So Long as Prices Are Reasonable, Food Controller Will Not Act.

Special to The Toronto World.

Brantford, Ont., Dec. 28.—Food Conroller Hanna does not agree entirely with the sentiments expressed in a recent resolution of the city council when the bread situation was reviewed and protection asked for the smaller dealers. In a letter to City Clerk Leonard, Mr. Hanna states plainly that as a result of an investigation made by the food controller's office it has not been established that protection to the smaller bread manufacturers is any guarantee that the price of brea

Mr. Hanna states that in compari son to United States prices the price of bread in Canada is at present fair and reasonable, but he further de-clares that it is not the policy of his department to interfere by setting a fair price where prices are found to be below cost. The department is only concerned with maximum prices and if bread is advanced to an unfair and unreasonable figure in this city, action will at once be taken.

It will be remembered that some ocal bread manufacturers recently complained that bread was being sold below cost in Brantford in order to squeeze out smaller dealers. The ouncil discussed the matter and asked that a fair price be set by the fuer controller, with the result as above that Mr. Hanna refused to take action except where the public is suffering.
