr. P. J. M. Anderson of Belleville has been appointed County Crown Attorney for Hastings, in succession to George Henderson, resigned.

It is said that Mr. Roger Clute, Q.C., who opposed Mr. Harry Corby in 1891, intends to oppose him again. In view of the accident by which the seat in West Hastings became vacant it is very doubtful if Mr. Corby's brother-in-law will again consent to oppose him.

Sam Hughes thus sizes up West Victoria: Had proper spirit been thrown into Lindsay by the local leaders and had the money from United States lumberers, Ontario brewers and the Roman Church been kept out, the result in West Victoria would have been most gratifying.

The Orangeville Advertiser (Liberal) says: Where, oh where are the Tories of Dufferin with their proud majority of 1500? Dr. Barr's majority four years ago was 726. Dynes' majority of Tuesday will not be short of 400 when the returns are all in. Over 1000 farmers who voted for Dr. Barr four years ago must, therefore, have voted against him on Tuesday.

The Globe has discovered that Mr. Senn, the Conservative Patron elected for Haldimand by a majority of 11 over Dr. Baxter, has been for some years an issuer of marriage licenses and was therefore ineligible as a candidate under sec. 8 and 12, cap. 11 R.S.O., Every person accepting or holding any office, commission or employment, either in the service of the Ontario or Dominion Government, is disqualified from being a member of the Legislative Assembly, and if elected his return is null and void. Mr. Senn has yet to be heard from.

INTENDED TO STAB THE GUARD.

Two Central Prison Convicts Sentenced to the Penitentiary.

There was trouble between the guards and two convicts at the Central Prison Wednesday afternoon, and as a result the two convicts were brought up in the Police Court yesterday charged with assault.

Charles Jones, a colored man with a fiery red head, from Windsor, pleaded guilty of striking Guard Clancy with his fist. When Jones was searched after his insubordination a knife was found on him which he said he had obtained to "do up" Clancy. Jones is a bad man. He is 24 years of age and has served 14½ years in prison in the States and Canada. He admitted in court he intended to stab Clancy. He was sentenced to the penitentiary for two years, to commence at the expiration of his present sentence of 18 months next May.

Then Charles Jesters, another convict serving a sentence of 12 months from Sandwich, pleaded guilty of striking Cook Sangster. Sangster stated he was struck several times, one of his teeth being knocked out and others loosened. Jesters also kicked at him. This convict is said to be a half brother of the colored man Jones, and is considered the worse of the two. He was also sent to Kingston for two years after his sentence at the Central is served.

A brave act was performed by a young man named James Watson of Fairfield, on Thursday morning, when he rescued a little child that fell into the water from the pier at Centre Island. The braveness of the act is apparent from the fact that the young man is unable to swim, and the pier is hollow underneath, making it very dangerous for even a swimmer to venture underneath. The opening should be closed in, as anyone falling into the water is liable to be drawn underneath from the strong suction.

A satisfactory substitute for an actual journey to the Holy Land is afforded at the Cyclorama building, where the famous painting, "Jerusalem on the Day of the Crucifixion," is now on exhibition. The realism is marvelous. The visitor seems at once transported amongst Oriental scenes, about which he has read much, but never fully realized. The magnificent city of Jerusalem, as it appeared in our Saviour's time, surrounded with its massive walls, towers and battlements, its sacred mountains and valleys, its palaces and pools, its strangely costumed people, its glittering of Roman soldiers, make altogether a remarkably picturesque and interesting scene.

The New Empire.

We are pleased to call attention to the book "The New Empire," written by our talented new member for South Toronto, Mr. O. A. Howland, and published a couple of years ago. Many thoughtful ideas were suggested. An important one we are now seeing the fulfilment of in the present meeting of the Colonial Conference at Ottawa. This was suggested in the chapter on the constitution. The book had quite a sale in England and the United States, the leading papers and periodicals devoting considerable space to it. Hart & Riddell are the publishers.

It remains to be demonstrated on Monday evening by the popular military concert in the Massey Music Hall, at which there will be 2600 seats at 10 cents each, whether the public are prepared to support concerts of this class and price.
