Thinks the Idea

Newspaperdom, of New York, has the following in a recent issue:

The London (Ont.) Advertiser, with the advertiser's interest in his advertising, has gotten up a neat scrapbook, a copy of which is presented to each advertiser, with the request that he cut out his ads as they are changed and paste them in the book. The book is 61/2 by 91/2 inches, has a cover of redcoated tagboard, and the first page bears this injunction:

KEEP A RECORD. of the advertisements which have appeared in The Advertiser. You often wish to refer to advertisements that you have used. This will help you. Cut out each advertisement and paste it in this book; they will be useful for reference. If you send us word, we will help you prepare your copy. Give particulars. FRANK ADAMS, H. A. KOMPASS, Advertising Dept. The Advertiser also sends a card to leepy advertisers, which says: vould like a change of your adverisement." Evidently London advertisers are not allowed to grow drowsy. I believe this is a good idea. I believe it will help the advertising department of The Advertiser in keeping "alive" the advertising columns. I like the scrap-book idea, too. The advantages of both schemes are so obvious as to require no comment. If any of our readers have been neglected, a call or telephone message will

secure one of the scrap-books. ANGLO CANADIAN TRADE

Improvement Due to the Preferential Tariff-Gen. Sir Wm. Seymour-

The Pacific Cable. Montreal, April 15 .- The Anglo-Canadian trade continues to improve. The exports to Canada from Britain during March increased 6 per cent, and for the first three months of the year increased 2 per cent. The exports to all countries, however, decreased 4 and 3 per cent, respectively. This remarkable contrast in Canada's favor is partly attributed to the new Canadian tariff. The imports from Canada were stationary for the month of March, and increased 15 per cent for the three months, while the imports from all countries increased 7 and 1 per cent, respectively. The chief increases in imports from Canada for the three months are: Animals, £19,000; wheat, £104,000; wheat flour, £9,000; bacon, £15,000; butter, £10,000; eggs, £20,000; fish, £63,000. The chief decreases are: Hams, £5,000; cheese, £1,000; timber, £75,000. Lord Aberdeen, according to the latest advices, expects to remain in Canada till September, 1899, making a six-

On Saturday Mr. Maxwell had attempted suicide by drowning, but was rescued. Although a careful watch was kept on his actions he succeeded in obtaining a bottle of carbolic acid that was in the house, and in a few minutes after taking it died. The Budget Debate Expected to Finish Tonight.

The General Prosperity of the Country Robs It of Interest - High Handed Work by Postoffice Employes-Ignored the Head of the Department

Ottawa, April 15.-It has been arranged that the budget debate shall close tonight. The present budget debate possesses fewer elements of interest than have been developed for many a session. The fact that no radical changes of fiscal policy were proposed by the minister of finance, and the additional circumstance that the results of last year's revision have disappointed the opposition prophecies of evil, afford small ground for criticism and therefore little occasion for defense.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED. Hon. Mr. Blair informed Hon. Mr. Foster that $453,750 had been paid to the C. P. R. on account of the construction of 42% miles of the Crow's Nest line.

Hon. Mr. Foster was told by the postmaster-general that he could not give the information as to what amount received for jubilee stamps was included in the revenue for 1896-1897. A LEAK DISCOVERED. Mr. Taylor, the Conservative whip, had on the order paper a lengthy question asking for information as to the dismissal of Mr. W. W. Williams, postmaster at Seeley's Bay. Mr. Mulock requested the member for Leeds to give notice of a motion for a return. Mr. Taylor at a subsequent period moved the adjournment of the house, that he might have an opportunity of protesting against the treatment accorded him by the postmaster-general. Mr. Mulock disclaimed any intention of being discourteous to Mr. Taylor, but he said that it was only by putting the

Charles Tupper asked if Mr. Mulock's suggestion had been thrown out for the purpose of terrorizing the officials in the postoffice department into keeping their mouths shut. Mr. Mulock had no ground for what he had

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that if it were true, as stated by Mr. Taylor, that Mr. Williams was allowed by the late government to retain the postmastership at Seeley's Bay while residing in Smith's Falls, the then postmastergeneral who had permitted it had been guilty of a gross breach of his duty. He defended Mr. Mulock against the strictures of the leader of the opposi-Mr. Taylor assured the house that he had obtained all the information at his own home, and not from any offi-cial of the department. Finally Mr. Mulock gave way and answered the questions categorically. The information was not of general interest, but one statement made by the minister was significant. It was that a reference of the Seeley's Bay postoffice matter was made to an inspector without his authority, and that he report had been put away without being docketed, and was not brought to his knowledge until yesterday. Meanwhile the contents of the report had been made public. The minister said that he had accepted the explanation that had been given him by his officers, as he did not wish to take a harsh view of the circumstance. Mr. Bennett charged that Mr. Mullock in the bye-election in East Simcoe had visited the country postoffices with the result that the postmasters did not poll their votes.

Mr. Mulock dealed this point blank.

Mr. McMullen followed in an able speech. Mr. McMullen took cognizance of the ungenerous allusion by the leader of the opposition to the present position occupied by Sir Richard Cart-wright. "I believe," said Mr. McMullen, "that there is not a man in the ranks of the Liberal party today who is more looked up to or more highly respected, or whose presence in the party is more appreciated, than the minister of trade and commerce." The Liberal members applauded enthusiastically at this. The leader of the opposition, Mr. McMullen said, did not stand in the position of esteem in his party that Sir Richard occupied in the Liberal party. Continuing, he said that since corn had been made free, the export of fat animals had increased, the shipments for the six months being 137,584 head, or within 18,000 of the entire exportation during 1896. Mr. McMullen gave many examples of material reductions of the tariff on implements used principally by the agricultural community.

Mr. Bennett, who was the next speaker, joined with Mr. McMullen in paying tribute to the ability of Sir Richard Cartwright, but he likened him to the giant in Gulliver's Travels, who, tied down by the Liliputians, was utterly unable to break the bonds which carrying her parasol. bound him to the earth.
