OSSINGTON GARBAGE PLANT NOT YET

Big Deputation Protested Against Incinerating Works.

BYLAW WAS WITHDRAWN

Board of Control to Reconsider Matter and Submit Report.

The following resolution was adopted at a well attended meeting of the Ossington Ratepayers' Association in McMurich School last evening, J. T. Robinson presiding:

Resolved, that the meeting of Ward Five Ratepayers' Association objects in the strongest possible manner to the erection of an incinerating plant and stables on Ossington avenue and Geary avenue, and that a more suitable spot could be found by the city to answer the purpose.

Moved by J. Blackburn and seconded by N. J. Craig.

Ald. Meredith said it would be necessary for a deputation of the residents to attend the council at once, as a bylaw relating to the establishment of a garbage disposal plant and stables, to be situated between Ossington avenue and Shaw street, had passed the second reading, and the third reading would take place that evening.

Other Sites Available.

There were other sites which could be selected, said the alderman, and the Ossington district is a good class neighborhood and is rapidly building up. Builders have invested hundreds of thousands of dollars in houses, many not yet sold, and certainly would never be should a garbage disposal plant be placed in the neighborhood.

The speaker said he was not a section alderman, but tried to do his best for the ward and the city.

At the conclusion of the alderman's speech more discussion took place, and indignation at the action of the civic authorities was universal. It was decided that the meeting proceed en masse to the council chamber, which they did to the number of about 75. Messrs. Robinson, Combs, McMullin and Blackburn being appointed spokesmen.

Registered Protest.

Arriving at the council chamber the delegation from Ossington were introduced by Ald. Meredith.

J. T. Robinson, who was the first speaker, said he represented the residents of the Ossington district, and protested against the purchase by the city of the Comby property for an incinerating plant, claiming that the smell and the refuse continually pouring off would have a detrimental effect on the neighborhood.

The speaker mentioned the large amount of money invested in property in the district, and suggested that the plant should be placed west of Dunes street, near the Weston road, as there were two or three fields in that locality in an isolated position which might suit the purpose.

Ald. McBride asked the speaker where he received the information.

TEMPORARY TRUCE VITALLY NECESSARY

Amendments to Home Rule Measure Must Relieve Situation, Says Times.

Canadian Associated Press Cable.

LONDON, June 30.—The debate in the lords on the home rule amendment bill begins tomorrow. There has been much running to and fro among the Unionist members to draft amendments. Regarding these and the general action of the Unionist peers, today's Times offers some interesting editorial injunctions: "It is absolutely vital that the amendments should be sufficient to secure temporary peace," declares The Times. "All these proposals go down to the bottom of a desperate situation by laying down a basis of a temporary truce."

Everything is staked upon their acceptance by the country. The Times proceeds to declare: "It is absolutely certain the Unionist leaders themselves will sooner or later have to take up the question of the Irish question. We should like to see the Unionist leaders make it clear that while condensing the home rule bill root and branch, or renouncing it altogether, they accept, as a fait accompli, and they are prepared as soon as ever in the position to do so to deal with the Irish problem as part and parcel of other outstanding problems by way of a national convention."

MURDER PLOT DUE TO NATIONALISM

Canadian Press Despatch.

VIENNA, June 30.—According to opinions expressed by high government officials, the plot which resulted in the assassination on Sunday of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife, the Duchess of Hohenberg, at Sarajevo, owed its inception to nationalist propaganda which originated in Serbia. This propaganda took deep root among certain elements of the Serbian population of Bosnia. The Serbian Government was aware of the serious aims being pursued, but was obliged to proceed with the utmost caution in order not to injure another group of Serbians who were loyal to it. Also, there were certain considerations of foreign policy which had to be reckoned with.

The Bosnian authorities, while carefully watching and restraining these fanatics, apparently were unable to discover the conspiracy in time to prevent Sunday's crime.

How deeply this Serbian danger really penetrates Bosnia is impossible to estimate, but there are expressions that it would be difficult to stem it now.

MAPLE PRODUCTS FROM OLD QUEBEC

Novel Method Adopted to Show How Maple Sugar is Made.

Through the medium of Messrs. Gunn, Langlois & Co., Limited, Montreal, the government of Quebec are undertaking a thorough exploitation of their home province by means of a very novel method.

