It was public spirit and determinaion on the part of its citizens that caused Chicago to develop so rapidly into the great Western metropolis. The same public spirit was evidenced in their capture of the World's Fair and the carying out of that gigantic enterprize to a successful conclusion. The same kind of spirit will have to dominate the people of Toronto if they expect to see the 300,000 water-mark attained within reasonable time. The Acting Mayer's Speech.

The resident Shaw, speaking to the resolution, said he would like to have the vote of the ratepayers postponed for a couple of weeks from Oct. 5. In the meantime the opinion of Mr. Manaser's would have been obtained. This gentleman stood highest in his profession of any hydraulic engineer in the world, and his experience would be above any influence and would be free from prejudices or local blas. If the committee were not satisfied with Mr. Mansergh's terms the Presindent said he had no objection to other engineers being retained. He mentioned as competent for the purpose, Mr. Jennidgs, Sir Casimir Gzowski, Mr. Galt, Mr.

Ald. Sheppard seconded the motion.
It was not, he said, a question of building a tunnel. Mr. Keating was fully competent for this. Advice was wanted from one competent to give it on the expediency of building a tunnel for Toronto's future water supply. No as he took pains to explain, in support of any company. Apart from Lake Simcoe, there were other sources of supply within 30 miles radius of Toronto. To bring a stranger from England to report on this within a month was absurd. He could only act on information given him.

Strong For Gravitation.

Ald. Leslie objected to throwing side the opinion of experts for the aside the opinion of experts for the last 30 years for the sake of a new light from England. The Council had al-ready spent $10,000 on gravitation. The project was perfectly feasible, and it of Debate in the Board of Works—Was
