

GENERAL H. A. BIGLOW.
Supreme Master-at-Arms.

General Biglow joined the Order of Knights of Pythias in June, 1879, and was elected the first Chancellor-Commander of Harmony Lodge, No. 5, of Seattle. He took his card from Harmony Lodge in 1880, and moved to Tacoma, assisting in organising Commencement Lodge, No. 7, and was elected the first Past Chancellor. At the organisation of the Grand Lodge of Washington, February 26th, 1884, he was elected Past Grand Chancellor. He then took his card from Commencement Lodge and joined Queen City Lodge, No. 10, Seattle. At the second session of the Grand Lodge, held at Walla Walla, May 19th, 1885, he was elected Supreme Representative and attended the bi-ennial sessions of the Supreme Lodge, 1886, at Toronto, Ont., and Cincinnati in 1888, also the Supreme Conventions of 1890 and 1892, at Milwaukee and Kansas City. Having been appointed to fill a vacancy he was again elected Supreme Representative in 1893, and attended the session held at Washington, D. C., 1894, and Cleveland, 1896. At the convention held in Cleveland he was elected Supreme Inner Guard, and at the Convention held in Indianapolis in 1898 he was advanced to the office of Supreme Master-at-Arms, which office he now holds. He organised the First Division of the Uniform Rank in Washington at Seattle on February 13th, 1888, and in 1889 was appointed Aid-de-Camp to Major-General Carnahan. On May 4th, 1889, he assisted in establishing the Uniform Rank in British Columbia, by instituting the First Division. On May 16th, 1892 he assisted in organising the Washington Brigade, and was elected Brigadier-General with headquarters at Seattle, where he now resides. He has taken a great interest in the Endowment Rank, and established the First Section in his State, No. 431, and was its first President. General Biglow attended the first assembly of the Uniform Rank at Philadelphia, April 30th, 1895, and was an active member in that body, having been recognised by being placed on several important committees.
