"One of the best years we have ever had," was the statement of R. A. Finn, district representative of the department of agriculture, to The Free Press in speaking of the county school fairs. The school fairs in all parts of the county are now finished. According to the representative, on whose shoulders the greater part of the work of making the fairs the undoubted success which they were rested, the exhibits taken as a whole were splendid and greater interest was manifest throughin the Supreme Court against W. A.
Mills, also of London, for the specific performance of an agreement for sale, dated April 30, 1920, which, it is alleged, was made between the plaintiff and defendant for the transfer of certain property on Orchard street. In the alternative the plaintiff is asking that the court cancel the agreement and award damages for the alleged breach co-operation in the fair districts. He declared that in many cases special prizes had been offered by local citizens in important branches of the exhibits. This had been done much to increase interest, although Mr. Finn expressed the opinion that it was not well to give too many special prizes. Special awards the opinion that it was not well to give too many special prizes. Special awards should only be given in the more important sections.

Many of the fairs had greatly increased in size, due to the entry of a larger number of schools into active participation in the exhibitions. In this connection it was pointed out that in
