A. M. Orpen returned yesterday from New York, where he was successful in closing up the big race between Man o' War and Sir Barton. Once he got the owners together it did not take them iong to agree on conditions. Mr. Kilmer wanted to make the race a handicap, but neither Mr. Riddle nor Mr. Ross would consent, so they closed up without Exterminator, and Mr. Orpen voluntarily increased the purse to $75,000 in American currency and a gold cup, all to the winner. American currency and a gold cup, all to the winner.

The horses must not race against each other until that time, also both owners must have their houses at the track thruout the meeting and each day will work out during races in the afternoon until race day.

out during races in the afternoon until race day.

Special stalls will be built and sleeping quarters for the trainers, as both horses are never left alone for a minute.

Every effort will be made to accommodate the large crowd that will attend. All the front boxes have been taken already. It is estimated that a crowd of forty or fifty thousand people will be on hand when the starter gives the word.