From railways, steamboats and hotels on the lines of travel throughout the province, literature and samples of "Maple Products," which include the maple sugar, maple syrup, and the extensive maple bushes of that province. The pamphlet received by the World is tastefully decorated with cuts of the old-fashioned methods of "sugaring-off," "boiling down" and the like, and bears the official crest of the arms of Quebec, with the portrait of Sir Lomer Gouin, prime minister of the province.

REMARKABLE MEMORY

Thomas Fuller, the author of "The Worthies of England," possessed the useful accomplishment of a clergyman of being able to repeat a sermon verbatim whenever it only once.

Fuller once succeeded in naming backwards and forwards and without a single omission, every shop-sign on both sides of the way, every shop-sign on the eastern extremity of Chesapeake. This appears a remarkable feat when it is remembered that Fuller lived before the practice of numbering houses was adopted, so that every shop had to be named by a sign.—London Chronicle.

MENTALLY DEPRESSED TOOK CARBOLIC ACID

An inquest was held yesterday at the City Hall, presided over by Coroner J. B. Coutie, into the death of Charles Manco, 33 years of age, of 13 Wolfray avenue, who was found dead in his room at Scarborough Bluffs, on June 25. The jury, without retiring, returned a verdict that deceased met his death by drinking carbolic acid, which he had purchased at Lee's drug store on King street on June 16.

The deceased had been mentally depressed for some time, and left his home on the 15th with the intention of taking a walk, but no knowledge of his whereabouts could be gained until the 23rd, when his body was found. The post-mortem disclosed that he had swallowed several ounces of carbolic acid. The evidence proved that it was a clear case of suicide, and that there was no suggestion of foul play. The jury also elicited the information that Manco had purchased the acid by stating that he wanted it for domestic purposes, and that it was a "house" way of doing business for any druggist to sell poison in such a manner, and the sooner a stop was put to it the better.

Safford and the house will rent easier

NO matter how brief a "house-to-rent" ad may be, hot water heating is mentioned, if the house is so heated, because it makes the house more readily rentable or saleable. And the house is even more easily rented if the ad says "Safford" heating, because are acknowledged to be "The Standard"—the one system that is built by an organization of specialists, who devote their time exclusively to the manufacture of hot water and steam heating systems.

You would naturally expect a specialized system to be very superior. The Safford boiler, for example, has 70% of its heating surface directly around the fire, whereas ordinary boilers have but 51%. The more direct the heating, the less coal required to heat your home to 70 degrees, provided the water circulation is rapid.

And the Safford water circulation is rapid, because after being heated, it has only one-third the distance to travel to get out of the fire-pot that the water in an ordinary boiler has. It circulates three times as rapidly.

The proof of the Safford's superiority shows in the coal bill, for you will pay for one-third less fuel than the man with an ordinary boiler of same size. And you will experience the comfort of a perfectly heated home.

Full particulars about the Safford—the specialized system—are obtainable in our "Home Heating" booklet. It will only take you a minute or so to send a post-card request for it. You could put your time to a better purpose.

Safford and the house will rent easier

NO matter how brief a "house-to-rent" ad may be, hot water heating is mentioned, if the house is so heated, because it makes the house more readily rentable or saleable. And the house is even more easily rented if the ad says "Safford" heating, because are acknowledged to be "The Standard"—the one system that is built by an organization of specialists, who devote their time exclusively to the manufacture of hot water and steam heating systems.

You would naturally expect a specialized system to be very superior. The Safford boiler, for example, has 70% of its heating surface directly around the fire, whereas ordinary boilers have but 51%. The more direct the heating, the less coal required to heat your home to 70 degrees, provided the water circulation is rapid.

And the Safford water circulation is rapid, because after being heated, it has only one-third the distance to travel to get out of the fire-pot that the water in an ordinary boiler has. It circulates three times as rapidly.

The proof of the Safford's superiority shows in the coal bill, for you will pay for one-third less fuel than the man with an ordinary boiler of same size. And you will experience the comfort of a perfectly heated home.

Full particulars about the Safford—the specialized system—are obtainable in our "Home Heating" booklet. It will only take you a minute or so to send a post-card request for it. You could put your time to a better purpose.
