NAVAL AND MILITARY MAGAZINE.

PROSPECTUS.

IN contemplating the efforts of the British arms during a struggle which has no parallel in modern history, and in which both branches of the Service surpassed all their former achievements, it cannot but be a subject of surprise that the Army and Navy of Britain, to which the Country owes so large a share of its pre-eminent prosperity and glory, should not have hitherto possessed a distinct publication of suitable frequency, as a channel for their communications, and as a record of their proceedings and exploits. To supply this deficiency, to concentrate in one focus the scattered rays of information relative to the two professions, and to furnish a medium for the preservation of many valuable details which might otherwise be lost, THE UNITED SERVICE JOURNAL has been projected.

It would be impossible, within the narrow compass of this announcement, to enumerate all the subjects which this Miscellany is designed to embrace. Conducted by Officers in His Majesty's Service, who have ensured the effective co-operation of gentlemen of high professional and literary character, it will be uniformly animated by the same ardent spirit of patriotism and loyalty which achieved the triumphs of Trafalgar and of Waterloo; and while it upholds that even-handed discipline, which
