

Fifty Years Ago.
Grandfather's hat! And within it you see, Grandfather's favorite cough remedy. Whether 'twas Asthma, Bronchitis or Croup, or baby at night waked the house with a whoop, With Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Granther was sure That no cold or cough would e'er fall of a cure. In hush the cough, but the records will show Coughs are cured as they were 50 years ago.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has no equal as a remedy for coughs, colds, and lung diseases. Where other soothing elixirs palliate, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral heals. It is not a cheap cough syrup, which soothes but does not strengthen; it is a physician's cough remedy, and it cures. It is put up in large bottles, only for household use. It was awarded the medal at the World's Fair of ninety-three. It has a record of

THE KENNEL.

A DOG PALACE.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 20.—Dudley E. Waters is building a handsome dog house, probably the largest and finest in Michigan. It will be a frame structure 20 by 30 feet, and story and a half high. The floors will be cement. The house will have a fully equipped kitchen, where the food for the dogs will be cooked; hot and cold water, steam heat, gas lighting and other modern improvements. Mr. Waters is a fancier of St. Bernards, and has a kennel of ten. Notwithstanding their rugged appearance, great size and wealth of hair, St. Bernard dogs, as puppies, are very delicate, and have to be raised almost as carefully as a child. They are susceptible to colds and congested lungs, and if half a litter survives it is considered a good average. When they reach four or five months in age they become more hardy, and when full grown will stand as much rough weather as any other breed. This delicacy in youth applies to the finely bred animals only.

INTERNATIONAL FIELD TRIALS.

Chatham, Ont., Nov. 20.—The all-aged stakes in the international field trials were completed yesterday. The first brace put down were Misfortune, owned by Graydon (London), and Daphne, owned by W. B. Wells (Chatham). They both did fair work, Daphne finding a bevy and proving steady to flush, as did also her mate. The next brace, Dash Antonio (Bangham, Windsor), and Cleopatra (Wells, Chatham), did excellent ranging, and in other respects showed to advantage. The next brace was Dick (Wells, London), and Luke (Wells, Chatham). In ranging and general work this pair were active and true. Dick was the usual form for bird work. He was winner of the Derby and all-aged last year, and great credit was given him of him this time, but he was off in nose. Lock (Bangham, Windsor), and Lay (Davies, London), were next put down, and did capital ranging. The last brace in the series was Iris (Wells, Chatham), and Maud (Stacian, Toronto). These two ranged fairly well. In the second series Luke and Dash went down. Both pointed a bevy and were strong when taken up. Dick and Luke made a good point on bevy, the latter repeating his work at another stage of the run. Dick chased in the honor of the final. Cleopatra and Daphne went down, the latter pointing a bevy and being followed well by her mate. Cleopatra, who did not see her mate, made a point also on singles, outlasting Daphne, and did beautiful work. There then went down Dick and Dash on scattered birds; Dick pointed one, and rounded to a flush. The latter dog displayed a rather poor nose, contrary to his usual form. Cleopatra and Dash then took the field. Both ranged well. Dash stood a single left from the former pair. The pair were taken up within a few minutes. Lock and Luke followed. The latter pointed a bevy, and the former did the better work with singles.

This closed the runs, and the judges announced the results as follows: No. 1, Dash Antonio, English setter, black, white and tan, owned by Richard Bangham, president of the International Field Trials Club. This dog was first winner at the Peninsular trials, Leamington. No. 2, Cleopatra, English setter, black, white and tan, owned by W. B. Wells, Chatham, secretary of the International Field Trials Club. This bitch won first in the all-aged in 1934, and also third in the Northwestern field trials.

No. 3, divided. Luke, English setter, black, white and tan, and Stock, ditto, owned respectively by Richard Bangham and Luke. Luke also won third at Leamington in the same class.

Mr. Hallam, of New York City, one of the judges, said that the work at the field trials this year was of a very high order. A leading member of the club said that the judges were the right men in the right place, and their finding gave unusual satisfaction.

THE TURP.

JOHN R. GENTRY SOLD.
New York, Nov. 20.—Before the largest crowd ever seen at a horse sale in this country, and after a most sensational auction, John R. Gentry, the champion harness horse of the world, passed into the hands of Lewis G. Tewksbury, of this city, at $19,000. At Madison Square Garden, last night, the auctioneer was Mr. Bain, of Lexington, Ky., who sold him here last February, when Tom Simpson was purchased at $7,000. A cheer went up from the crowd when the auctioneer called for bids for the champion harness horse of the world, who had paced the three fastest heats ever accomplished—2:03 3/4, 2:04 1/4, 2:05 1/4—had lowered the harness record to 2:01 1/2, and had covered a mile against time in 2:00 1/2—a second faster than any other horse ever accomplished the distance in harness. Bids came in with such rapidity that the auctioneer could scarcely keep track of them. Four, six, eight, ten, and eleven thousand dollars were offered from different parts of the house, with scarcely breathing time between. But the real battle was to come when the struggle narrowed down to two—Louis W. Wormser and Louis G. Tewksbury, both New Yorkers. Mr. Wormser came into the battle with $12,000, and the crowd applauded. Promptly Mr. Tewksbury went $500 better. Thus the battle continued between the two $18,000, which was Tewksbury's bid. Then there was a pause, followed by a round of hand-clapping, which greeted Wormser's jump to $18,000. Scarcely had it died away when the other came back at him with his favorite rise of $200. There was another short pause, and Wormser shouted $19,500, being a raise of $1,000. Then Tewksbury raised it $400. The auctioneer turned to Mr. Wormser expectantly. There was no reply on the "three," the auctioneer's call. The auctioneer then turned to Mr. Tewksbury, and the gallant son of Ashland Whites and Damewood became the property of private individuals at from $10 to $100 apiece. The Yale management have put detectives on the track of the persons who are making the most of the Yale student caught speculating printings in the college papers if they can secure proof of the act.

Watson in the Meshes.
The Woodstock Bartender Remanded for a Week.

Is He the Man Who Won a Woodstock Woman's Affection?

Wm. H. Watson, who was arrested by Detectives Mickle and Rider yesterday afternoon, at the Salvation Army Hotel, was the only prisoner before Magistrate Parke. Watson is a rather good-looking fellow, and very fair. The magistrate looked at him for a minute, and then said: "Watson, you are charged with stealing an overcoat, umbrella, and a pair of shoes, the value of which in all is $15, the property of some person unknown."

Watson—Those goods belong to me. P. M.—Have you any evidence against him, Mr. McKillop?

Mr. McKillop—No more than that he has spent a couple of terms in jail for the same kind of things.

P. M. (to Watson)—Well, I'll remand you for one week, so as to give you a chance to say how you got those things.

A Woodstock man was at the station this morning, and gave Watson anything but a desirable reputation. He said the prisoner had done time in Woodstock for stealing a coat, and a few months ago the Advertiser published a dispatch from Woodstock, in which it was stated that Watson had been arrested for stealing a coat, and that the affair had been cancelled, the girl having obtained the knowledge that Watson had a wife and three children in Toronto.

The goods found in Watson's possession have not yet been identified.
