LAST OF THE BOOKIES
AT CONNAUGHT PARK

OTTAWA, Oct. 15.—At the postponed annual general meeting of the Connaught Park Jockey Club, Manager Rohrbach presented his annual financial statement, which proved gratifying, a satisfactory surplus being shown.
The question of installing pari-mutuels was also taken up, but the decision in this question will be left with the incoming executive, and it is believed that the pressure of the Canadian Racing Association, which is distinctly favorable to the in-coming, will result ultimately in the meeting of the bookmakers from Connaught Park.
The board of directors was elected as follows: Hon. Clifford Sifton, Mr. T.
A'Hearn, Hal. B. McGivern, Hon.
Senator Belmont, F. W. Carling, L. N.
Bate, Stewart McClean, G. E. Far-

You Can Taste Its Quality and the best time to do so is just before a meal.

Try Regal, and see how its snappy, creamy flavor quickness the appetite and liberates the flow of the gastric juices, to the vast improvement of your diges-

A glass of Regal and a cracker or two is a splendid idea just before

Will the following Celtic players please meet at Bayview Park at the foot of Bay street at 11:45 prompt for the game with the Baracans in the third round of the Bridgen Cup: Wullen, Johnson (capt.), Schaeffer, Maria Mc-Guigan, Young, Mill, McGrath, Edger-gow, Wacey, Catterton, Russell, Mc-Graw, Brown. Kick-off 2 o'clock.

What promises to be a great game is the meeting between Wyndwood and Devonian in the third round of the Bridgen Cup at Bracondale Park. The following Wyndwood players report at the club rooms at 2:45: Findlay, Gurney, Wilson, Cameron, Allan, McDonald, Myles, Mc-
Coll, George Walker and Nicol; reserves,
Scott, McAlway and Streeter.

FOR SMART MEN.

Not everyone can expect to emulate the indifference of Sir Walter Scott to the character of his external appearance. In reply to an Edinburgh friend who commented on his shabby garments, he simply said, "Oh, everybody knows me here." Not long afterwards the same friend met him in London in the same dilapidated rig out. The Wizard of the North was equally ready—"Oh, nobody knows me here."

Sir Walter might be able to get that stunt off, but no smart young man in Canada can hope to do likewise.
To succeed he must be smartly dressed and in clothes that are attractive rather than aggressive. Just that quality characterizes the garments peculiar to Hickey's, 97 Yonge street.
He can fill the bill that a well-dressed man should be unconscious of his clothes. Why so? Because he knows that at prices from $15 to $25 he can exemplify the well-dressed, but not loud, business quantity.

What promises to be a great game is
the meeting between Wyndwood and Devonian in the third round of the Bridgen
Cup at Bracondale Park. The following Wyndwood players report at the club
rooms at 2:45: Findlay, Gurney, Wilson,
Cameron, Allan, McDonald, Myles, Mc-
Coll, George Walker and Nicol; reserves,
Scott, McAlway and Streeter.

FOR SMART MEN.

Not everyone can expect to emu-
late the indifference of Sir Walter Scott to the character of his external
friend who commented on his shabby
wards the same friend met him in London in the same dilapidated rig
out. The Wizard of the North was

Sir Walter might be able to get
in Canada can hope to do likewise.
To succeed he must be smartly dress-
rather than aggressive. Just that
peculiar to Hickey's, 97 Yonge street.
He can fill the bill that a well-dressed
man should be unconscious of his
exemplify the well-dressed, but not
loud, business quantity.
